U.S. ARMY LIFTS BAN ON REDS IN OFFICER CORPS

Confidential Posts Open to Them.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—The war department has issued a directive to all commanding officers at home, behind the lines, and at battle fronts, stating that there shall no longer be any distinction between Communists and loyal Americans in the United States army, THE TRIBUNE learned exclusively tonight.

Under the directive previous confidential instructions, barring Communists from officer training and some 19 various assignments involving military secrecy, were countermanded.

The directive states that no prejudicial action shall be taken on the basis of membership in the Communist party or allegiance to the Communist party unless it can be proved such loyalty supersedes loyalty to the United States.

Conflicts with Law.

It also states that no individual shall suffer because his views on social questions are the same as the views the Communist party has advanced.

The directive, which is being construed thruout the army as giving Communists the green light for all army jobs, is at direct variance with federal law and department of justice opinions holding that Communists preach overthrow of the American government.

The directive was issued under date of Dec. 30, 1944. It was signed at the direction of the secretary of war by Brig. Gen. Robert H. Dunlop, on that date acting adjutant general of the army.

200 Commissions Approved.

It was reported that the issuance of the directive had been forced because army commanders had been referring all applications from Communists for commissions to the war department. From last Oct. 30 to the date of the issuance of the directive the department had approved 200 Communist commission applications without rejecting one.

The war department's directive was sent to the commanding generals of the air, ground, and service forces; the commanding officers of ports of embarkation, base commands, and all posts, camps, and stations; the commanding generals of theaters of operations, defense commands, departments, service commands, the military district of Washington, and the commander in chief, southwest Pacific area.

The directive, referring to the submission of Communists' commission applications to the war department, said questions have arisen as to the "significance of membership in and sympathy with the views of the Communist party."

Loyalty Basic Consideration.

"The basic consideration is not the propriety of the individual's opinions, but his loyalty to the United States," the directive said. "Membership in, or strict adherence to the doctrines of, the Communist party organization is subject to influences that may tend to divide his loyalty.

"However, many good soldiers are subject to conflicting influences that may tend to divide his loyalty. Such

Report Terms to Italy Fix Labor Draft

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—Sen. Bridges [R., N. H.] is asking the state department to affirm or deny the authenticity of purported Italian armistice terms sending 2,000,000 Italians to allied countries for post-war reconstruction work.

Sen. Bridges.

Bridges told reporters he planned to put into the senate record tomorrow a review of purported armistice terms he said had been published in neutral countries.

"Frankly," he said, "I don't know whether these are the true terms or not. But they have been published in supposedly reputable journals in neutral countries and I think the American people are entitled to know if they are the real conditions under which Italy surrendered."

Translated from French.

The New Hampshire senator produced a translation from the French of a document published by the International Law Review at Geneva. He said the review was founded and edited by Dr. Juris Antoine Sottile, professor at the Academy of International Law at The Hague, and a permanent delegate to the league of nations.

Sottile published it with the notation that it had been obtained from unofficial sources and that there were doubts as to its authenticity.

Allied governments have declined to reveal the surrender conditions on the grounds of military security.

Loses All Colonies.

The purported armistice terms outlined in the review called not only for Italy to deliver to the allies her navy, aviation, and all fortifications, but stipulated that after the war she should place her merchant fleet and civil aviation at the disposal of the allies.

Great Britain was reported to receive the Islands of Pantelleria, Lampedusa, and others of strategic importance. France would receive Elba, and her frontier with Italy would be revised.

Further provisions of the purported terms would give Yugoslavia all of Istria, with the cities of Fiume and Zara. Greece would receive all the Italian islands in the Aegean sea.

The law review's summary said "The fate of Italian colonies—Libya, Somalia, and Eritrea—shall be settled at the peace conference."

Ports Free to 5 Powers.

"In the Italian ports," it continued, "free ports shall be established for the benefit of the United States, England, France, Yugoslavia, and Greece."

In the economic field, the Italian government was purported to have consented to sending 2,000,000 workers "to the conquering countries" for reconstruction work. The document apportioned these as follows: 800,000 to Russia, 200,000 to the United States; 200,000 to Great Britain, 200,000 to Australia, 200,000 to South Africa, 200,000 to Brazil, and the remainder to other allied nations.

Racial Laws Abolished.

The armistice terms were said further to recognize "Anglo-American control" over the heavy national industry as well as over the Italian banks.

"After the war," one point said, "50 per cent of the capital of these Italian enterprises shall be in the hands of the Anglo-Saxon powers."

The purported terms contained the pledge that all racial laws would be abolished.

At the conclusion, the purported terms held out the promise of "a softening of the armistice clauses in proportion to the importance of Italian participation in the fight against the enemy."

Spur 2 Hunts in Mysterious Hotel Death

Police investigating the mystery death of Mrs. Blanche Zimmerman, 38, whose nude body was found Saturday in a bathtub partly filled with water in the Atlantic hotel, 316 S. Clark st., yesterday were following two lines of inquiry.

They were checking the death under similar circumstances of a 28 year old New York woman in a New Orleans hotel last Christmas eve, and they were seeking to trace a woman acquaintance of Mrs. Zimmerman who disappeared from her home in Chicago the day Mrs. Zimmerman's body was found.

Mother of 2 Disappears.

The woman who disappeared is Mrs. Grace Kinson, 35, of 7630 Blackstone av., where her husband, Joseph F. Kinson, maintains a drainage contracting office. They have two children, Joseph Jr., 11, and Henri, 7.

Both Mrs. Zimmerman and Mrs. Kinson worked on the same shift as operators for the Illinois Bell Telephone company at 212 W. Washington st. Kinson told Grand Crossing police that last fall the two women apparently struck up a friendship, and that Mrs. Zimmerman frequently telephoned the Kinson home to talk with Mrs. Kinson.

About a month ago, he said, his wife began telling him about Mrs. Zimmerman's friendship with a man from Texas.

She described the man, he said, as about 44 years old, and said he did a good deal of traveling. The description fits roughly that of the mysterious John H. Hanan of Dallas, Tex., in whose name the room in which Mrs. Zimmerman's body was found was rented, and who left before the discovery of the body, after hanging on the door a "Do not disturb" sign.

Received a Call.

Friday morning, Kinson said, his wife, who had quit her job with the telephone company about a week previous, received a telephone call from Mrs. Zimmerman. He said he does not know the nature of the conversation, but that he assumed they made an appointment to meet downtown.

Shortly after lunch, Kinson went shopping. When he returned home a short time later, Mrs. Kinson was gone. She took with her most of her clothing, with the exception of a fur coat, and between $1,500 and $2,000 in bonds and cash which she had removed from a safe deposit box Feb. 2.

At 11 p. m. Friday he received a telegram from his wife saying she was going away for her health.

GERMANS CAUTIONED TO TELL THE TRUTH TO U. S. AUTHORITIES

AACHEN, Germany, Feb. 18 (AP).—All Germans were warned today to deal truthfully with American occupation authorities.

The warning was contained in a court opinion read to Otto Meyer, sentenced yesterday to 10 years' imprisonment for giving false information.

"The American army in its dealings with the German people will at no time be satisfied with anything less than full and complete candor," said Maj. Arthur Limbach, president of the court which tried Meyer. "Any violation of this precept will meet with severe punishment."

It had been filed at 5:02 p. m. with a request that it be held.

The second line of inquiry, involving a death under parallel circumstances in New Orleans, concerns a Miss Laura Fisher, who had registered at the New Orleans hotel in which her body was found as Mrs. D. J. Stafford. The room had been rented by a man who gave his name as Stafford and his address as 4611 Hazel st., Chicago, where subsequent police inquiry disclosed that he was unknown. Stafford, on leaving, said he would return and asked that his room not be disturbed.

Outer Garments Gone.

The bodies of both women were found nude, in about 6 inches of water in the tubs. In neither case were marks of violence evident, and in the case of Miss Fisher an autopsy failed to indicate the presence of poison. No water was found in her lungs.

A post-mortem performed Saturday on the body of Mrs. Zimmerman showed that her heart and brain were normal, and that there was no water in her lungs. A chemical analysis to search for traces of poison was started but will not be completed for a week.

Adding to the mystery surrounding Mrs. Zimmerman's death was the absence in the room of her outer clothing. Her husband is H. R. Zimmerman, 4025 W. 16th st., supervisor of operating bulletins at the United States Gypsum company.

Emily Finds She's in Dutch on Protocol

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 [Special].—Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, Illinois' freshman Democratic representative at large, admitted tonight that "some one arranging the program" for yesterday's meeting of the National Association of Broadcasters had told her "protocol calls for commoners not to be on the air with the queen."

Mrs. Douglas delivered the main address at this meeting but her talk was not broadcast. After she had finished Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands talked on the radio.

When asked who had given her instructions about not being allowed to broadcast with the queen, Mrs. Douglas said she did not know but it was not the Netherlands embassy.

Approves Press Release.

She admitted that altho she had approved a press release prepared by her office staff stating she had been "forbidden by protocol from going on the air with the queen," because she was a commoner, she actually never had been invited to speak over the air.

She said she was assuming full blame for the release and admitted she knew the word "commoner" was being used.

The embarrassment of Mrs. Douglas was equalled only by the indignation of the Netherlands embassy, which said in a formal statement it knew nothing about Mrs. Douglas' being barred from sharing the air with the queen.

"The embassy was advised the program was to be shared by Mrs. Roosevelt and the queen," the statement said. "The name of no other lady invited to share the broadcast was ever mentioned."

Writer Involves Eleanor.

Mrs. Douglas said she had been unable to reach members of her office staff today to find out which one had given an interview to the Washington Post saying the Dutch minister, also tried to bar Mrs. Roosevelt.

The story, published in the Washington Post, said:

"Only after it was stressed that Mrs. Roosevelt was the first lady of the land — the wife of America's President — did the ministers condescend to permit their queen to go on the air with her, declared the lady lawmaker's office."

Conceding she is unhappy about the whole affair, Mrs. Douglas lamented, "All I wanted to be in Washington was a steady, plodding legislator, and now look what has happened."

SAVAGE BATTLE RAGES FOR JAP BASE; YANKS FREE 7,000 MORE IN MANILA

Capture Corregidor Hill; Landslide Shuts Tunnel.

MANILA, Feb. 19 [Monday]—(AP).—American troops battled on the slopes and in the tunnels of Corregidor today to mop up Japanese pockets as Gen. MacArthur disclosed a new chapter of liberation in the freeing of 7,000 enemy hostages, 100 of them Americans, in Manila.

Americans fighting street by street battled into the Philippine General hospital and wrested the thousands of Filipinos, Americans and other nationals from under Japanese gunfire.

The building, for three days had been the scene of some of the bitterest fighting of the battle for Manila. A prime Japanese strong point, the enemy had big guns mounted in the upper floors.

At least 400 were hospital patients, some seriously ill, including 50 Americans from the Santo Tomas internment camp. Others were doctors, nurses and thousands of refugees from the Paco, Ermita and Intramuros sections of the city.

Japs Still in Hospitals.

Lt. Col. H. W. Radcliffe's 2d battalion of the 37th infantry division's 148th regiment fought into the wreckage of the hospital. Many Japanese were still in some remaining buildings and their sniper fire complicated the evacuation.

Streets and alleys leading to the Pasig river crossings and the safety of American occupied northern Manila were quickly jammed with gaunt, tottering patients and the refugees with their heaps of belongings. Soldiers and Red Cross workers did what they could to help until ambulances and trucks arrived to speed the evacuation.

The thousands liberated were exhausted and terrified. Hospital doctors reported that a number of persons, mostly refugees driven from their homes by fires and artillery, had been killed when Japanese incendiarists burned all but a few of the hospital buildings.

Housing Forms Problem.

The problem of housing 7,000 more people in the wrecked city was almost insurmountable. The remaining houses are already packed with the wounded, sick, homeless and hungry victims of war; not to speak of the thousands of troops engaged in the battle.

[The allied broadcasting station in Europe said that the United States 7th fleet's warships "have steamed into Manila harbor without incident." Quoting "a late dispatch from Luzon," the broadcast said, "Manila bay is described as now open to American naval vessels."]

Gen. MacArthur announced Malinta hill, an excellent artillery site, was seized, and a landslide, caused by bombardment, blocked the east entrance of an extensive tunnel on Corregidor.

Seventh fleet units were shelling the Cavite shore line south of Corregidor to clear the Manila bay entrance of enemy guns.

Hails 1942 Battle.

MacArthur, who returned to Bataan to see part of Friday's paratroop and amphibious invasion of Corregidor, today hailed the gallant delaying fight put up by a broken band of Americans and Filipinos in 1942 as "one of the decisive battles of the world."

"Its long protracted struggle," he said, "enabled the united nations to gather strength to resist in the Pacific. Had it not held out, Australia would have fallen, with incalculably disastrous results. Our triumphs of today belong equally to that dead army. Its heroism and sacrifice have been fully acclaimed but the great strategy results of that mighty defense are only now becoming fully apparent.

"The Bataan garrison was destroyed due to its dreadful handi-

1ST LIST OF U. S. CITIZENS FREED IN PHILIPPINES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—The war department issued tonight the first list of Americans rescued from Japanese internment camps in the Philippines by United States troops Feb. 5 and 6.

Pvt. T. J. DiMarco.

Sgt. F. A. Harangody.

The list included both civilian and military personnel, the majority of whom had been held in Santo Tomas university at Manila. Bilibid prison contributed other names.

The war department said an additional list would be issued tomorrow.

Two Chicagoans Listed.

Two Chicago privates' names were in the list. They were Thomas J. Di Marco, whose sister, Mrs. Josephine Padula, lives at 4249 W. Fillmore st., and Joseph J. Petrosius, who gave the name of Rev. Vincent Cooke, 126 N. Desplaines st., as his friend.

Chicagoland names included the following:

Sgt. Frank A. Harangody, whose father, John, lives at 1421 Fischrupp av., Whiting, Ind.

Pvt. Robert L. Riley, Mrs. Lucy Riley, mother, Decatur, Ill.

Pvt. William J. Lovelace, father, William Lovelace, 2401 Sherman av., Madison, Wis.

One from Georgetown, Ill.

Pvt. Carl N. Nickols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nickols, Janesville, Wis.

Sgt. Gordon Perkins, son of Reuben Perkins, Washington, Ind.

Sgt. John Robinson, brother of Mrs. Hattie R. Lyons, Fairfield, Ill.

CIVILIANS.

Adrein, Arielus, and Robert L.—Cyprian Adrein Jr., grandfather, Lacassine, La.

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., GUAM, Feb. 19 (Monday) (AP).—American marines, their path cleared by the most intensive neutralization campaign of the Pacific war, have landed on strategic little Iwo Island, one of the Volcano Islands, 675 statute miles south of the Japanese homeland. The landing was made this morning.

Webley Edwards, representing the combined radio networks, flew over the beaches and reported "there's a whale of a scrap going on."

The 4th and 5th marine divisions made this first marine operation since the Palaus were invaded last September. They were aided by heavy units of the Pacific fleet and by shore-based and carrier aircraft.

Adm. Nimitz announced in a special bulletin today the momentous development in the fast moving Pacific war which put American troops on the logical ocean stepping stone to Tokyo.

Iwo is so close to Tokyo—750 miles—it is administered by the Tokyo prefecture.

Destroy 509 Jap Planes.

In an earlier bulletin today, Adm. Nimitz had announced that the American carrier planes which had swarmed over the Tokyo-Yokohama area in daring forays Friday and Saturday destroyed 509 Japanese aircraft, sank at least a dozen ships and damaged several vital war plants.

Concerning the Iwo invasion, the Japanese Domei news agency broadcast that the landings were made at 8 a. m. Monday (Tokyo time) on eastern and southern beaches and "heavy fighting" was in progress.

One hundred landing barges disgorged the Yanks in "large scale simultaneous landings," said the enemy broadcast, and reenforcements were being brought up by twice that number.

Fleet Blasts Defenses.

For three days Iwo's vast coastal defenses were pounded by a large task force under Rear Adm. W. H. P. Blandy. Carrier planes at the same time ranged into the Bonin Islands immediately north, raking Chichi and Haha islands, and sinking 16 ships.

Warships have shelled Iwo on 10 different occasions. American Liberators have bombed the island every day since Dec. 7. Still, the enemy frequently managed to mount interceptor planes and put up vigorous anti-aircraft fire.

Japan wanted to hold little Iwo. American fighters and medium bombers based on Iwo's large airdrome would be within

Carrier Attack on Tokyo.

The three day battleship bombardment of Iwo was carried on while a larger fleet force sent 1,500 carrier planes in waves against Tokyo and Yokohama on the Japanese main island Friday and Saturday.

Nimitz congratulated Adm. Spruance, 5th fleet commander, and Vice Adm. Mitscher, who led the carrier force, for their "decisive" victory.

Nimitz announced that the Americans, scoring a "complete tactical surprise," destroyed 332 Japanese aircraft in the air and 177 on the ground.

He said one Japanese escort carrier was bombed and set afire, nine coastal vessels were sunk, one destroyer was sunk, two escort destroyers sunk, one cargo ship sunk, and 22 other ships of various kinds damaged.

49 U. S. Planes Lost.

Nimitz said 49 American planes were lost in the two days of destructive raids. Thirty to 40 Yank flyers were lost.

"None of our ships suffered damage from enemy action," the special bulletin reported.

The admiral said a "complete tactical surprise" was accomplished under cover of weather so adverse it also hampered enemy air operations.

He praised the navy's "intelligent teamwork" and congratulated "all hands" for a "very well done job."

The five star admiral said "all enemy efforts to attack our force were turned back by our effective combat pilots."

Plane Plant Bombed.

The escort carrier was bombed and set afire and was left lying on her side at a Yokohama beach.

An aircraft factory was among the military targets sharply hit in the attack. The plant was "heavily bombed."

Thus Adm. Nimitz hailed as highly successful the daring 5th fleet foray which probed deep into enemy waters —perhaps only 200 to 300 miles of Tokyo — to deliver the staggering blows.

Value of Iwo Told.

Iwo is 675 statute miles south and a little east of the closest point on Honshu, the main Japanese homeland island. It is 825 miles north of Guam, newly established Pacific fleet headquarters. It is 1,500 miles northeast of Manila.

Gourd shaped Iwo, largest of the Volcano Islands, is valuable to the Americans as an air base in Japan's front porch. It has a large airdrome, but lacks a well developed anchorage.

Raids Like Berlin's.

From Iwo, American aircraft could mount raids on the Japanese capital comparable in strength to those thrown against Berlin from England.

Seizure of Iwo will eliminate a bothersome enemy threat to Super Fortress raids on Tokyo. Japanese aircraft flying from Iwo were the main hindrance to B-29 bases in the Marianas.

Immediately north of Iwo, in the Bonin group, are Haha, which has an excellent anchorage, and Chichi, an important air base. These are 100 and 120 miles, respectively, from Iwo.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY TO TAKE REINS IN TOKYO

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tokyo radio says a new political party soon will arise in Japan sponsored by the Imperial Rule Assistance Political society, parliamentary wing of nippon's totalitarian party, which has been critical of Premier Koiso's government.

A broadcast reported President Adm. Seizo Kobayashi had conferred with Koiso and in "the next two or three days" the association will select a committee to form the new party. Observers in the United States and China have speculated that recent American successes in the Philippines and the carrier plane raids on Tokyo could produce the fall of the premier.

The government of Koiso's predecessor, Gen. Hideki Tojo, could not survive the American capture of Saipan and Guam last July.

caps, but no army in history more thoroly accomplished its mission. Let no man henceforth speak of it other than as of magnificent victory."

In touring Bataan MacArthur had attempted to push thru still hostile jungles to witness the paratroop landings on Corregidor, but a damaged bridge prevented his getting a ringside seat.

"This visit is easing an ache that has been in my heart for three years," MacArthur said.

Hold Fire in Manila.

Associated Press Correspondent Fred Hampson reported from the headquarters of Maj. Gen. Oscar Griswold's 14th corps that fighting in downtown Manila eased off yesterday. This lull was occasioned by Griswold's demand on the Japanese for surrender or release of thousands of hostages in the Intramuros. Several thousand Japanese are still inside the walls. They have not replied to the demand.

Hampson said most of the Japanese guns behind the 20 foot high walls had been silenced and gaping holes had been made in the medieval masonry by American heavy siege guns.

But to reach the breached walls American troops must cross an open golf course, laid over an old moat, still covered by Japanese machine guns.

Guns Breach Walls.

"I have lost lots of my men in Manila already," commented Gen. Griswold as the Japanese answer was awaited, "and my military judgment is to raze that Japanese stronghold, but there may be many civilians still there — men, women, and children — who are bound to suffer whatever steps we take."

American artillery has shelled every identifiable Japanese occupied building in the Intramuros, but had not attempted to breach the surrounding walls until yesterday. The guns have now made an opening for infantrymen adjacent to the narrow east entrance archway.

Meanwhile, tanks on the northern shore of the Pasig river pounded the northern wall at a range of less than 200 yards.

Police Station Battle.

The shelling disclosed a new Japanese trick to save the entrapped garrison from a steady barrage. After each salvo Filipino civilians, including women and children, emerged from some hiding place and walked in full view of American observers who were able to see over the walls.

East of Manila a convoy of 21 trucks filled with Japanese troops was wiped out. Sharp patrol clashes were reported in the Sierra Madre foothills near-by.

P-T boats operating in the Manila bay area sank five small enemy craft. Others destroyed two coastal ships in San Bernardino strait, between southeast Luzon Island and the northern tip of Samar. MacArthur said an enemy torpedo boat attack on American shipping near Manila bay was repulsed with minor damage.

In one police station the Yanks returned today in a second attempt to root out a Japanese force of 50 men. The Americans once occupied the first two floors in one wing of the building, but the Japanese on the third floor drove them out by dropping hand grenades thru cracks in the floors and by sweeping the corridors with machine guns.

Pvt. Robert D. Fuentes of Los Angeles, Cal., hungry for a Japanese sword, shot a Nipponese officer during an 11th air borne division's sortie near Fort McKinley. The officer had a sword. Fuentes dashed forward, gut it, and then dived for cover where he inspected his booty. On the blade was the inscription: "U. S. Navy."

Twins Jump Together.

ABOARD P-T BOAT OFF CORREGIDOR, Feb. 16 [Delayed]—(AP).—A pair of Oklahoma twins who entered the army together parachuted together today over Corregidor and were picked up together by a P-T boat after the wind carried them past the island. They were Privates Jack Impson and A. B. Impson of Finley, Okla.

Five others were picked up by this P-T after they landed on a rocky slope from which they were unable to reach the top where their comrades were fighting.

Sgt. William Ellis of Indianapolis was among the jumpers.

Japs Up: 1 Hit, No Runs, 1 Error; 1 Dies at Home

MANILA, Feb. 17 [Delayed] (AP).—The Japanese officer should have known you can't steal home on the Yanks. During the fighting for Manila's big baseball park the Yanks were in the outfield and the Japs were at bat, holding the stands and home plate. During a lull a Japanese officer wearing a sword blithely walked out into clear view to third base. When the firing started he made a dash for home. He was out —for keeps—by the proverbial mile.

13 BULLET HOLES IN HIM, CHICAGO YANK SURVIVES

Knocks Out a Pillbox in Leyte Fight.

BY WALTER SIMMONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

A DUTCH NEW GUINEA BASE, Jan. 4 [Delayed]. — Pvt. Robert Knowles of 2728 N. Drake av., Chicago, came back from a patrol on Leyte with 13 machine gun bullet wounds, but there was more to the story than that.

In the slow advance on Ormoc, his platoon was pinned down by pillbox fire, suffering several casualties. It was decided to send out a scout to locate the pillboxes. Knowles was selected. Crawling thru the high grass and bushes, he found an enemy nest and knocked it out with three grenades.

But when he started back he was caught in the fire from another pillbox and hit 13 times. However, no bones were broken, and he was able to bandage his wounds and continue.

Bayonets a Jap.

The platoon was 700 yards away, across a rice paddy. On the way, Knowles heard a noise and flattened out. It was a Jap approaching. The Chicagoan dared not fire for fear of attracting the attention of the enemy machine gunners again. He lay still. When the Jap was within a few feet, Knowles made a sudden bayonet lunge, killing the Jap quietly.

After reaching his platoon, he was assisted to an aid station by Staff Sgt. Ralph Seaney of Rockford, Ill., and later was evacuated to a New Guinea hospital, where he is recovering.

Another Chicagoan.

In a near-by bed is Pvt. Robert Nadell of 4524 N. Avers av., Chicago, recovering from two bullet wounds in his foot, suffered on Leyte. Ambushed by Japs, Nadell's unit had fought four hours and its ammunition was almost gone when somebody saw a full belt lying 50 yards ahead of the American position.

Nadell volunteered to get it, while the others covered him. On the way back he was wounded by machine gun fire, but returned with the ammunition. The unit then fought its way out.

In private life the Chicagoan was a singer—a protege of Grace Moore —and an associate of the late Frederick Stock in Sunday morning programs.

COLONEL LEADS GUERRILLAS ON BATAAN 3 YEARS

MANILA, Feb. 18 (AP). — The 21 American and other allied service men who Gen. MacArthur today reported had been liberated or rejoined American forces on Bataan included Col. Gyles Merrill, leader for nearly three years of guerrilla organization in the Zambales mountains. Merrill, whose home is at Colorado Springs, Colo., escaped during the notorious march of death on Bataan in 1942.

Merrill and several other officers carried out reconnaissance which paved the way for the American landings at Subic bay on Jan. 29 and Mariveles on Feb. 15.

Other Americans in the group, which included three Dutch army men, one British service man, and one British civilian, were Maj. Royal Reynolds Jr., Nashville, Tenn.; Capt. Richard C. Kadel, Cave City, Ky.; Capt. Winston A. Jones, Frederick, Okla.; Capt. George E. Crane, Billings, Mont.; Capt. Lester J. Chase, Miami Beach, Fla.; Sgt. Clinton V. Wolfe, Trinidad, Colo.; Lt. Col. Peter D. Calyer, Washington, D. C., and Lt. Col. Edgar Wright, Napa, Cal.

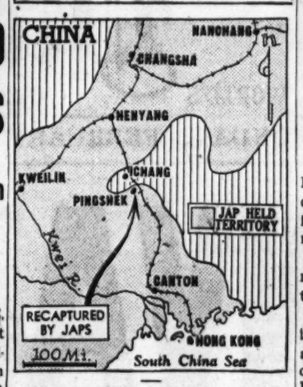
Japs Win Town



CHUNGKING, China, Feb. 18 (AP). —Japanese, attempting to close a gap in the Canton-Hankow railroad, have recaptured the Kwangtung province border town of Pingshek, 165 miles north of Canton, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

Chinese forces recently carved out the 25 mile gap on the rail line into which the enemy now is advancing. The Japanese struck in the mountainous region between Pingshek and Ichang in Hunan province.

The United States 14th air force announced it destroyed 55 Japanese aircraft and damaged 69 others between Feb. 8 and Feb. 14. Most of the total resulted from the strike against Tsingtao on Shantung peninsula by the Chinese-American wing Feb. 10.

UNSCRATCHED IN BATTLE, A YANK SHELL GETS HIM

Chicagoan Recovers in Guinea Hospital.

BY WALTER SIMMONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AN ADVANCED NEW GUINEA BASE, Jan. 4 [Delayed].—Staff Sgt. Everett Jenkins of 2508 Isabella st., Evanston, Ill., went unscathed thru 23 dangerous days at the front in the Leyte fighting.

Then he was sent to a rear area for a rest. Promptly he stopped a falling fragment of a 90 millimeter American anti-aircraft shell. The wound was not serious, but it put him out of action. He was evacuated to the hospital here, where he found several other Chicago veterans of the Leyte fighting.

Tribune Is Popular.

Staff Sgt. Ernest Vogt, 1546 W. 100th pl., was sitting up in bed reading THE TRIBUNE of Sept. 16, which had just arrived. He received a machine gun slug in his thigh and is recovering.

Staff Sgt. Walter Fruland Jr., 4870 N. Paulina st., also is recovering from a leg wound. He wanted thanks passed along to Les Ogilvie of The Tribune advertising department for sending him The Overseas Tribune regularly. It is passed up and down the wards until it is worn out.

Chicagoans Recovering.

Sgt. Joe Azarkiewicz of 9157 S. Paulina st. was wounded by a sniper while on patrol Nov. 16. Sgt. Albert Schaeffer, 5337 Lynch st., got four woodpecker [light machine gun] slugs in his right leg, and expects to be sent home. Pvt. Gabriel Stefan of 5040 N. Sawyer av., a veteran of Hollandia and Biak, was wounded in the leg by mortar fire. Corp. Art Pilot of Chicago Heights was injured during a strafing raid when a 20 millimeter shell exploded in his foxhole.

Army physicians said none of the men would suffer permanent ill effects from his wounds.

GANDHI WARNS OF NEW WAR IF INDIA ISN'T FREE

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 18 (AP).—Mohandas K. Gandhi today predicted a new and bloodier war unless the problem of India and other nations like it is solved.

Criticizing the government on the recent arrest of certain members of the all-India congress, Gandhi said:

"If things go on as they are doing in India, the victory that the allies will have will be only so-called, because they will also have India and other nations in the same plight bleeding at their feet.

Sees New War Monster.

"Such victory can only lead in the near future to a war bloodier if possible than the one that will have closed, for victory at the expense of India will mean that out of the ashes of fascism, nazism and Japanese militarism will have risen a new monster that will seek to eat all it sees—and in the attempt will be eaten up, leaving I know not what.

"In August, 1942, instead of needlessly precipitating a quarrel with the people, if the authority had listened to the pleading of the congress, India would have enjoyed independence and the war would already have ended with honor for the allies and happiness for the suppressed peoples of the earth. That is my retrospection.

Protests Arrests.

"What are the government's protestations about Indian independence worth if they will not tolerate congress' constructive movement, except on conditions impossible of acceptance? Are they not satisfied with the extraordinary power they possess? Must they keep in custody without trial the best known as well as the least known Indians?

"Must there be re-arrest of released persons the moment they speak and act as free men if their speech or act does not please authority?"

EMPIRE TROOPS CROSS RIVER IN MANDALAY DRIVE

ON IRRAWADDY FRONT, Feb. 18 [Reuters].—While British, Indian, and Gurkha troops of Lt. Gen. Slim's 14th army made a new Irrawaddy crossing 50 miles west of Mandalay, other British regiments cut the Japanese southward retreat road near the Arakan coast after the seventh allied landing in Burma in seven weeks.

The Arakan landing, by men of the 25th Indian division, was at Ru-Ywa, about 65 miles southeast of Akyab, yesterday.

Bombers Enter Battle.

CALCUTTA, India, Feb. 18 (AP).—American and British heavy and medium bombers of the eastern air command were thrown into the battle for Mandalay today. They pounded troop concentrations and supply dumps on the enemy's land routes south of Burma's second city. Attacked were the villages of Tabe and Polaywa, which have expanded into major communications and supply centers.

B-29s OF INDIA COMMAND BLAST JAPS ON MALAY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 [Monday]—(AP).—Super Fortresses today bombed Japanese military and communications facilities on the Malay peninsula. The raid was carried out by a force of B-29s based in India, headquarters of the 20th air force in Washington announced.

No details of the attack were immediately available. A bulletin will be issued when operational reports are received at the air force headquarters.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 18. — Such vast quantities of rationed goods are being stolen by London black market thieves that the public's assistance was enlisted tonight to help Scotland Yard prevent the almost daily thefts of truckloads of scarce items. Indicating the scope of the gangs' depredations was the theft in the last few days of such cargoes as 14,000 eggs, 300,000 cigarets, a complete British Broadcasting corporation mobile recording unit, and 11 500-pound bombs. Trucks carrying thousands of dollars worth of meat, tea, candy, and clothes also have disappeared.

FIRST IN QUALITY IN PRICE IN SATISFACTION

1. QUALITY
The quality of your glasses is not determined by the price you pay. High prices are no indication. This is proven by the fact that you can purchase fine glasses complete with Rhodium finish mountings, and crystal clear Toric lenses, for far or near vision, at the low price of only $3.45, at each and every one of the Ritholz Optical parlors. Call at once and be convinced.

CREDIT IF DESIRED NO EXTRA CHARGE

2. PRICE
The glasses which Ritholz are selling at the low price of $3.45, is a result of many years of research, coupled with huge volume purchases, and a factory-to-you method of merchandising. There is no middle-man profit to pay, and this saving is passed on to you, the customer, in the form of better glasses at lower prices. Twenty other modern styles at moderate prices.

3. SATISFACTION
Each pair of glasses sold by Ritholz, carries the unqualified guarantee of the maker. Forty-eight years of catering to satisfied customers, is a sufficient guarantee that you, too, can be satisfied. We make this solemn promise—you must be satisfied, or your money back.

21,000 GERMANS BOTTLED UP IN LORIENT POCKET

Fighting Fitful; U-Boat Pens Operating.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VANNES, Brittany, France, Feb. 18. — French and American forces have about 21,000 Germans bottled up in the Lorient pocket, which forms the northernmost end of the Atlantic front.

Lorient (arrow) where Nazis are trapped.

The Lorient salient makes about a 40 kilometer [25 miles] semicircle around the city, from the Laita river on the west up to a point two kilometers [1¼ miles] below Quimperle, and then around thru Hennebont and Port Louis on the east and the Etel river. The Germans also hold the tip of Quiberon peninsula and the island of Groix.

To visit the Lorient front, you go down from Brest to Quimper, thru melancholy country, along roads strewn with skeletons of many burned motor cars.

Daily German Shelling.

Beyond Quimper lies Quimperle, on the edge of the Lorient salient. The Germans drop shells into it every day.

In Quimperle, Capt. Le Troter arranged for my visit to the front. Accompanied by Commandant De Boisson, we were shown a segment of the front lines near the Chateau Talhouet. Adm. Doenitz lived there until last summer.

The lines consist of fortified positions and entrenchments, with interlacing fields of fire, so that the entire periphery is covered. The German positions lie about a kilometer [⅝ mile] away, organized in much the same way. The territory between is no man's land, over which patrols prowl constantly. The front here has been stabilized for some months. The Lorient pocket makes about a 308 square kilometer [about 192 square miles] area.

On the day I visited the front it was quiet. Only a few artillery salvos were being exchanged from time to time, and the occasional splutter of a patrol's machine guns were heard.

French Lack Equipment.

Commandant De Boisson said his main worry was lack of equipment for his men. In some instances there was only one pair of shoes for two men. The terrain is muddy.

The Americans also hold a segment of the front. A couple of artillerymen with whom I talked—Corp. Don Bennett of Kansas City, Mo., and Pvt. Eugene Byrne of New York City—expressed admiration for the way the French forces of the west are holding despite lack of equipment.

Across no man's land the two forces watch each other. The Germans frequently raid the French lines for food.

French officers say Lorient, which was a town of 40,000 and had a strongly fortified port, has been practically destroyed. Behind the German lines still live several thousand French people.

French officers said the Germans still operate the big submarine pens at Lorient. They also operate surface boats to Quiberon peninsula and to the island of Groix. They live on fish and what food they can seize.

From this sector, we took a winding road back to visit the command post of Brig. Gen. Albert F. Rollins, who commands a sector of American troops aiding in containing the Lorient pocket.

Gen. Rollins' post is concealed underground. The ground is clay and there has been much rain, so the Americans are living in a mudhole, more or less.

Armed with the password, we set out from Rollins' headquarters, to visit Brig. Gen. Herman F. Kramer's headquarters. Kramer is commanding general of the 66th division, collaborating with the French Gen. Larminat in both the Lorient and St. Nazaire sectors.

Watching and Patrols.

When I talked with Kramer, an arrangement was being made to exchange prisoners and civilians with the Germans in Nantes. Sometimes Kramer's men clash with the Germans in units as big as a battalion, but mostly it's a warfare of watching and patrols.

We went on down 100 kilometers [62½] miles to Vannes to spend the night. The countryside was completely blacked out. It was difficult to find roads.

Reservations had been made in Vannes by Capt. Le Troter. The hotel was requisitioned. It had no heating, but fortunately, the first signs of spring were already perceptible. Along the roads yellow gorse was in bloom, contrasting with the snow and cold of Normandy and Ile de France, only ten days ago.

Vannes has hardly been touched by the war, altho it lies just between Lorient and St. Nazaire, which have been destroyed.

The shops were denuded of most goods and the fish market was empty. The Germans control the coast, and there is no fishing. But the bakeries were full of bread, and butcher shops were hung with great slabs of beef.

However, there are obvious difficulties in food distribution in these provincial regions.

Food Reforms Urged.

The local authorities are subject to much criticism by resistance organizations. Signs on billboards urged these measures to improve the food situation:

1. Remove price fixing ordinances on produce, and the peasants would deliver more stuff.
2. Abolish the food collection agencies, established by the former Vichy government, and curiously still in effect.
3. Punish black market operators.
4. Permit charcoal gas burning trucks, of which there are maffy thousands in the country, to operate in hauling goods from town to town.

These proposals would not only improve the situation in Vannes, but they apply as well to the whole of France.

Rep. Douglas' 'Commoner' Story from Her Office

EMILY TAFT DOUGLAS, M. C. Illinois

FOR RELEASE SATURDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 17.

New York, Feb. 17....Because she is a "commoner", Emily Taft Douglas, Congresswoman-at-large from Illinois, was forbidden by protocol from "going on the air" with the Queen of the Netherlands when she delivered the main address today at a meeting of the National Association of Broadcasters. Queen Wilhelmina and Mrs. Roosevelt were heard for fifteen minutes over CBS from 3:30 to 3:45 EWT giving greetings to the nation-wide hookup of the National Association after the conclusion of Mrs. Douglas's remarks. The Illinois Congresswoman was invited to make the keynote speech at this meeting because of her recent appearance at Times Hall where she gave an address concerning "Room at a Time for Leadership". Her subject today was "Room of the United Nations" and dealt in part with the Dumbarton Oaks proposals and the role women can play in their expansion and acceptance. POLISH EDITORS SEE STAGE SET FOR THIRD WAR

Denounce Decision at Yalta Parley.

Representatives of Polish language newspapers in America with a reader audience of more than 1,200,000, gathered in Chicago yesterday and solemnly warned that America, by acquiescence in the Yalta decision selling Poland down the river, has sown the seeds of a third world war.

The meeting, held in the Polish Women's Alliance auditorium at 1309 N. Ashland av., and attended by more than 50 editors and executives of 41 Polish language publications, was called by the Polish American congress and the United Polish Newspaper association. The last group includes the Polish American Journalists guild, the Association of Polish Publishers and Newspapermen in America, and the Alliance of Polish Newspapermen in America.

Want Decision Annulled.

The conference adopted a resolution to be sent to President Roosevelt, the state department, congress, and the American representatives at the allied nations conference to be held in San Francisco, urging that the Yalta decision be annulled.

A letter prepared for transmission to all English language newspapers in the United States asking aid in preserving Poland's territorial integrity, said in part:

"We know Russia from centuries of very close contact, and from history.

"It is our deep conviction that the role now accepted by the United States regarding Europe is fraught with the danger of tragic consequences for America. We have surrendered; we have appeased; we have engaged ourselves in a speculation on the future based on illusion, not past experiences; we have sown the seeds of a third world war; we have abandoned principles and accepted formulas.

Policy Statement Cited.

"Not long ago, our government stated its policy, namely, that the United States would not recognize any territorial changes in Europe; yet we have approved and undersigned a fifth partition of Poland."

Among the more than a score of cities represented at the conference, were Milwaukee, Wis.; Detroit, Mich.; Chicago; Buffalo, N. Y.; Cleveland, O.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Jersey City, N. J.; Brooklyn, N. Y.; New York; Omaha, Neb.; Baltimore, Md.; Scranton, Pa.; Stevens Point, Wis., and Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Charles Dozmarek of Chicago, president of the Polish-American congress and of the Polish National Alliance, was chairman.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Feb. 18.—Only five out of two dozen Paris daily newspapers have, so far, published a statement on the number of locomotives and freight cars sent to France by the American army that was circulated to all the local newspapers by SHAEF last Friday.

The statement was to inform the French public, who have read newspaper articles saying American military monopolization of transport was the cause of the lack of coal and food in Paris, that the United States forces had contributed to French military and civil transport facilities 1,539 steam locomotives, 130 diesel locomotives, and 20,680 freight cars brought from the United States, and had repaired 30,000 freight cars and 1,802 locomotives.

Two newspapers today, Aube and Liberation, tell of military and civilian supplies shipped to France from the United States—a subject rarely discussed in the press.

PRAVDA ASSAILS REP. O'KONSKI FOR YALTA CRITICISM

Rep. O'Konski.

MOSCOW, Feb. 18 (AP).—Pravda today assailed United States Rep. O'Konski [R., Wis.] for his criticism of the Yalta declaration on Poland. The Communist party newspaper also attacked ex-Premier Mikolajczyk of the London government, who Red Star, the army paper, had hinted might participate in a reorganized Warsaw regime.

Pravda spoke on the eve of negotiations here to revise the Warsaw government. The Crimea conference called for "a broader democratic basis with the inclusion of democratic leaders from Poland itself and from Poles abroad," preliminary to recognition by the United States and Britain.

O'Konski, Pravda said, had repeated "a dirty insinuation of fascist propaganda concerning liberated Poland and the Baltic."

"Spoke Like Goebbels."

"Against a background of unprecedented unanimity of view toward the Crimea conference in the United States and England, the speech of Republican O'Konski attracted general attention," Pravda observed. "From the tribune of the house of representatives he spoke like Goebbels. Most surprising was that some Republicans in the house approved this political buffoonery. Mr. O'Konski is opposed to a long list of prominent members of the American congress, including former isolationists, who welcomed the Crimea decisions."

Pravda said the Polish government in London had "been acting in unison with Berlin," adding:

"Mikolajczyk has aligned himself with Arceszewski [premier of the London regime] having made a statement against the Crimea decisions in the press."

'CHILDISH, NAME CALLING'

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 18 [Special].—Rep. O'Konski today branded an attack made upon him by the Moscow newspaper Pravda as "childish and name calling."

"Moscow never answers a point, it merely calls names," Rep. O'Konski told THE TRIBUNE, adding that "in typical Goebbels fashion, which it always emulates, it seeks to lie out of a most embarrassing situation."

O'Konski charged in the house last Tuesday hat the Yalta conference was a "second Munich" at which Poland was "sacrificed on the auction block of appeasement" just as Czechoslovakia was sold out at Munich. He asserted the Big Three leaders perpetrated one of the grossest injustices in history.

"Moscow Part Time Ally."

O'Konski today assailed Pravda's "insinuation that the Polish government in London has been acting in unison with Berlin." He retorted "that in more than five years of Polish resistance against the Nazis not a single Nazi quisling has been found among more than 35 million Polish people."

Moscow has been only a part time ally for five years," O'Konski said, adding that for much of that time "Moscow has been aiding and abetting Goebbels by dividing the people of gallant allies such as Poland. Goebbels could not divide the Polish people, but Moscow did. That has been Moscow's chief contribution to the war."

O'Konski said that for many years Goebbels and Moscow worked hand in hand, that during the first part of the war "Moscow divided the people of Europe and Hitler conquered them; lately Moscow has been playing the whole game itself.

"Fascism and communism are one and the same thing."

ESCAPE ROUTES FROM ITALY HIT BY U. S. BOMBERS

ROME, Feb. 18 (AP). — American Flying Fortresses bombed communications at the Austrian city of Linz today as other British and American planes ranged over northern Italy in a stepped-up air offensive aimed at hampering any Nazi effort to withdraw from the Italian front.

The blow at Linz, 95 miles west of Vienna, was the sixth in as many days delivered by Italy based heavy bombers against Austrian communications. It was the first time since mid-December that United States 15th air force long range forces have been able to operate so many days in succession.

Lightnings and Mustangs escorted the bombers.

Thunderbolts and Mitchells of the 12th air force struck at Brenner pass line bridges at Levis and Ala despite bad weather. Thunderbolts also bombed ammunition dumps near Bologna and hit two bridges near Genoa.

Ground forces on the Italian front have engaged the Germans in brisk patrol actions, allied headquarters said.

Arab Diplomats Making Progress Toward Union

CAIRO, Feb. 18 [Reuters].—A spokesman after the third meeting of Arab foreign ministers here this afternoon reported that the talks were "going very well indeed." There seemed to be no difficulties in the way of formation of an Arab league, he said. It was learned considerable progress was made toward the object of the conference—the creation of a league to represent all Arab countries in the middle east.

REDS FIGHT FOR WIDER HOLD ON BERLIN'S FLANK

Both Sides Rushing In Re-enforcements.

LONDON, Feb. 19 [Monday]—(AP).—Russian troops encircled and broke into the outskirts of the Vistula river stronghold of Grudziadz yesterday in their drive toward Danzig, 57 miles north. Other soviet forces toppled the Queis river bastion of Naumburg, only 16 miles northeast of Goerlitz, Silesia's second city.

A violent struggle raged on the muddy southeastern approaches to Berlin, where Marshal Konev's 1st Ukraine army captured the six-way rail center of Sagan, 86 miles southeast of the reich capital. Fourteen hundred Germans were killed in a two day street battle before Sagan fell.

Both sides were rushing up re-enforcements in this area where Konev's army fought to expand its foothold in Brandenburg province.

Admit Russian Crossing.

Berlin acknowledged that soviet troops had crossed the Bober river near its confluence with the Oder in their effort to turn Berlin's eastern defenses.

Several prisoner of war camps, one of which held allied airmen, were located around Sagan. The fate of these prisoners has not yet been learned, but it is likely they were moved westward by the Germans.

A soviet midnight bulletin disclosed that Konev's southern wing had captured Naumburg in the drive toward Goerlitz and Dresden, capital of German Saxony. Dresden is 66 miles west of Naumburg.

Another Silesian town named Naumburg, on the Bober river 13 miles north of captured Sagan, was taken by the Russians on Friday, and the Germans had claimed its recapture.

Register Nine Mile Advance.

Berlin said other soviet forces were 15 miles east of Goerlitz and the Russians on Saturday announced the capture of Rauscha, 60 miles northeast of Dresden, after soviet troops had crossed the Queis river.

In East Prussia the 3d White Russian army gained ground, killing 2,000 Germans and tightening its strangle hold on the remnants of perhaps 200,000 trapped Nazis, but at the same time suffered a severe blow in the death of its commander, Gen. Cherniakhovsky.

Attack Called Big One.

Berlin said 100 soviet divisions were attacking in East Prussia in an effort to wipe out the trapped Germans and thus release additional Russian power for the impending battle for Berlin.

The midnight bulletin said the Russians beat off 20 German counter-attacks at Grudziadz, where the enemy attempted to break the encirclement ring, and then going over to the attack broke into the city's outskirts.

In German Pomerania the Russians said their troops beat off big German infantry and tank counter-attacks south and southeast of Stargard, 20 miles east of Stettin, Berlin's Baltic port at the mouth of the Oder river.

Seventy miles east of Stargard the Russians liquidated another surrounded group of Germans north of fallen Schneidemuehl, capturing 2,000. The Russians had announced the killing of 8,000 Germans and the capture of 2,000 in that area the day before.

Kill 7,445 Nazis in Day.

Moscow's bulletins announced the killing or capture of 7,445 Germans during the day. In the last week Moscow has claimed the capture or killing of a total of 258,150 Germans and Hungarians, including casualties in the nearly 50 day siege of Budapest.

A few Germans still were holding out in the citadel in Poznan, besieged western Polish city, the soviet bulletin said.

Breslau, Silesian capital 86 miles east of menaced Goerlitz, still was under siege, and a Pravda report said the Russians had smashed a strong defense ring around the encircled city of 630,000. Berlin already had acknowledged that the Russians had penetrated into the city.

Doomed Paratrooper's Plea to Be Heard Today

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP).—An appeal from the death sentence imposed upon Karl Gustav Hulten, parachute soldier from Cambridge, Mass., will be heard tomorrow by a three man tribunal. Mrs. Elizabeth Marina Jones, convicted with Hulten in the death of a London taxi driver, also is appealing.

DESCRIBES VAST NAZI ARSENALS UNDERGROUND

Built by Slave Labor, Reds Charge.

MOSCOW, Feb. 18 (AP).—Pravda correspondent Boris Polevoy told today of two vast underground arsenals which he said the Germans built "upon the blood and bones of hundreds of thousands of slaves."

Presumably Polevoy is in Silesia with Marshal Konev's 1st Ukrainian army.

"We landed at an airdrome in the outskirts of a big forest wondering why the Germans located it [the air field] in such a deserted spot and why concrete roads crisscrossed the woods," he wrote. "Then we were conducted to a tunnel entrance camouflaged with artificial trees and a sign posted, 'Death to him who enters without a pass.'

Books Undisturbed.

"We descended a deep shaft in damp air like a mine. We walked along an endless corridor under a forest, a river, and hills. Right and left there were rooms stacked high with bombs, shells, and land mines. Everything was in good order. The books on the clerks' desks were undisturbed.

"A detonator was wired to explode the arsenal. But the explosion never was set off."

Journeying to another forest air field, Polevoy reported seeing "endless ranks of new intact German warplanes," and added:

"The field was an adjunct of an underground factory where all the installations were seized in good order by our fighters.

Dogs Guard Slaves.

"Both of these underground retreats were built by a German engineer, the executioner [the late Dr. Fritz] Todt. His slaves from the invaded countries of Europe lived in camps surrounded by electrified barbed wire and guarded by fierce, hungry police dogs.

"The slaves were given a number burned upon their breast. The weak and sick were killed. The stronger were sent to build other underground arsenals."

Germans in England Ask Chance to Convert Nazis

LONDON, Feb. 18 [Reuters].—Exiled Germans in Britain today asked for access to German prisoner of war camps to "convert" their compatriots and "break the Nazi influence." This request was contained in a manifesto, which also asked that they should go to the front "as Germans" to organize resistance to Hitlerism and "propagate Democratic ideas" among the German army.

CHALLENGE LUBLIN POLISH REGIME TO ACT DEMOCRATICALLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Poles in London today challenged the Lublin administration to demonstrate its good faith in the Crimea decisions by releasing political prisoners belonging to democratic parties and restoring freedom of speech, press, and assembly in Russian occupied Poland.

Followers of former Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, who are willing to meet the Lublin Poles half way in forming a new government on a broader, democratic basis as ordered by the Big Three, want to know who is going to be considered a democrat and who isn't. They point out that practically all Polish leaders outside of Poland have been called collaborators and traitors by Lublin.

Prof. Stanislaw Kot, former Polish ambassador to Moscow and minister of information in the governments of Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski and Mikolajczyk, asserted so far none of the parties that had been in opposition to Lublin has been able to publish a newspaper in Poland. Kot, who is taken to reflect Mikolajczyk's views, said he regards the Crimea decisions as a starting point for a new settlement in Poland providing they are honestly and loyally carried out.

CHICAGOAN FINDS NAZIS COWARDS IN ADVERSITY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—Except when they were winning or when a particular piece of trickery apparently was about to succeed, Nazi soldiers were not brave, Tech. Sgt. Charles E. Haughland, Chicago infantry man, learned during the St. Lo break-thru in Normandy.

"But they fight fanatically when anything appears to be working out to their advantage," he said in an interview upon his return to the United States for a battle earned furlough. "When they figure the odds are all in their favor they become great swashbucklers. Like any bully, however, let them take a good punch on the nose and they always cry for help."

Sgt. Haughland joined the 3d infantry division at the time of the St. Lo break-thru. His mother, Mrs. Theresa Haughland, lives at 2714 N. Normandy av.

SOVIET GENERAL DIES OF WOUND IN EAST PRUSSIA

LONDON, Feb. 19 [Monday]—(AP).—Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky, 37 year old Jewish tank commander whose 3d White Russian army was the first to invade Germany, died yesterday of wounds suffered on the battlefield in East Prussia, Moscow announced early today.

Gen. Cherniakhovsky.

The conqueror of Minsk, Wilno, Kaunas, and most of East Prussia died "from a heavy wound received on the battlefield of East Prussia," said the official announcement.

Youngest General in Army.

Cherniakhovsky was the youngest general in the Red army, the youngest army group commander, and one of the nation's outstanding strategists.

Three days ago he was the subject of an order of the day by Premier Stalin for his troops' gallantry in the battle of East Prussia.

Cherniakhovsky will be given a hero's funeral in Wilno, capital of the Lithuanian soviet republic, where a monument will be erected in his honor.

A broadcast from Moscow said the soviet union would express its gratitude to the fallen general by granting 125,000 rubles [approximately $10,400 at the diplomatic rate] to his family, giving his widow, Anastasya, 2,000 rubles monthly for life and his two children 1,000 rubles monthly until their education is completed.

Smashed Thru Defenses.

Cherniakhovsky's forces had a small toehold inside East Prussia when the present great soviet offensive began.

Facing probably the greatest concentration of prepared defenses on the eastern front, he chose to attack in the most obvious sector and crush the German defenses.

Cherniakhovsky died as his troops had conquered all but 550 square miles of East Prussia's 14,283, had encircled the German garrison in Koenigsberg, the capital, and with the aid of Marshal Rokossovsky's 2d White Russian army had trapped the remnants of 20 German divisions in a small pocket below Koenigsberg.

SHOOT HITLER AND HIS GANG, SAYS SEN. BALL

United States Senators Ball [R., Minn.] and Fulbright [D., Ark.] and Quincy Wright, professor of international law at the University of Chicago, agreed yesterday that the Crimean conference declaration will hasten the surrender of Germany. They spoke on the university's Round Table broadcast from Washington.

Hitler and his gang of war criminals must be shot rather than permitted to live in exile and millions of their followers must be put into labor battalions and forced to repair war damage, Ball recommended. Fulbright said the proposed world combination against Germany will prevent the nation from rising as an aggressor in the future.

Prof. Wright said enforcement of the declaration will stop Germany from recovering its status as a great power. The German people, however, will have the opportunity to live and eventually to prosper if they accept this status, the professor said.

NAZI TRANSPORT LOST WITH 7,700, FINN RADIO SAYS

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP).—The Finnish radio reported tonight the sinking of the 25,000 ton German liner Wilhelm Gustloff with the loss of 7,700 persons while she was evacuating refugees and sailors from Danzig.

The broadcast did not state how or when the German ship was sunk, but said that of the 3,700 naval personnel and 5,000 refugees aboard, only 1,000 were saved.

[The Wilhelm Gustloff, a passenger liner before the war, had been converted into a troop transport.]

U.S. TROOPS PUSH INTO REICH AT TWO NEW POINTS

British, Canadians Gain in Drive on Ruhr.

PARIS, Feb. 18 (AP).—The Canadian 1st army smashed thru outer defenses to within 1,000 yards of Goch today amid indications that the Germans were preparing to abandon this outflanked stronghold at the threshold to the Ruhr industrial basin.

The United States 3d and 7th armies invaded Germany at two new points from the west and south as the feeling grew that a great allied storm was gathering in the west.

Field Marshal Montgomery sent a message to his troops saying knockout blows are at hand. The German radio, saying an all-out offensive was near, asserted Montgomery had thrown his British 2d army into battle alongside the Canadian 1st army at the approaches to the Ruhr.

Bomb Nazi Feeder Point.

A force of 250 British heavy bombers strove to seal off the northern front by unloading 1,200 tons of high explosives and incendiaries on the feeder point of Wesel, in the western Ruhr basin 16 miles east of advanced British and Canadian forces.

British infantry which had cut the Goch-Calcar highway fought into the northeastern perimeter of Goch's defenses, and other forces were battling thru anti-tank ditches and other obstacles a little farther away on the north and northwest.

Patrols returning from the enemy lines before Goch said opposition was lighter than expected, the city of 11,000 was under ceaseless artillery and mortar fire, and all roads except one to the south were in allied hands.

The Germans counter-attacked repeatedly. One counter-blow tried to flatten the British wedge and regain control of the Goch-Calcar highway, but it was warded off.

Gain Heights Near Calcar.

Seven miles northeast of Goch, a second important road center, Calcar, was pressed by troops less than two miles away. They cleared most of Moyland woods—strewn with the corpses of attackers and German defenders—seized heights dominating Calcar and fought into Moyland.

Most of the woods south of Moyland had been cleared at considerable cost, and heavy fighting was in progress for Moyland.

On the north flank along the Rhine, the Germans tried to infiltrate Canadian positions in the floodlands north of Kleve and were driven back.

Seven miles southwest of Goch, Scottish infantry seized Afferden and battled on southward in a one mile drive seeking to roll up the enemy's powerful Maas [Meuse] river line.

3d Army Gains Anew.

German patrols felt out United States 1st army positions southeast of Aachen in the areas of Gemuend and Schleiden. One German prisoner said the high command planned to turn the biggest Rhine cities into fortresses and hold them long after allied armies press on beyond.

East of Luxemburg, Lt. Gen. Patton's United States 3d army broadened its front in western Germany's Eifel hills to 32 miles, hacked out gains of nearly two miles, deepened a new breach in the west wall, and forced a crossing of the Enz river seven miles south of the big enemy base at Bitburg.

Five Germans towns were captured as the 3d plunged five miles or more into Germany.

Troops commanded by Lt. Col. William H. Blakefield of Berlin, Wis., captured the German village of Scankweiler on the Enz river, eight miles southwest of Bitburg.

Bridgehead Defended.

The 3d army's 5th infantry division was in the forefront of the lines being drawn slowly around Bitburg.

Along with gains of the 80th infantry division, the Echternach bridgehead today was deepened to four miles and stretched 10 miles along the Sure river. The mud and the difficulties of supply were hampering the advance more than the enemy.

Ten miles northwest of the bridgehead mechanized cavalry crossed the Our river at a new point of entry into Germany and occupied high ground three miles northwest of Vianden.

Lt. Gen. Patch's United States 7th army was disclosed to have reinvaded the Saar basin of Germany six miles southwest of Saarbruecken.

There was no intimation that this was a big attack, but an announcement from the 6th army group said heavy casualties were inflicted on enemy troops trying to infiltrate lines north of the Saar town of Auersmacher, three miles north of the French city of Sarreguemines.

Stiff fighting also was reported to the west at Gros-Bliederstroff, four and a half miles south of Saarbruecken.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Sunday's official German war report of fighting on the western front said:

"After attacks on both sides of the Kleve-Calcar road had been arrested, the Canadian 1st army on the 10th day of the defense battle between the lower Rhine and the Maas [Meuse] shifted the gravity center to the south part of the Reichswald forest. Infantry and tank formations, attacking under the strongest fire screen, broke down in the fire of our arms northeast of Goch despite the renewed increase. Farther westward the enemy was able after bitter fighting to approach nearer to the city.

"Part of the American 7th army attacked our bridgehead south of Saarbruecken. Fighting still is continuing with the focal point on both sides of Forbach.

"At La Rochelle our troops turned the enemy out of a front sector. The garrison south of Gironde repelled enemy shock troops and took prisoners."

REVEAL RUNDSTEDT'S OFFENSIVE DELAYED CANADIANS A MONTH

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY IN GERMANY, Feb. 18 (AP). — Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's Ardennes offensive on Dec. 16 forced Field Marshal Montgomery to postpone his present campaign in Germany by more than a month, it was disclosed tonight.

Under Gen. Crerar, the Canadian 1st army, with powerful reinforcements, was scheduled to jump off east of Nijmegen into Germany the first week in January. The planning had begun, and postponement came three days after Von Rundstedt swung his mighty blow thru the Ardennes. On Jan. 16 it was decided to remount the offensive, and it began Feb. 8 with British and Canadian troops under Crerar's command.

The delay forced Montgomery to strike when rains and floods turned the battleground into a mire — and roads were few. In the first week of January the ground was frozen and tanks could have operated. They have seen little action so far in this campaign. There may or may not have been more air support in January.

ALLIES PREPARE TO GIVE AACHEN FREE PRESS AGAIN

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

AACHEN, Germany, Feb. 18.—A start has been made on reëstablishing a free German press. It is the Aachen Nachrichten [News], the first German language newspaper to be published in Germany in 12 years free from Nazi influence.

Publication of the Nachrichten by Germans under allied authorization still is in the experimental stage. This four page weekly's fifth issue will be on the streets Tuesday. From this experience allied authorities working on the problem of rebuilding the German press have learned this main lesson: That the greatest difficulty will lie in finding enough Germans without Nazi taint who can be employed to write and edit news. With some American help, however, about 20 Germans are getting out the Nachrichten, a four page tabloid size paper. The first "run" of 12,000 has already been increased to 22,000.

The paper is published in a plant which was found practically intact amid the ruins of Aachen. A good sized quantity of newsprint was also discovered.

CHICAGOAN WINS HIS COMMISSION ON BATTLEFIELD

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE 30TH DIVISION, Feb. 18.—Sgt. Thomas Fogli of 4641 N. Paulina st., Chicago, with the 120th regiment, has received a battlefield commission as second lieutenant for leading eight men behind attacking Germans in the Ardennes and supporting three tanks while a tank destroyer kept the enemy busy in front. Two German self-propelled guns were knocked out and enemy infantry wiped out. On another occasion, Fogli captured a German anti-tank gun and knocked out a Panther tank with it. Fogli becomes a platoon leader with the same outfit in his new rank.

U. S. ARTILLERY OUTCLASSES FOE BY WIDE MARGIN

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 9TH ARMY, Feb. 18.—American artillery, both in guns and gunnery, is the finest in the world today. German ordnance and service, the best in World War I., is definitely outclassed.

That is the opinion of American infantrymen and officers who are the severest judges of the artillery behind them, and it's the frank boast of the gun crews and officers manning our weapons.

German artillery has not retrogressed since 1918. Rather, it failed to achieve the developments our arm has mastered, and the enemy is still about where he was at the last armistice. At that time, it was estimated, Germany maintained about 2,500 batteries on the western front.

Planes, Tanks Took Place.

The weakness of German artillery as compared to American is that Hitler concentrated his efforts on dive bombers and tanks, believing they would entirely replace guns. In the Polish, Norwegian, Dutch, Belgian, French, and African offensives, they did substitute for mobile batteries.

But as allied troops became accustomed to the terrifying sweeps of the stukas and the ominous rumble of approaching tanks, they developed tactical methods of dealing with these weapons, and since American plane production swept the dive bombers out of the sky and self-propelled guns began slaughtering the tanks, there has been a marked difference in results.

The Nazis' best weapon of this war is the 88 millimeter, high velocity field piece.

The German 77 millimeter field gun is far heavier, more cumbersome, and less mobile than the American three-incher, with is patterned after the famous French 75 and permits more rapid fire.

Neglect Heavy Pieces.

The Nazis entirely neglected the heavy artillery with which the kaiser startled the world in 1914 by revealing a 240 millimeter mobile howitzer which was transported in three parts, quickly assembled, and used to smash thru Belgian defenses, the Liege fortresses, and later the Verdun forts.

Hitler possesses a 240 millimeter mobile weapon, and also is using a few 11 inch naval guns on mobile mountings. The Nazis replaced the World War I. Big Bertha, which shelled Paris at 80 miles distance, with the flying bomb, of practically unlimited range but dubious accuracy.

The American 6-inchers, adapted from the French model, far surpass the German 155-millimeter weapon, and our 8-incher packs the fiercest punch of any caliber.

Meticulous, intensive training gives American gun crews the ability to concentrate on any target far quicker than the enemy can link up his batteries for united bombardment, and the American prodigality of ammunition during training affords superior marksmanship.

'WE HAVE COME TO LAST ROUND,' MONTY ASSERTS

Says Red Drives Bring Victory in Sight.

21ST ARMY GROUP HDQ., Feb. 18 (AP).—Field Marshal Montgomery in a personal message to troops under his command asserted today, "We now have come to the last and final round, and we want and will go for the knockout blow." His order said:

"The operations of the allies on all fronts have now brought the German war to its final stage. There was a time some years ago when it did not seem possible that we could win this war. The present situation is that we cannot lose it. In fact, the terrific successes of our Russian allies on the eastern front have brought victory in sight.

"In the 21st army group we stand ready for the last round. There are many of us who have fought thru the previous rounds. We have won every round on points. We now come to the last and final round, and we want, and will go for, the knockout blow.

"Fight Till Final Count."

"The rules of the last round will be that we continue fighting till the final count. There is no time limit. We know our enemy well. We must expect him to fight hard to stave off defeat, possibly in the vain hope that we shall crack before he does.

"But we shall not crack. We shall see this thing thru to the end.

"The last round may be long and difficult, and the fighting hard, but we now fight on German soil. We have got our opponent where we want him. And he is going to receive the knockout blow—a somewhat unusual one, delivered from more than one direction.

"You remember the poem written by a soldier in the 8th army in Africa before going into battle, in one verse of which he described what he considered we were fighting for:

"'Peace for the kids, our brothers freed,
"'A kinder world—cleaner breed.'

"Germans Started It."

"Let us see to it that we achieve this object, so well expressed by a fighting man of the British empire.

"And so we embark on the final round, in close coöperation with our American allies on our right and with complete confidence in the successful outcome of the onslaught being delivered by our Russian allies on the other side of the ring.

"Somewhat curious rules, you may say, but the whole match has been most curious. The Germans began this all-out contest and they must not complain when in the last round they are hit from several directions at the same time.

"Into the ring, then, let us go, and do not let us relax until the knockout blow has been delivered.

"Good luck to you all—and God bless you."

Mosquito Bombers Raid Mannheim, Berlin Areas

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP).—Mosquito bombers of the R. A. F. smashed at Mannheim and Berlin tonight as the unprecedented allied aerial offensive on Germany rolled into its sixth day. Weather had grounded American and British long range bombers during the daylight hours, but German alarms tonight indicated that three separate waves of allied planes were over the reich.

TRY TO SOOTHE FRENCH AFTER SNUB BY F. D. R.

Failure to Meet De Gaulle Is Sore Spot.

PARIS, Feb. 18 (AP).—United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery has left to visit President Roosevelt somewhere in the Mediterranean and it was believed here tonight that one purpose of his mission was to try to smooth ruffled French-American relations and difficulties between the President and Gen. De Gaulle in getting together following the Yalta conference of the Big Three.

This has been interpreted by some persons as meaning French-American relations have worsened, not among the people, but regarding the chiefs of the two nations.

French officials were disappointed about being left out of the Crimea conference, but still would have welcomed Roosevelt-De Gaulle conversations which might have smoothed out difficulties.

To this end, it was learned on good authority, the French renewed their invitation to Roosevelt to visit Paris, and would have been satisfied if he had visited southern France.

Instead, it was further learned reliably, they received a message Roosevelt would be willing to talk to De Gaulle in Algiers. This was a double rebuff. Not only was it a refusal to come to France, but also an invitation to the head of the French state to territory which had been French for more than a century.

Leak Perturbs French.

PARIS, Feb. 18 [Reuters].—Considerable perturbation has been caused in the highest French quarters by leakage of a report that Gen. De Gaulle has declined to go to Algiers to meet President Roosevelt.

Inquiries in French government circles were met with evasion but later authorized officials of De Gaulle's entourage admitted that in fact an invitation from President Roosevelt had been received but not accepted.

The leakage is regarded in responsible quarters as tantamount to a breach of faith.

A high official of the French foreign office called on United States Ambassador Caffery and protested vigorously.

A United States embassy official stated that the embassy had no comment to make.

Secret Note on Yalta.

When President Roosevelt's invitation was conveyed to De Gaulle, Caffery at the same time handed over a highly secret memorandum from Mr. Roosevelt containing the Yalta decisions. It was the request of the United States representative that the whole matter—the invitation as well as the memorandum—should be treated as a prime diplomatic demarche and as absolutely confidential.

The French authorities feel all the more indignant about the leakage in so far as they now feel that their position in the matter has been gravely prejudiced by premature one-sided publication and that they still do not feel free to issue a full statement on their side of the matter.

The secret memorandum handed to De Gaulle by Caffery was not a long document, but in three pages, giving more explicit details than the Yalta bulletin. It more particularly dealt with the organization of the San Francisco conference and explained that France was intended right away to take her due place beside the Big Three. The memorandum concluded with a paragraph stressing the document was to remain secret until "further notice."

LAKE FOREST CITY OFFICIALS ARE NOMINATED

Candidates for municipal offices in Lake Forest were nominated at a caucus held yesterday in the home of Kent Chandler, former mayor. Election will be held April 10, altho the caucus is tantamount to election. Lake Forest, which operates under a special charter, elects its officials on a nonpartisan ticket. The nominees are Charles F. Clarke for mayor; William H. Harding for city marshal and city collector; Roy S. Wells for supervisor; J. R. Heitman for treasurer, and for aldermen, Keith Carpenter [1]; Edwin L. Rosemann [2]; Thomas Pester [3]; Eugene H. Seyl [4]. All of the candidates on the ballot are incumbents with the exception of Heitman, printing company owner, who will succeed Edwin G. Lindenmeyer. Wells is the city's oldest official, having held office since 1918.

38 Pct. Less Meat for Public This Quarter; More Cuts Due

The American public will have to get along on approximately 38 per cent less meat during the first quarter of this year with a still further sharp drop indicated for the second quarter, the American Meat institute reported yesterday.

Basing its estimates on government figures, the institute stated that the government's weekly requirements for meat of all descriptions will approach one-half of the country's total production of meat complying with government specifications.

Further Cuts Seen.

Production for the period will be nearly 25 per cent less than the same period last year. Last year, in the January to March period, the public received approximately 263 million pounds weekly while the estimate for the first quarter this year is 162 million pounds weekly.

Estimates for the April to June quarter indicate that last year's weekly average of 232 million pounds will be cut to 151 million pounds—a decrease of 35 per cent.

Also Less Leathers.

"What will happen to supplies later this summer and fall, and thereafter, remains uncertain," the institute's statement read. "It is certain, however, that government requirements will continue high and may even sharply increase as hostilities continue."

Decreased production of meat also means decreased production of other vital materials necessary for war and civilian uses, the report pointed out. These include leather, greases, and other materials for explosives, many medicines, such as insulin, glandular extractives, adrenalin, and surgical sutures.

G. O. P. Starts Probe

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—An unofficial committee of house Republicans undertook an investigation of food shortages today. "The incompetence and misjudgment of Washington bureaucrats," said Rep. Jenkins [R., O.], chairman of the Republican food study committee, "makes critical shortages of many foods inevitable within the next few months."

PEOPLE AWARE OF WAR'S AIMS, MacLEISH SAYS

New York, Feb. 18 [Special].—The American people, contrary to the distorted image of the contemporary American position conjured up by those who spread the "curious doctrine" of confusion and spiritual defeat, know as never before in the history of the nation what they are fighting for, Assistant Secretary of State Archibald MacLeish declared tonight. Our aims, he stated, are to achieve a final and absolute victory and to "make peace, and keep peace, and enforce peace, when the war is over."

Making his first public address since his appointment, MacLeish spoke to more than 1,000 persons at the organizing dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria of the Independent Citizens committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions. The committee is an outgrowth of the independent voters committee of the arts and sciences which campaigned for the reëlection of President Roosevelt.

Among the avowed goals of the organization are swift and complete victory; a durable peace, full employment, a decent standard of living in post-war America and the strengthening of international unity thru interchange of ideas between the men and women of the arts and sciences of this country and the allied nations.

ARMED ROBBER GETS $835.

James Whalen, 5153 Lake st., proprietor of the Down Town Motor sales, 2100 Michigan av., told police yesterday that a Negro armed with a revolver robbed him of $650 and two checks totaling $185 in the sales room after telling Whalen he wanted to purchase an automobile.

INTER-AMERICAN AIDS DISCUSS ARGENTINE ROW

Doubt Declaration of War on Germany.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 18 (AP).—Reports that Argentina might declare war on Germany within the next week prompted discussion tonight among delegates who have arrived here for the inter-American conference scheduled to begin Wednesday.

Several Latin-American diplomats said they believed Argentina might take the step in a final effort to end her diplomatic isolation before the other republics of the hemisphere discuss her case.

One delegate said Argentina was planning a dramatic announcement of her entrance into the war Wednesday. Other delegates were inclined to doubt there would be a declaration of war.

Argentina was not invited to the meeting here of "American republics coöperating in the united nations war effort."

Rockefeller Silent.

Assistant Secretary of State Nelson Rockefeller, who arrived here today for the conference in company with eight Latin American ambassadors to Washington, was silent on the Argentine question.

Galo Plazao, Ecuadorian ambassador to the United States, however, stated that he expected his nation's delegation would "do its best to get the Argentine question settled."

Secretary of State Stettinius and Brazilian Foreign Minister Pedro Leao Velloso are expected to arrive from Rio de Janeiro Tuesday.

"Step Toward War."

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 18 (AP).—Argentina's protest to Germany against a "threat" to deny safe conduct to Argentine diplomats is regarded as a long stride toward war with Germany and Japan.

Argentina has broken diplomatic relations with Germany, and diplomats are being exchanged. The protest charged the Germans threatened to retain from Argentines now in Sweden a number equal to the Germans now in Lisbon whom the British had refused safe conduct. Argentina asserted this would be a hostile act.

However, Acting Foreign Secretary Ameghino said the matter was not considered of sufficient gravity to lead to a declaration of war at the moment.

Exchange Near.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 18 (AP).—Arrangements for the departure of the exchange ship Drottningholm carrying Argentine diplomats and their families home are virtually complete and the ship is expected to leave Gothenburg for Lisbon within the next few days, a Swedish foreign office source said today. So far as is known here, the scheduled exchange will not be affected by the Argentinian protest to the German government concerning denial of safe conduct to some of the diplomats.

KILLED AS CAR HITS STANCHION.

Ionia, Mich., Feb. 18 [Special].—Maston Bailey, 21, a Lansing war plant worker, was killed last night when he drove his car into a cement abutment at a railroad crossing near Lake Odessa. James Wilson, 20, of Collins, Mich., and Donald Farrell, 23, of Ionia, who were in the car with him and uninjured, were locked up in the Ionia county jail on charges of drunkenness.

CHICAGOAN DIES IN LEYTE ACTION; WON TWO MEDALS

LT. GEORGE M. O'CONNOR, 23, was killed in action on Leyte on Dec. 13. He had received the silver star, the bronze star, the combat infantryman's badge, and wore two battle stars on his Asiatic-Pacific theater ribbon. He was graduated from Marmion Military academy in Aurora, and had completed his second year at the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind., when he entered the army in April, 1941. Surviving Lt. O'Connor are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. O'Connor, 7 Circle av., Wheaton. Memorial services will be held in St. Michael's church at 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

TECH. SGT. DONALD G. MAY, 28, of 407 Grant pl., Aurora, gunner aboard a Flying Fortress, who previously was reported missing in action, now is officially presumed dead, his wife, Edith May, was advised yesterday by the war department. Sgt. May is believed to have been killed on an air mission.

MR. AND MRS. J. L. BREWER, 234 Elmwood dr., Aurora, have been advised that their son, Sgt. John A. Brewer, with the 103d infantry in France, has received a battlefield promotion to the rank of second lieutenant. The promotion was made Jan. 17.

WOUNDED HERO CRAWLS BACK TO TANK, K. O.s FOE

South Bend Gunner Wins Silver Star.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY, Feb. 18.—Pvt. William C. Newman Jr., South Bend, Ind., has been awarded the silver star for gallantry in action with the 9th armored division during the Bastogne battle.

Newman, a member of the 2d tank battalion, was serving as a gunner on a Sherman tank which was attacked by two enemy tanks. While the Sherman was knocking out one Nazi battle wagon, the other threw two shells into the American tank, killing one man and wounding Newman in the leg and head. The tank commander ordered the remainder of the crew to bail out as the second enemy tank maneuvered for the kill.

Goes Into Action Alone.

Then Newman went back into action. Other crew members, from their foxholes, saw the wounded gunner crawl back to the abandoned Sherman, despite enemy shells, and climb laboriously into the turret. Unaided he loaded, aimed, and fired the Sherman's gun. The second enemy tank burst into flames.

Newman was credited with knocking out a total of four enemy tanks during that day's action.

Other midwesterners given bronze stars recently include Lt. Col. Melvin A. Goers, Urbana, Ill., executive officer of the 19th armored unit, and Sgt. David D. Danforth, Onarga, Ill., who headed the 9th armored wire team which carried on despite shelling and small arms fire during the critical break-thru period. Danforth had little or no sleep for four days and nights, using his crew in relays.

Chicagoan Decorated.

Tech. Sgt. William E. Hart, 5316 Morgan st., Chicago, member of the 377th regiment of the 95th division, was decorated for heroism in evacuating wounded comrades under fire during assaults on Metz fortifications. He formerly was employed with International Harvester.

Six other midwestern heroes attached to the 4th armored division have been given awards by order of Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Gaffey, division commander.

Silver stars were given to Capt. William A. Dwight, Grand Rapids, Mich., of the 37th tank battalion; Capt. Robert F. Lange, Hinsdale, Ill., of the 10th armored infantry battalion, and Tech. Sgt. Milton Papiham, Green Bay, Wis., of the 53d armored infantry battalion.

Bronze Star Winners.

Those winning bronze stars were: Sgt. Theodore Yurige, Gary, Ind., of the 94th armored field artillery battalion, for remaining at an observation post under fire and also volunteering to repair communications after the regular wireman was killed trying to reëstablish them.

Corp. Charles L. Eaves, Peoria, Ill., a medical aidman, for attending wounded under shell fire so close that he was showered with mud by an explosion.

BISHOP FLAYS JIBE AIMED AT 'IDLE' MOTHERS

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 18 (AP).—The Most Rev. James E. Cassidy, bishop of the Fall River diocese, in a pastoral letter read today in churches of the diocese, criticized persons who would draft mothers for work in war plants.

Without naming the person to whom he referred, he said in the letter:

"One of our national feminine so-called legislators is reported by the press to have grossly insulted and slurred those who stay at home by vulgarly calling them a name unfit for pulpit publication.

"Such a person," he added, "could hardly be expected to note the mothers of many children who prize their little ones more than cheap money."

[Rep. Clare Booth Luce [R., Conn.] speaking at the 24th annual luncheon of the Women's National Republican club in New York on Feb. 3, described as an "unimaginative clod . . . and spiritual fat-cat" any American "physically able and free of domestic duties who does not voluntarily put mind and hand to some sort of war work."]

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY MARYON ZYLSTRA

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Clifford G. Berlin, 7405 Vincennes av.]

THE QUESTION.

Would you rather live in the city or in a small town and why?

WHERE ASKED.

Rosenwald museum.

THE ANSWERS.

Sonia Chalmers, student, 5455 Ingleside av.—I prefer living in a large city. There are more places to go and more to do. When I get older I want to wear formals and go to all the nice places and they don't have any in small towns. I like the glitter of a big city. If you get tired of it you can go to the country for a day.

Penelope Williams, student, 830 Oakdale av.—They both have their advantages and disadvantages, but on the whole I would rather live in a large city. There's always something to do. I've spent a lot of time in small towns and there's plenty of entertainment during the day, but at night it gets awfully dull.

June Seramore, student, 4913 Magnolia av.—I'll take the large city. There's a greater variety of people and you can choose your friends; whereas, in a small town people are classed in certain groups and you're put in whatever group you fall into. It's usually according to how much money you have . . . and a small town knows.

Don DeVore, student, 1402 Foster av.—I've lived in small towns and in large cities. The city has far more advantages than a small town. In a place like Chicago you get a broader view of what's going on in the world. Entertainment is different all the time—never the same monotonous quiet of a small town.

Sue Vavul, student, 5114 N. Leavitt st.—Window shopping is a favorite pastime of mine. In the city the shop windows are constantly changing and I so much enjoy seeing all the latest styles. Of course you can drive to the city if you don't live there but it's so much easier to get on a train and be downtown in a short time.

Mrs. H. J. Droba, housewife, 755 Greenwood av., Glencoe—A small town in ordinary times is by far the nicest place to live. It's clean and the children have plenty of room in which to play. Usually all recreation is centered within a very small area and one can play tennis, swim, etc., without spending a lot of time on transportation.

40,000 DAYS A MONTH LOST BY ABSENTEEISM

Absenteeism in Chicago area war plants has reached the point where more than 40,000 work days a month are lost thru failure of workers to stay on the job, Col. Dan A. Hardt, chairman of the production urgency committee, announced yesterday.

That means, Col. Hardt said, that more than 800 medium tanks or several million rounds of ammunition did not reach the fighting lines because of the holidays taken by war workers.

A check of 35 represenative plants by the war man power commission showed that the number of absences ran from a low of 2 per cent a month to as high as 12 per cent, with the average being 5.01 per cent. A similar check of 14 plants by Col. John Siezak, chief of the Chicago ordnance district, showed an even higher rate of absenteeism. Col. Siezak reported an average of 8.3 per cent a month. There are an estimated 800,000 war workers in the Chicago area.

74 Per Cent on Critical List.

"Seventy-four per cent of the Chicago war production is now in the 'critical' list, as compared to 33 per cent six months ago," Col. Hardt said. "If absenteeism were cut out we could increase production nearly 17 per cent without hiring any more workers."

In a vastly increased production program put into effect in the last few weeks, Col. Hardt said, particular emphasis has been placed on the production of medium and heavy tanks and a new secret fighting plane. Tank production, he said, would be increased more than 70 per cent above the production figure last year.

Because of this huge increase in production demands for tanks, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and radio station W-G-N, in coöperation with the army, navy, and war agencies, tonight will combine with the Pressed Steel Car company to present the dramatic story of production in Chicago's tank factory.

Production Means Lives.

The program, the third in a new series, America Unlimited, will demonstrate why workers must stay on the job as many hours per week as possible. It will show why greater production can mean a definite saving of American lives and materially shorten the war.

Tonight's broadcast, to be aired from 9 to 9:30 over W-G-N, will tell the dramatic story of a vast, 75 acre plant, which was built almost overnight from a tumbledown ghost town in Hegewisch.

BLAME WIRING IN BARRINGTON ACADEMY BLAZE

Julius Geary, chief of the Lake Zurich fire department, yesterday attributed the fire that Saturday night destroyed the main building of the Barrington Military academy near Barrington to defective wiring in the 100 year old building. The frame structure, once owned by Mrs. Alice Kimberly, a niece of President Theodore Roosevelt, who had been a guest there, was completely destroyed, despite efforts of the fire departments of Barrington, Lake Zurich, and Wauconda to extinguish the blaze. Damage was estimated at $85,000. The approximately 20 cadets who were in the school when the fire broke out were aroused by Col. Charles P. West, principal of the academy, before the flames gained much headway.

AUTO REPORTED STOLEN.

Chicago Medical Center to Be Topic at City Club

The Chicago Medical center will be discussed at a luncheon of the City club in the La Salle Hotel today by Walter J. Kelly, business director of the Medical Center commission, and E. Todd Wheeler, the commission's director of planning.

Stars in Chicago

ELAINE REILLY.

Janice Paige, young film star, came to Chicago yesterday in her first trip east of the Rockies. She said she had never experienced such cold weather. With her were Dennis Morgan and Alan Hale. All of them are going east for hospital shows, then to Macon, Ga., for a movie premiere.

Elaine Reilly, red haired starlet—who modestly asked, "Why, how did you know who I was?"—also stopped off on her way to New York to see a friend, Dick Martin, open in a Broadway play.

Jimmy Dunn, star of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," passed thru on his way to New York and Philadelphia for the picture's opening. Edna Rush of the cast also passed thru on the way to New York.

New Cut in Use of Gas Ordered in Eastern Area

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—The office of war utilities announced tonight that the Appalachian area is in the grip of another gas crisis and appealed to the public to burn less. Gas companies cut off six classes of industrial users today to save large amounts of gas, leaving only class 7, the most vital of war plants, not yet affected.

PRIZE PLUM RIPE FOR UAW: 25,000 HARVESTER JOBS

Joseph Weber, organizational director of the communist dominated United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers' union, spent the week-end in preparation to repel if possible a membership raid expected to be launched this week against his organization in Chicago by the United Automobile Workers' union.

UAW officials have been moved here from Detroit to enlist an estimated 25,000 farm equipment members employed in the four shops of the International Harvester company. R. J. Thomas, international president of the auto workers, is expected to take direct charge of the drive. The organization wound up a drive in Peoria yesterday with a huge rally at which Richard T. Frankensteen, vice president, was the principal speaker.

Success of the drive there was indicated by figures showing the auto workers had enlisted more than 9,500 new members at the Caterpillar Tractor company plant, a UFE-WMU stronghold.

Weber hastily summoned more than 200 shop stewards to a special meeting Saturday to warn them to be on guard against uprisings similar to those which precipitated the general rebellion in Peoria.

GREEKS LISTING GOODS WANTED FROM AMERICA

ATHENS, Feb. 18 [Reuters].—The conference between Greek ministers, representatives of UNRRA, and industrialists has resulted in a preliminary list of raw materials to be requested from America for the restoration of Greek industry.

For the first three months, the Greeks want 67,000 tons of primary raw materials for all branches of industry and 300,000 tons of auxiliary material.

The Bank of Greece is beginning to finance the return to production of Greek industry. In the Piraeus region alone 215 factories are at a standstill thru lack of materials.

NOTE—From time to time, in this paper, there will appear an article which we hope will be of interest to our fellow Americans. This is an extra article of a series.

SCHENLEY DISTILLERS CORP., NEW YORK

Amplification

An analysis of figures recently released, showing the expenditures for alcoholic beverages during the year 1944 by the American public, makes very interesting reading to those who are accustomed to perusing figures these days. The statement in question needs to be broken down, however, to make it fully understandable, and an analysis throws considerable illumination. For instance:

American consumers of distilled spirits, beer and wines contributed over two billion dollars in Federal taxes and, in addition, more than a half-billion went into State and local treasuries. This was more than double the pre-war Federal revenues collected in 1941 and the State and local taxes represented, roughly, an eight per cent. increase over 1943 collections. This shows us clearly that a very large percentage of the money spent for alcoholic beverages did not find its way into the coffers of producers, wholesalers or retailers. It went for taxes.

An analysis also reveals that, despite the large increase in tax collections, the per capita consumption of distilled spirits, such as whiskey, gin, etc., showed no change in 1944 as against the pre-war year of 1941. We see, too, that a portion of consumer expenditures for all alcoholic beverages included also part of the cost of service and entertainment provided in many establishments where these beverages are sold by the drink. For example, in many places, such as restaurants, hotels and cafes, the price of the drink included part of the cost of such services.

This explanation would not be entirely complete if we did not remind our readers that the rise in Federal revenues and the accompanying higher cost to consumers are obviously the results of increased taxes. For instance, in January, 1941, the tax on whiskey was three dollars a tax gallon; on October 1st of the same year it was increased to four dollars; on November 1, 1942, the tax was again increased to six dollars and on April 1, 1944, it was once more raised—again by fifty per cent.—to nine dollars a tax gallon. Remember, it takes three gallons to make a case of twelve quarts.

And may we again remind you that the American whiskey available today, either straight or blended with neutral spirits, is not "wartime" whiskey. It was produced in peacetime. Distillers ceased making whiskey on October 8, 1942. With the exception of two periods of a month each, August, 1944, and January, 1945, for twenty-two consecutive months, the industry devoted all of its distilling facilities to the making of precious alcohol for war use—and now, since February 1st, it has resumed its total wartime job.

HAS 3 SISTERS HERE.

Relatives of Pvt. Thomas J. DiMarco, 33, an army engineer, who last lived at 2155 Fulton st., had had no word of him for more than a year before the war department informed them he had been liberated from the Japanese at Manila. Pvt. DiMarco, a painter and decorator, enlisted in May, 1940. He has three sisters.

Staff Sgt. Edwin C. Raynor, 23, is a nephew of Capt. John A. Sabo, former Gary city controler, now with the allied military government in Germany.

Staff Sgt. Frank Harangody, 26, was a mechanic with the 21st pursuit squadron in the Philippines before he was taken prisoner, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harangody, 1421 Fischrupp av., Whiting, said last night.

MOTHER OFFERS TO LET KIDNAPER ADOPT HER BABY

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 18 [Special].—When tall, attractive Melba Branson, 19, wife of an army officer, walks into court tomorrow to go on trial for kidnaping a 2 month old baby from a down town hotel, Jan. 9, she will be carrying the baby in her arms and will tell the court she has its mother's promise that she may adopt the child.

This was learned today when Mrs. Velma McGill, 19, the mother, who has previously maintained she wanted Mrs. Branson sent to prison for the kidnaping and testified against her at a preliminary hearing and before a grand jury, said she now wants Mrs. Branson to have the baby. She has changed her mind, she said, because her own home has been broken up and she believes the Bransons will give the child a better home than she can.

Leniency to Be Asked.

Mrs. McGill said she will go to court with Mrs. Branson and make a personal appeal to the judge for leniency for Mrs. Branson. Yesterday Mrs. McGill filed suit to divorce the baby's father, C. A. McGill, and stated in her petition she wants custody of the child to be awarded to Mrs. Branson.

Two persons expressed indignation over the turn of events. One of them was McGill and the other Dist. Atty. Al Clyde, who is in charge of prosecution of the kidnaping charge.

"That woman can't have my baby without a court fight," asserted McGill. He said he does not plan to oppose his wife's divorce suit and will not seek custody of the child himself. He would not object, he added, to the baby being taken by some person other than Mrs. Branson.

"The state will be ready for trial," Clyde announced. "If they think this will keep us from trying this case, they're crazy."

Bransons Jubilant.

Lt. C. E. Branson, gunnery instructor at the Laredo army air field, who is here to help in his wife's defense, said both he and his wife are jubilant at the prospect of adopting the baby. Mrs. Branson lost her own baby about a month before the kidnaping.

The kidnaping followed an unsuccessful attempt by Mrs. Branson to persuade Mrs. McGill to accept clothes and educational aid for the child, Mrs. Branson explaining she wanted to do something for the baby because "it was the prettiest baby I ever saw." She took the baby from Mrs. McGill's hotel room on the pretext of showing it to a woman in another room.

The baby was found abandoned the next day in a San Antonio bus station about 200 miles away, with a note giving the mother's address pinned to a blanket. Mrs. Branson was arrested a week later in Laredo and she admitted the kidnaping.

For the last few days, it was learned, Mrs. McGill has been living with Mrs. Branson's parents in their home here.

BABY FOUND DEAD IN BED.

ARMY NAMES 2,521 SOLDIERS HURT IN ACTION

85 from Chicago and Its Vicinity Listed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—The war department today made public the names of an additional 2,521 United States soldiers wounded in action, including 85 men from Chicago and its vicinity.

Casualties reported from Europe are not designated, but those occurring in other areas are identified by initials—A. for Asiatic, C. P. for Central Pacific, M. for Mediterranean and S. W. P. for Southwest Pacific.

Next of kin have been kept informed of any changes that may have occurred in the status of casualties since this list was compiled, the war department reports.

Miss Harriett Washburn, 23, who has been arrested in Philadelphia, Pa., as an alleged deserter from the women's army corps. Police said she admitted living in Philadelphia since leaving a WAC training center at Fort Des Moines, Ia., last summer.

A. W. O. L. PRIVATE CAUGHT WEARING OFFICER'S GARB

Pvt. Edwin C. Yetman, 24, of Marianna, Fla., was arrested Saturday night by military police in a room at the Drake hotel where he was registered under the name Lt. Edward Davis. When arrested, Yetman wore the uniform and insignia of a first lieutenant.

An army public relations officer said Yetman had been absent without leave from a paratroop unit at Camp Forrest, Tenn., since last June, and probably would be returned there for military trial. The officer said Yetman admitted he had been posing as a first lieutenant in cities thruout the country.

Military police were unable to determine how Yetman had obtained funds for his travels or his stay at the Drake.

TRACTION BILL FOR CHICAGO AREA SPEEDED

Preparation of legislation to establish the metropolitan transit authority for Chicago and Cook county will proceed this week with all possible speed, Gov. Green said yesterday. It will be tagged as an emergency measure to have it ready for referendum June 4. The plan was announced jointly Saturday by the governor and Mayor Kelly.

Writing the bill will mean consideration of numerous details not covered in the statement of general principles issued by the governor and the mayor. Among them will be provision for protection of investors in the revenue certificates with which the proposed authority would buy the surface and elevated lines and finance operation of the system.

One of Several Details.

"That is one of several details omitted from our statement because they still are to be worked out in definite form," said the governor. "Of course, investors will be protected and the terms will be stated in the bill. I presume they will be given the same protection granted investors in any similar forms of securities.

"Mayor Kelly and I believe these certificates will be especially attractive. They are not only tax exempt, but the transportation properties themselves will be free of taxes. That meets one of the usual objections to public ownership. There will be no burden of taxes saddled onto the people."

The character of the seven members of the board planned to administer the proposed authority is expected to enhance the value of the certificates in the eyes of investors, the governor said.

Would Serve Seven Years.

Four members are to be named by the mayor and three by the governor, but they must be mutually acceptable to both. It is planned the board members would serve seven year terms, with one being replaced each year.

Gov. Green and Mayor Kelly said they had agreed to appoint citizens of outstanding character and ability, and to support provisions in the law to guarantee appointments on fitness in the future.

"We intend to keep free of politics," said the governor. "The men we select will merit the confidence of the public and investors."

The Daley-Harris Bill.

Sen. Daley [D., Chicago], senate minority leader, who will introduce the transit bill in the upper house, said yesterday he thought the measure probably would be ready next week. Rep. Harris [R., Lincoln], house majority leader, will father the measure in his chamber, and it will be known as the Daley-Harris bill.

An ordinance to enfranchise the county-wide system in Chicago will go before the council soon, Mayor Kelly said. Local governments in the suburban area have the right to act on the proposed authority as they wish.

While a referendum is not required legally, it will be provided for in the bill as a matter of consideration for public opinion, Gov. Green said.

RED CROSS FUND GROUP TO VIEW DRIVE PROGRAM

Leaders of the business divisions of the Red Cross war fund campaign, which will open March 1, will review a program of promotion at 6:30 p. m. today in the Blackstone hotel.

A dramatic version of the drive will be presented by John Neblett and Miss Judith Tom under the direction of John H. Platt, promotion chairman. They will repeat the performance tomorrow night when chairmen of other divisions of the campaign assemble in the hotel.

Martin H. Kennelly, drive chairman, predicted yesterday that division leaders and workers in the Chicago area, including Cook and Du Page counties and the southern half of Lake county, will exceed their quota of $11,300,000 by March 31, when the campaign will close.

5,726 Enrolled at U. of I. for Second Semester

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 18 [Special].—A total of 5,726 civilians are enrolled for the second semester at the University of Illinois. The figure, announced today, does not include upper-class men enrolled in the college of engineering. A year ago 4,444 civilians enrolled for the second semester.

SHERIFF GETS 7 SLOT MACHINES IN WHEELING

Seven slot machines were found in operation in three restaurants in the village of Wheeling yesterday by a squad of sheriff's police led by Chief John J. McGinnis. The machines were confiscated and the restaurant owners booked to appear in Morton Grove court Wednesday. The places raided and the owners were: Hartman house, Robert Hartman; Union hotel, Felix Rogalski, and the Chicago House, Arthur Moller. In the Hartman house, Chief McGinnis reported, three machines were set up in a back room off the kitchen. The other places had two machines each.

with the Art Institute of Chicago

Settings for the American Way, past and present...fascinating to all whose hobbies are—home—art—history—architecture—interior decoration—miniatures—photography ☆ We invite you to a remarkable showing of pictures—but what pictures! Not the familiar two-dimensional type you see in movies, but three-dimensional shots in which every object stands out in round, apparently solid form, and in glowing accurate color. This modern miracle is thrilling in itself, but the subject matter of these pictures is absorbing, too, for they show Mrs. Thorne's famous Miniature Rooms, owned by the Art Institute of Chicago ☆ You will see as vividly as if you were there a room from Mount Pleasant ...lovely Mount Vernon...Kenmore where Washington's sister lived...Carter's Grove, where dragoons rode up the great stairs...the kitchen of the Governor's palace at Williamsburg...Andrew Jackson's beautiful Hermitage. And you'll glimpse fascinating bypaths—a quaint, dainty Shaker room...a Pennsylvania Dutch interior...a Monterey-Victorian room showing how the wives of Yankee captains blended New England tradition with Spanish architecture. To add to your enjoyment, a running commentary will be given by Miss Ruth Kain, based on material specially prepared by Meyric R. Rogers, Curator of Decorative Arts at the Art Institute of Chicago.

HISTORY REPEATS.

When the Yalta decisions disposing of the future of Europe were announced by three men, none of whom was, strictly speaking, a European, the Polish government in exile at London made public a statement of great dignity and deep sorrow. Once again the world heard a cry of anguish wrung from the soul of a dispossessed nation, and thus at its birth the brave new world that was to bring everlasting peace was ushered in with the gasp of death.

It is an old story—old and tragic. Before Neville Chamberlain proclaimed "peace for our time" after Munich, "peace" had been obtained on the terms of Yalta when the statesmen of Europe assented ignobly to the Italian conquest of Ethiopia. There was an international security organization charged with keeping the peace of the world those days, too. It was called the league of nations. Remember?

Three weeks before the fascist invasion of Ethiopia began, Samuel Hoare, the British spokesman at Geneva, proclaimed to the league assembly, "The league stands, and my country stands with it, for the collective maintenance of the covenant in its entirety, and particularly for steady and collective resistance to all acts of unprovoked aggression." Pierre Laval followed for France: "France is faithful to the league covenant. She cannot fail in her obligations." So later, while their countries and the league did nothing to stop Mussolini's Black Shirts in Africa, these gentlemen proved their faith by acquiescing to the Italian conquest, but in return they sought a voice for their own countries in Ethiopia's affairs.

Ethiopia was conquered, and on May 12, 1938, the funeral began at the 101st meeting of the league council ir Geneva. There was an uninvited guest—Haile Selassie, the exiled emperor of Ethiopia. Does what he said there have a familiar ring?

"In October, 1935," said the Lion of Judah, "the 52 nations that are listening to me today gave assurance that the aggressor would not triumph, that the resources of the covenant would be employed to insure the reign of right and the failure of violence. . . . In that struggle I was the defender of the cause of all small states exposed to the greed of a powerful neighbor. . . . Apart from the kingdom of the Lord, there is not on this earth any nation that is superior to any other. . . . It is international morality that is at stake. . . . God and history will remember your judgment."

The United States was not a party to this shameless betrayal. It was not a member of the league. Nor was it a party to the Munich sellout or the league betrayal of September, 1938, when Czechoslovakia was placed on the slave block to insure "peace for our time." On the 21st of that month, Maxim Litvinov, the soviet foreign minister, whose country could feel virtuous when it contemplated the default of the British, the French, and the rest of Europe, addressed the league assembly and voiced some reflections on the refusal of the great peace organization to stop Hitler's aggression.

"A fire brigade," he remarked sardonically, "was set up in the innocent hope that by some lucky chance there would be no fire. Things turned out rather differently. Fires have broken out in defiance of our hopes."

Scenes change, but the spirit of Geneva and Munich survives. There is a new place name—Yalta. Instead of the league of nations, there is the Dumbarton Oaks world organization, to be charged as was its predecessor with gaining "peace for our time." Once again there is the dignity and the despair of the victim passing into slavery.

"The decisions of the three power conference," said the Polish government in London, "were prepared and taken not only without participation and authorization of the Polish government but also without their knowledge. The method adopted in the case of Poland is a contradiction of elementary binding principles and constitutes a violation of the letter and spirit of the Atlantic Charter and the right of every nation to defend its own interests."

Does not that somehow sound familiar? Can you recognize the voice of a dying people? Well, no matter. We shall not have the cynical league of nations, with its duplicity and betrayals. We shall have the brave new world of Dumbarton Oaks, brought into existence with such a signal example of justice and international morality. The United States, which was no party to the rape of Manchuria and Ethiopia and Czechoslovakia, recognizes its new international responsibilities. It will no longer remain aloof. It will send its President to Yalta to sell a small nation into bondage.

THE EASTERN LEAGUE.

The Atlanta Constitution, commenting editorially on the nomination of Henry Wallace and the ousting of Jesse Jones, observes: "To our way of thinking, the most significant aspect of the change . . . is that the resignation of Jones leaves the south without representation in the cabinet, and [James] Byrnes' long delayed return to private life will mean that not a single southerner holds a top ranking office in the entire Roosevelt administration."

The Constitution attributes this disposition to slight the south to the New Deal's confidence that that section is "sure" when it comes to voting. The editorial remarks: "The Republican party, according to Washington sources, is interested in building anew. If it approaches the matter intelligently, there is genuine indication that its efforts to effectuate an organization in the south will meet with a more sympathetic acceptance than has ever been the case heretofore. The south, tired of being the nation's stepchild, is evidencing increased interest in the two party system. If the solid south' is no longer solid in 1948, the Democratic party will have only itself to blame."

It is encouraging to find an awareness developing in the south to the truth of a contention that THE TRIBUNE has advanced many times. There is a real community of political interest between the south and the west. It goes far beyond the superficial but symptomatic matter of cabinet representation. We think that the political, economic, and social radicalism of the New Deal is as distasteful to the south as it is in this region. Only a mistaken loyalty to old political labels has kept the south in allegiance to the New Deal this long. It is for the south and west to make common cause. If a new party designation will hasten the day, we're for it.

The composition of the Roosevelt cabinet itself is sufficient evidence that the Roosevelt party is not a national party. Instead of calling itself the Democratic party, it ought to be known as the Eastern league, or, more accurately still, the New York league.

The President himself is a New Yorker. So are six of his secretaries: Stimson, war; Forrestal, navy; Stettinius, state; Perkins, labor; Morgenthau, treasury, and Walker, postmaster general. Ickes, interior, is an easterner, a Maryland squire, who doesn't even pay his proper Chicago taxes. Biddle, justice, is a Philadelphian. Wickard, agriculture, is nominally from Indiana, but 12 years of the New Deal have made him another easterner. The same can be said of Wallace.

Both the south and the west are unrepresented in the administration, which is an eastern seaboard coalition reflecting eastern attitudes and interests, and neglectful of the rest of the country. The Republican party, which has been run for the last two elections as a New Deal house account, often looks like just another branch of the Roosevelt Eastern league. As its candidates in 1940 and 1944 it has had foisted on it a Wall street lawyer and a New York politician.

The south and west had better get together, and that quickly, or they will find themselves relegated to territorial status by a predominant east. The reunion can't happen too soon.

THEY STILL CALL IT PLANNING.

There isn't anything in the census of meat animals on farms, just released by the department of agriculture, that housewives can't surmise from the lugubrious faces of their butchers. All the government statisticians can add is that things are going to get worse.

The report shows that there are 28 per cent fewer hogs on farms than there were a year ago. The decrease of more than 22 millions is the greatest in the history of the country in one year. Ordinarily farmers adjust pig production to the amount of feed they have. This year that is not true. The supply of feed per animal unit is the highest in 20 years, and 27 per cent higher than a year ago.

The war has given an excuse to put tighter government controls on agriculture, business, and manufacturing than this country has ever known before. It has been made a field day for the advocates of the planned society. The keystone of the arguments put forward by these pretentious little ignoramuses is that if they have their way the waste of the free enterprise system, with its alternate surpluses and shortages, will be eliminated. There will always be enough, never too much.

Let's see how the New Deal master minds have made out with pork, the production of which is one of the simpler processes of animal husbandry. Two years ago the planners decided that meat production should be stimulated. They were full of ideas about feeding Europe. So they offered farmers a guaranteed price for their hogs.

The guarantee produced record pig crops in the fall of 1943 and last spring. Then it became apparent that there was a shortage of feed.

Another sect in the planning hierarchy, meanwhile, had fixed the price of corn so low that it was far more profitable to convert it into meat on the farm where it was produced than to sell it for cash. This immediately crippled the operations of the more expert cattle and hog feeders, who habitually use more feed than they raise themselves. They had to rush their stock to market, regardless of whether it was properly fattened.

The feed shortage started a run on, or rather to, the stock yards. Soon they were getting more hogs than the packing houses could handle. Then the hog raisers discovered that the Washington planners had tricked them. There was a guaranteed price on hogs, but it applied only on those weighing 270 pounds or less. There was a surplus of lard. The so-called government weights were the planners' scheme for reducing the surplus.

The market was glutted with hogs. The overweight hogs soon were selling far below the guaranteed price. Many a farmer found that he got from $4 to $7 less for a 271 pound hog than he did for its litter mate weighing two pounds less. Since the capacity of the packing houses was limited, there frequently were no bidders for government weight hogs, on which the price had been fixed.

Embargoes stopped hog shipments, but the farmers had to go on feeding their hogs. The more they fed them the fatter they got, and the fatter they got the less they were worth. You can't put a hog on a reducing diet.

An interesting sidelight on the lard problem is that while last year storage vats were overflowing with lard, this year there is a shortage.

This year the farmers find it advantageous to raise grain, not hogs, tho we already have a grain surplus. Grain prices have been guaranteed for two years after the war. Even if nobody will buy their corn, the farmers can borrow 90 per cent of the parity price from the government. They get the money and the taxpayers get the corn.

The planners are happy because they have got the economic processes of the country so thoroly messed up that they think we shall have to let them go on planning for us after the war.

FASHIONS FOR CONFERENCES.

President Roosevelt's traveling mantle, conspicuously exhibited in news photographs of the Yalta conference, has caused some lifting of eyebrows among the plain people. Their eyes have not been accustomed to such raiment, in this decade of drab dressers, except among minor prophets of the arts and senile owners of moth-eaten Inverness capes. They crave for enlightenment on the style that the President has adopted.

An editorial writer on an afternoon paper has called this garment a naval cape, but Marcia Winn, who belongs to a navy family, finds this phrase lacking in technical precision. She says that the President has draped himself in a boat cloak, according to a tradition of ship's officers.

In this war we haven't seen a boat cloak on view between Great Lakes station and Navy pier, which is a long stretch of coast, and perhaps this number does not figure in contemporary uniform requirements. But many a time, in tales of the sea, we have read about officers, both navy and merchant marine, going ashore in boat cloaks. The garment has centuries of background, and its purpose is to protect the uniform from briny spray.

* * *

The garment is a cloak because it is longer than a cape and doesn't fit tightly around the neck, like an Inverness. But it gets no mention in the three glossaries of sea terms on our book shelves, and we cannot find it in Webster's biggest dictionary. The latter, however, cites "boat cape," without a definition.

* * *

The President's cap, worn in chummy conversations with Churchill at Malta, is a standard item for golfers and travelers, altho somewhat neglected in this era of bareheaded sun-tanners. No human countenance was ever improved by this Scotch invention, whose chief merit is that it shades the eyes and resists the wind. For improvement we recommend cutting the front mushroom of cloth free from the visor, to which it is stitched. A rakish, free-and-easy effect is obtained, and the lid then sits more easily upon the dome.

NIGHT OWL.

When I turn in at half past eight,
To catch up on my sleep,
A million ewes I count, then rise
As weary as the sheep.

But let me stay up 'til all hours,
Say 4 a. m. or 5,
I slip right off to dreams, then wake
Alert, refreshed, alive.

The early bird's an eager oaf,
It's much more fun to prowl
The midnight hours thru haunted shelves—
I should have been an owl.

I should have been an owl (this life
Is such a shallow sham);
I should have been an owl . . . hoo-hoo—
Hoo knows? Perhaps I am!

How to See Wild Things.

Grandpaw learnt me a lot about wild things. Taught me to slip thru the woods without steppin' on twigs or makin' a rustle. We found a whippoorwill nest one time when the she-bird flew off, only it wasn't a nest at all, just one splotched brown egg settin' there in the dead leaves on the ground. If you looked away you couldn't hardly find it again.

He'd make me lie plumb still on the bank of a pond near a muskrat house for mebbe an hour. The skeeters would bite you an' the ants an' bugs would crawl up inside your overhauls, but you dassn't scratch or move a muscle. After a long time the wild things would come out an' recommence to go about their bizness. The longer you set, the more you saw. Once a muskrat come right up out of the water, creepin' closer an' closer with his nose a-twitchin', an' smelt of my fingers.

We was settin' on a down log one time, watchin' a pair of beaver gnawin' down a aspen tree, when a yearlin' deer come mincin' up the trail. The wind was toward us, so she got close 'fore she spied us. She froze like a rock. Pretty soon she commenced stompin' her front feet. All of a sudden she whirled an' went like a flash, with her white flag up, for 20 rod an' then stopped to watch us. Pretty soon, step by step, back she came till she was only 20 feet away. She'd stomp an' stomp, an' then she'd whirl away again. Did that over an' over till a beaver out in the lake musta winded us an' hit the water a terrible slap with his broad tail. That time she went for keeps.

ESSENCE OF THE HEART.

O Lord, the essence of my heart is praise,
Crushed from the petals of my greatest joys—
Sweet blooms of every joy and happiness.
But it is tinctured by the bitter herbs
Of loss, of sorrow, and of heartache, Lord;
Of disappointments, and of thwarted hope;
And yet, they are a fraction of the whole.
For happiness has been my garden, Lord;
All redolent with fragrance of its flowers . . .
The sum and total of my thankfulness
Is in the essence of my heart, O Lord:
Accept the fragrance of my offering.

No. Accumulate all the credits you can during your service, and if the institution you later attend is willing to give you credit for such work, you are just that much farther ahead.

A waiver is merely an acknowledgment of a certain condition known to exist at the time. It does not relieve the government of all responsibility.

HOW TO KEEP WELL
by Dr. Irving S. Cutter

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.]

SMALLPOX VACCINATION CANNOT BE NEGLECTED.

ONE of the best newspaper reporters of all time was Daniel Defoe. Not only do we read and re-read his Robinson Crusoe but we return again and again to his "A Journal of the Plague Year," wherein he set forth the experience of the inhabitants of London with a fearsome pestilence. He wrote entirely from such records as he was able to gather because the epidemic had long passed before he attempted to put pen to paper.

We have lived for so long in comparative freedom from dreadful visitations of this sort that we must not forget the tendency the disease exhibits—namely, to go on a rampage. The price of prevention, and hence security, is eternal vigilance.

Ever since the discovery of William Jenner that cowpox inoculation would protect against smallpox, the world has been a safer place in which to live. In the century between 1700 and 1800 A. D., over 60 million Europeans succumbed to smallpox. In addition, many who survived were deeply pitted, sometimes with distorted features. The historian Macaulay called the affliction "the most terrible of the ministers of death"; while Ben Johnson termed it "an envious and foul disease."

Vaccination is simple, with very little risk. Nevertheless, complacency may lull us into a sense of unconcern which is wholly unwarranted. If we omit 'mmunization for a generation, we will be confronted with decimating epidemics on every hand.

Dr. Jenner's achievement came about because he refused to ignore an old wives' tale. A theory had been handed down in Gloucestershire, from father to son, and mother to daughter, that dairymaids who contracted cowpox resisted the more dangerous malady. One of the real heroes of the occasion, a boy by the name of James Phipps, submitted to vaccination. He developed a typical scab, and a few weeks later, was exposed to an actual case of smallpox. Nothing happened.

Jenner repeated this procedure over and over until he became convinced that the method was a success. He published his original description in 1798 and became famous overnight.

But, despite the simplicity of the plan, we may overlook the fact that the great army of lives which enter the world each year will require protection. Complications may arise occasionally but the infinitesimal hazard is more than justified. The subject must be kept alive and placed before the public every now and then—"lest we forget."

Those who have been safeguarded can lose their immunity just as they can wear out shoes, gloves, or any other article of clothing. This means that the measure will need to be repeated periodically. With all newborn babies, the family doctor can select the proper interval.

Many of us are old enough to recall the day when we encountered a score or more of pockmarked faces, as we walked a few blocks along a crowded street. Such examples today are rare. We say that we are living in an enlightened age. Let's prove it by doing our share in preventive hygiene. Every unvaccinated person is a likely victim, should the ailment become rife.

Just Wondering.

Feeling a little smug these days because your personal problems seem to be working themselves out, the cigaret shortage isn't as bad as you thought, and Some One sent you a valentine after all? Come, come with us on a brief journey to the back pages of the Saturday Review of Literature. We will show you the world in its true, bitter aspect and in the very best English.

These cheerful pages are devoted to those advertisments known as personals. Skip the one offering you a Bank of England chair cheap. Why trifle with a chair? If the economists' reports are true you can pick up the entire Bank of England for a song next year. Skip the gentleman who offers himself for rent with the beguiling words, "Baritone, fine voice, magnetic presence, good buy." He undoubtedly will sing in the bedroom that opens on the alley and you will be out one home. Skip the gentleman who says he can show you how to be the life of the party by shoving a two inch solid wood arrow thru a half inch solid metal washer. Any one can be the life of a party. The only flaw today is finding the party. Skip the tempting offer, "Information discreetly developed; any matter, person, problem; international facilities." Yalta is global, not international. It is also Russian. Skip the brusk demand for "Doggy person, to care for two very small dogs occasional evenings." This is war, isn't it? Skip the part-time cook in search of "well adjusted, non-neurotic, childless, professional couple." She is routine. And you might as well skip the gabby soul who writes, "Now it can be told. Wendell Willkie was thinking neither of the Republican party nor the Democratic party!" After all, is that news?

Skip these delights and come to the most exquisitely phrased lonely heart department in America, where a young man, obviously stuffy, says he wants to correspond "with a young woman who combines intelligence, intellectuality, subtlety, profundity, and a certain degree of spirituality without being stuffy about it." [Our unsolicited advice on that polysyllabic wolf, young ladies, is steer clear of him. It is difficult to carry a dictionary and a harp at the same time.]

These lonely ones are so modest it wrings your heart. Ponder for a moment over, "Esthetic pragmatist seeks provocation in both spiritual and earthbound mores. A delightful introvert-extrovert with love of writing, poetry, drama, desires interesting female correspondence." Or, "Terrifically socially conscious active couple would like diverting letters. No pamphlets or causes, please." [The snobs.] Or, "Delightful lady interested in world-wide evangelism would be pleased to correspond with a gentleman interested in world-wide evangelism."

These are lonely, but determined that none of their virtues shall be withheld, but the height of esotericism and confused desire seems to be expressed by the young man who advertises, "Despondent over having no one to whom to write poetry asks charming, receptive reader, likewise despondent." [Come into the tomb with me, O wilting lily.]

The S. R. L. comes once a week. Our copy belies its name and comes on Tuesday. A month ago our favorite personal appeared: "Is there a gentleman of the old school left who would enjoy pleasant corespondence [sic] with widow, cultured and interesting? Just wondering . . . that's all."

Every Tuesday night for three weeks we raced home to see if the lady had changed her plea, omitted her plea, or was still a wistful, cultured lady yearning to stray. For three weeks it was there, unchanged. The fourth Tuesday it was gone. Did she find some one or did she just give up? Or is she now trying a different medium? Just wondering . . . that's all.

JOE WON.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—Regardless of who "presided" over the parley, Stalin got what he wanted. For military collaboration in the war against Germany—war that Russia helped to precipitate—she has gained the political control over Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Yugoslavia, and Bulgaria, a total of more than 100 million Europeans imbued with western traditions and culture. To the vast majority of these people the Russian variety of totalitarian rule is as oppressive and obnoxious as was the German brand. In not one of these partly or fully "liberated" countries is there more freedom today than there was under the German occupation.

The idea, for example, that a commission sitting in Moscow can influence Russian tactics in Poland occupied by soviet troops and ruled by Polish-Russian Communists is ridiculous. Under such circumstances what chance does a Pole from Poland with a grievance have of reaching Moscow at all to present his case? If the intentions of the Big Three were sincere, why was not the inter-allied commission on Poland ordered to reside in Warsaw where it logically belongs?

Those Americans who rejoice over this unique triumph of Rooseveltian diplomacy should remember that the Yalta settlement constitutes but the first instalment paid to Russia, in other people's goods, for services rendered. The second will follow in Asia after Russia selects the proper moment to aid in the administration of the coup de grace to Japan. When all the instalments are in, Russia will have very little use for Dumbarton Oaks, Bretton Woods, or other schemes sprouting in our President's brain. She will have a well oiled organization of her own.

PROPOSES AN AMERICAN PARTY.

Albion, Mich., Feb. 8.—I read with interest your editorial, "The Divided Democrats," Feb. 3. It is true that a strong party could be made if the anti-New Dealers and the Republicans would come together under one name, say, "The American party." Neither group could feel dishonored or lowered by that name.

While I am not one to believe that a rose would smell as sweet by any other name, yet I do believe that the "divided Democrats" and the Republicans would have better savor if they merged into the American party.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Would the Roosevelt family consider it treasonable for us to suggest we could save a lot more than 130,000 tons of coal by increasing the flow of lake water thru the river and operating the idle generators at Lockport to capacity? Or is this "brown-out" a punishment being visited upon us for our sins against the New Deal?

NURSERIES FOR WAR WORKERS' CHILDREN.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—I read of the OCD's effort to get more people to help in the war nurseries. I am a war worker in a large defense plant and my husband is overseas. Before the nursery in our neighborhood was opened, we worked for months to get it established. When it finally opened, we were very happy. But we notice that in bad weather, couples drive up in big cars, in fur coats, and diamonds, and get their children, then drive off home.

This nursery service is supposed to be for working mothers, so apparently both wives and husbands are working, and having the advantage of paying only $3 a week for six days. Still, the OCD tells us they must turn away children, and, as I personally know, among them the children of service men's wives who are trying to earn their daily living. It seems to me that any family where both the husband and wife are working could afford private service.

WAR MOTHER.

BUYING OFF STALIN.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—With the fall of Germany, it is obvious that debt burdened America will expect and insist on huge reductions in land-lease. Otherwise, we will Santa Claus ourselves into inevitable bankruptcy, and the last bright hope for this tortured world, a strong, sound, free America, will no longer exist.

Under an unprecedented barrage of New Deal propaganda, and hidden by the roseate fog of Dumbarton Oaks, world organizing and hair-shirt internationalism, truth is taking an awful beating these melancholy days. It would seem that what the small nations want is freedom, and not a choice of tyrannies, Nazi or Communist. There is no evidence that Stalin is more susceptible to appeasement and bribery than was Hitler at Munich.

Squandering our strength and substance over the world with cynical disregard for our own safety and well-being will eventually destroy our way of life and our Republic, the finest, freest ever devised by the mind of man.

"Except in clear cases, no action shall be taken against persons who are being trained for combat assignments and have demonstrated a high degree of ability to serve the United States in that manner, including a willingness to accept combat duty."

This directive stands in sharp contrast to the Hatch act which states: "It shall be unlawful for any person employed in any capacity by any agency of the federal government, whose compensation, or any part thereof, is paid from funds authorized or approved by any act of congress, to have membership in any political party or organization which advocates the overthrow of our constitutional form of government in the United States."

The law provides that any such person discovered in government employ shall be removed immediately.

Defined by Biddle.

On May 22, 1942, Atty. Gen. Biddle declared in deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, west coast labor leader:

"The Communist party of the United States of America from the time of its inception in 1919 to the present time is an organization that believes in, advises, advocates, and teaches the overthrow by force and violence of the government of the United States."

In 1942 Biddle attempted to denaturalize a foreign born citizen because he was a member of the Communist party and was allegedly attempting to overthrow the government. The citizen was William Schneiderman, Russian born head of the Communist party in California. The Supreme court upheld his naturalization.

Since the dissolution of the comintern by Dictator Stalin and the dissolution of the Communist party and the substitution by Earl Browder of the Communist Political association, the Communists claim to have shed their aim to overthrow the government.

However, this claim was scouted by members of congress, who emphasized that the Communist Political association is advocating establishment of a dictatorship of the proletariat, which cannot be done in the United States without overthrow of the Constitution.

The new Communist line was announced by Robert Miner, party leader, as: "We know that all of the great founders of scientific socialism affirmed the Marxist view of the dictatorship of the proletariat as the very 'core of that science. . . . So we see the correctness of Lenin's saying: 'A Marxist is one who extends the acceptance of the class struggle to the acceptance of the dictatorship of the proletariat.' "

Can Become Officers Now.

Under the new army directive the following posts, some of them highly confidential, are now opened to Communists:

Officer candidate schools, as candidate.

Security and intelligence duties.

Duties in connection with radar.

Duties in connection with the information, education, and orientation of troops or the educational recondition of troops. [To include training for such duties.]

Headquarters units of companies [or similar units] and higher organizations.

Clerical duties.

G-3 and S-3 duties.

Duty as an operator of signal communication.

Instructor or administrative personnel or replacement depots.

Secrets Open to Them.

Duties affording opportunities to observe confidential or secret equipment closely.

Signal corps units providing communication, signal intelligence, photographic, repair, or depot supply services.

Ordnance units providing ammunition or depot supply services.

Quartermaster units providing gasoline or depot supply services.

Chemical units providing chemical munitions or depot supply services.

Engineer units providing depot supply services.

Duties affording frequent access to secret and confidential matter or opportunity to injure the war effort.

SENATE G. O. P. SEEKS TO VOID WORLD AIR PACT

Challenges Authority of State Department.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—Senate Republicans are moving to force state department withdrawal of American acceptance of the interim international civil aviation agreement.

Sen. White [R., Mo.], minority leader, told a reporter today he will ask the senate foreign relations committee Tuesday to demand that the department rescind its action of Feb. 10 putting into force three executive agreements.

White charged the department had acted without the knowledge of the committee, in violation of a tacit agreement that no steps would be taken until the legislators had more time to study the question.

Sets Up World Council.

"These treaties or agreements raise problems of the greatest consequence to the commercial interests of this country and to our defense," the Maine senator said. "A definite feeling exists on the part of some committee members that the department has not respected the understanding it had with the committee."

The state department's action put into effect, so far as this country is concerned, agreements setting up an international aviation council and providing for virtual "freedom of the skies."

Under their provisions, foreign air lines could bring in and take out passengers and freight, could pick up and leave both at intermediate stops and could make flights across this country without traffic stops.

Holds Action Justified.

However, 26 nations must obligate themselves to the agreements before they become fully effective. White said it was his idea that if they thus had not become permanent, the department could withdraw its approval while congress studies the matter.

In this connection, he asked that Sen. Brewster [R., Me.], a delegate to last year's international aviation meeting in Chicago, be invited to attend the Tuesday committee meeting. Chairman Connally [D., Tex.] said Brewster would be welcome.

Brewster told a reporter he believed the United States was giving away more than it will get in the agreements. It was his contention that many of the matters covered in the executive agreements are subject to treaty action.

Arizona Desert Resort Retaken by Chicagoans

BY JUDITH CASS.

CHICAGOANS who thought longingly of Castle Hot Springs during the three years the desert oasis was closed to all visitors except army flyers will welcome the message sent back last week by a Chicago traveler that "Castle Hot Springs never looked more beautiful."

Since the Castle Hot Springs hotel reopened its doors to the public on New Year's day, many Chicagoans already have flocked to the Arizona resort in search of rest and sunshine. Mr. and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey left Friday to spend a month there. Two days earlier Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Herbst and their daughter, Ruth, set out for a six week sojourn. Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. has opened her home at the resort and is spending the winter there.

The Jeffrey R. Shorts and the Rollin D. Woods will leave Winnetka March 11 for a month in Arizona, and the Charles H. Swifts also are planning a March visit to the southwest. Now concluding a stay at the resort is Mrs. Charles Borland, who is expected to arrive in Chicago Thursday. Mr. Borland returned last week.

The Walter A. Kraffts will leave for Castle Hot Springs in the near future. J. Patrick Lannan has been vacationing at the resort since the first of February, and before he returns to Chicago his wife hopes to join him for 10 days there.

Other Travel Notes.

North and east of Castle Hot Springs is another winter resort, Colorado Springs, Colo., which attracts those in search of snow cooled mountain air instead of warm desert breezes. Recently Mrs. Louise Rehm joined the winter colony at Colorado Springs to be near her son, Charles La Roche, who is a student at the near-by Fountain Valley school.

Some of the young Chicagoans who enjoy winter sports at Colorado Springs between their college classes are Miss Norma and Miss Jean Pollock, Miss Jean Christianson, Miss Dorothy Ann Kempshall, and Miss Shirley Burnett, champion ice skater of Chicago and Illinois.

Engagements Told.

Mrs. H. Durand Parkes of Evanston announces the engagement of her daughter, Joan, to Sgt. Harry B. Smart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Smart, also of Evanston. Miss Parkes, a granddaughter of the late Judge and Mrs. Elbridge Hanecy, is doing government work in Washington, D. C. She expects to enter Stephens college next fall. Sgt. Smart attended the University of Rochester for one year before entering the army.

At an open house last Tuesday evening in Evanston, William Patrick Cagney announced the engagement of his daughter, Rosemary Lucille, to Leo J. Doyle Jr., son of Mr. Doyle of Winnetka. Miss Cagney, who was graduated from the Roycemore school, has been doing volunteer work for the Red Cross. She has four brothers, William, Richard, Donald, and Capt. Frank C. Cagney. Mr. Doyle was graduated from Georgetown university and from De Paul university law school. He is a brother of Lt. John Robert Doyle, on duty with the marine air forces in Pensacola, Fla.; of Miss Nancy Doyle, and of Ensign Marguerite Doyle, who is stationed with the WAVES in Mobile, Ala. The wedding is planned for April 28.

Announcement is made by Mrs. Harry E. White of Winnetka of the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth, to Sgt. Richard D. Riblet of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Riblet of Waukesha, Wis. Miss White is a graduate of Stephens college and Northwestern university. Her fiance attended Illinois Institute of Technology. He recently was home on a 30 day furlough following 33 months of duty in the south Pacific, to which war theater he now has returned.

Today's Events.

Clifton Utley, chairman of the board of the International Relations center, will preside at a lecture and tea which the center and the Speakers' bureau will give at 4:30 p. m. today in the Woodrow Wilson meeting room at 84 E. Pre-War Days Are Recalled by Silk Prints

BY REA SEEGER.

Any silk showing these days recalls the pre-war appreciation of this truly luxury fabric. Nothing that crosses the sensitive fingers of the shopper equals the soft caressing texture of silk. So the current collections of silk—every thread silk—cause a near riot. When the silk is in spring and summer prints, the rush resembles a raid, and the exquisitely fine fabrics are worth it. There's one particular showing that literally takes the breath away, so unusual are the printed designs, so beautiful the colors.

There are the gay flowered prints against soft pastel backgrounds, sensational Chinese color effects, exotic India patterns, and most effective modernistic motifs that will make extraordinarily beautiful summer and spring dresses, to be worn under a thin spring coat, then later without either jacket or coat, with strong colored or white hat, gloves, and bag. Some prints have that lovely fine crinkled crepe texture, others are very smooth, and still others have the coarse, creepy mat that resembles hand woven lengths of one-of-a-kind value. There are huge patterned florals that make for splashy effects against black or dark brown or navy blue.

Smartest of all are the raw silk fabrics, also of coarse, hand woven effect. These have bold big patterns of geometric broken parallelograms and oblongs in such vivid colors as jade green, cerise, cobalt blue, and cinnamon. The background shade is a delightful pale beige neutral. Such fabrics fashion the ideal simple one piece day time dress for sultry summer weather.

Miss Brown Out of Sphere on Concert Stage

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Anne Brown, the magnetic soprano for whom George Gershwin altered the title of "Porgy and Bess" to include the role she created, sang her first recital here at the Civic Opera house yesterday afternoon.

The wisdom of Miss Brown's desertion of the theater for the concert hall was not fully demonstrated. Obviously, theater not only is in her blood, it is in her carriage, her voice, her gestures. Beautiful as she is when she stands alone on an empty stage before a grand piano, she has a personality that cries out for costumes, action, colored lights. Interesting and enjoyable as was much of Miss Brown's recital, she was easily at her best when she cast off the restraining conventions of the concert hall and frankly reinforced her singing with gesture and mimicry.

The singer also was at a disadvantage in having to sing in the cavernous Civic Opera house, for neither her voice nor her personality is of the heroic type which alone can make an impression in this theater. She has, however, made much of a voice that is not naturally remarkable for its color or malleability. It boasts principally a certain soft seductiveness, and within its limitations she makes adroit use of it.

The Sunday afternoon calendar did not permit hearing Miss Brown's lieder, in which she is said to have been coached by Lotte Lehman. Neither Granados' "La Maja Dolorosa" nor De Falla's "Jota" came off with quite the exact flair, and she would have been wiser to have left the Seguidalla from "Carmen" to weightier voices. There was naive charm, however, in her singing of Carpenter's "When I Bring You Colored Toys," and the folk songs from the Kentucky mountains and the Creole country were delightfully uninhibited. Grieg's "A Dream" struck the top vocal mark of our stay, the spirituals were agreeable without being deeply moving, and of course, Gershwin's "Summertime," an encore, bore the authentic trademark. The singer was properly grateful to Otto Seyfert for his helpful accompaniments.

The marimba, we fear, will never become our favorite concert instrument, even when played with as much striking talent as displayed by 13 year old Dolores Spitzer at Kimball hall yesterday afternoon. At first the instrument's soft resonance is mesmeric, but when its inability to sustain a tone except by fluttering repetition of a note begins to resemble the vox humana stop of a theater organ coupled to a slow motion tremolo device, the effect is definitely palling, not to say appalling. Thus the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria" and a Prelude by Pachulsky leaned to the maudlin, whereas when the young virtuosa turned to quick and scampery music, such as Chopin's F major waltz and the latter part of Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriccioso," the ear was tickled and rewarded. Also, in spite of George Seaberg's best efforts in this direction, we suspect the marimba would benefit from the absence of piano accompaniment, not only because of irreconcilable differences of pitch, but because the percussion of the piano hammers tends to nullify that of the marimba's mallets, and vice versa.

Zonta Club of Loop Will Celebrate 20th Birthday Tomorrow

In observance of its 20th anniversary, the Chicago Loop Zonta club will give a dinner at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Crystal ballroom of the Palmer House for its members and guest Zontans from the south side, Oak Park, and Evanston clubs. Dr. Ruth Streitz, professor of education at Ohio State university and a regional chairman of Zonta International, will be here to address the meeting. In her talk, "The Post-War World Is Now," Dr. Streitz will discuss some of the economic and social problems which demand attention from business women. The anniversary program has been arranged by Miss Marye Dahnke and the intercity chairman, Miss Marian Smith. Mrs. Kate Certa will preside.

Pianist Kapell, 22, Amplifies Ravinia Success in His Recital

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

William Kapell, who made a brilliant Ravinia début in 1943, playing the Khachatourian Concerto with Efrem Kurtz and the Chicago Symphony, amplified that success at Orchestra hall yesterday by proving that he has the range, the sensitivity, and the projection to interest an audience in recital. The 22 year old pianist, who once ruefully said his friends called him "Willie Khachatourian Concerto" because no one ever heard him play anything else, chose a program without a Russian in it, save a brief glimpse of the Shostakovich of the insouciant preludes. It was a good program. He had something to say and the means to say it.

Mr. Kapell is slight, with long hands that fit the piano and a dark head that tilts slightly to the right as he edges away from audience contact to concentrate on his own world of music. But he never closes the door of communication. What he plays, as he sits so erect he leans backwards, is an invitation to listen, and yesterday his performance was remarkable not only for what it was, but for what it can be. He has a fine technique, a wide sense of style, an ear for music, and a feeling for its poetry, both lyric and dramatic. No one can stop him but himself.

Altho the Brahms Sonata in F minor, opus 5, was in many ways the high point of the performance, the Bach Partita in C minor was a good beginning. It had a singular lightness and grace without loss of stature, and it understood the texture and flow of the sublimated dance rhythms. Under his fingers it became Bach as Martha Graham would dance it.

But the Brahms was especially interesting, even in choice. This is the early work in five movements which often seems more orchestral than pianistic. Deprived of distinguished performance it can turn ponderous. Mr. Kapell is young and feeling his way. His performance can and will go deeper, but even with the shallow spots it was remarkable. It was essentially Brahmsian, with that brusque touch of the inimical giving authenticity to the dark brilliance that challenged attention. The scherzo was authoritative, and the intermezzo, Kapell at his best, had the true timbre of the tenebrous.

Most memorable of the afterpieces were the Chopin nocturne, superbly played, and Liszt's Mephisto Waltz, a virtuoso finale in macabre light and shade. The Shostakovich and Nin's Spanish dance were deft, but "Soirée dans Grenade" lacked the shimmer of Debussy tone, and the Chopin ballade did not quite come off. Judged by the standards he set himself, Kapell has to rank high.

Saturday night at Orchestra hall the Westminster choir of about 40 voices under the direction of John Finley Williamson donned its red velvet and cream satin vestments and did some intricate but not always enjoyable singing. The national anthem began the concert like a series of explosions. The choir has dexterity and a wide range of volume, but it often sounds strained. The beauty of Bach's "Sing Ye to the Lord" was largely lost in what seemed a harsh solution of a complex problem. Nor was it in the most persuasive choral tradition to reduce Bach's "Komm, Süsses Tod" to a hummed version of Stokowski's arrangement for strings.

Bruno Walter has accepted the invitation of the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra to be its guest conductor Nov. 24 and 25.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Changing Attitudes.

In a conversation with Leonard Taylor, long experienced in training white collar workers, the subject of attitudes came up. It is Mr. Taylor's observation that noticeable changes are becoming apparent among office workers. More thought now is given to the future, he said.

"The time when a girl could walk out one day and find just as good a job the next day isn't going to last," he continued. "The fallacy of just 'getting by' is not so popular. Offices have struggled thru a period when only the exceptional person was sincerely interested in turning out good work. Now the ones merely 'getting by' are beginning to ask themselves, 'Can I hold this job against competition?"—for competition is certain to come."

Another change is encouraging. "The period of ridiculous vandalism," as Mr. Taylor terms it, "is passing—the time when merchandise could be flung around, a typewriter abused, or equipment mistreated." Schools, he believes, can accomplish much to promote constructive attitudes. "They can teach the importance of learning a job thoroly and intelligently," he commented. "And they can teach respect for property."

Jew, Christian Find Common Ground Is Big

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Common religious ground between Judaism and Christianity was explored—and found to be extensive—in synagogue and Christian pulpits of Chicago yesterday. The day opened Brotherhood week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews and formally proclaimed by civic, state, and national authorities.

Among the 200 events signalizing the week, the exchange of pulpits by Rabbi Louis L. Mann of Chicago Sinai congregation and Dr. Harold Ruopp, minister of Central church, Studebaker theater, was outstanding. Dr. Ruopp used a Christian text from the New Testament as he preached before the large congregation of Sinai at K. A. M. temple, Drexel blvd. and 50th st.

The text was from St. Paul-Romans xii., 2: "Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God." Dr. Ruopp applied it to economic and international questions and to problems of democracy as it faces twin enemies in fascism and communism.

Dr. Ruopp, who is president of the Chicago church federation, declared a frontal attack on the two isms would fail, and said that the "democracy in this country comes to life and faces their causes."

"Democracy is not the rule of the majority, but the rights of minorities," he asserted. "It means not freedom from something such as fear, want, regimentation, or tyranny, but freedom for that way of life in which every human being, regardless of creed, class, or color may live with the dignity of the child of God."

Dr. Mann spoke on "Collective Security or Collective Suicide" before Dr. Ruopp's Studebaker theater congregation. He cited affects of modern communication and transportation in reducing the size of the world.

"Brotherhood, once a dream, has become a necessity," he said. "A world that has become physically smaller must necessarily become morally larger."

As to variations of religions thruout the world, Dr. Mann asserted that "religions are many, but religion is one."

Rabbi Benjamin Birnbaum, president of the Chicago Rabbinical association and spiritual leader of Congregation Ner Tamid, was the guest preacher last night at Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church, 4448 Michigan av.

Sally Requests Furniture for Family of Eight

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Perhaps readers on the south side can supply some necessary furniture and household articles for a family of eight, parents and six children. The father, a war worker, has been hospitalized since last November because of an accident. He is not expected to resume work for several months. Recently the family moved from crowded, dingy quarters to a flat in a housing project. Because of the expense involved in the father's care, it has been impossible to provide a few pieces of badly needed furniture for their new home, such as a single bed, two dressers, chairs, and rugs.

An assisting agency will be able to arrange transportation should any of these articles be provided, but donations from persons in the general vicinity would be preferred in order to save cost of cartage.

A city nurse writes in behalf of a young lad, who lives in a desolate area on the outskirts of the city, as follows:

"Dear Miss Brown: I wonder if one of your readers would have a pair of ice skates size 8 for a 15 year old boy. Jim is one of five children and does all he can to help his widowed mother. He has a paper route and had saved enough money over a period of several weeks to buy a pair of long anticipated skates. The urgency of certain household needs made him decide to give the sum to his mother and forgo the purchase. I will call anywhere in the city for a pair." The name and address will be supplied upon request.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 18.—Jimmy Dunn got a going-away present from Darryl Zanuck—"Three Little Girls in Blue"—to be done in technicolor. Two of the little girls will be Carmen Miranda and Martha Stewart, the latter a newcomer from New York's Copacabana, and the third may be Vivian Blaine. . . . Dennis Morgan handed a new contract and "The Time, the Place, and the Girl." Now all they have to do is find the girl. . . . The latest independent quartet, going right ahead making plans, is Paulette Goddard, Burgess Meredith, Dudley Nichols, and Jean Renoir. Paulette has one outside picture a year from Paramount. This will no doubt be done at RKO. . . . Today Bob Cummings and Olivia De Havilland met for the first time since they made "Princess O'Rourke" together. Norman Krasna says he'll write a sequel to that one if they'll sit in on the job. Most of the dialog in "O'Rourke" they ad-libbed.

Good Get-Together with French Visitors.

The Charles Boyers entertained at a round table discussion many distinguished French journalists now touring the U. S. A. The journalists were very frank in their answers to many questions, one of which was, "Were all the factions in France, including the Communists, behind De Gaulle?" Answer was "solidly." Another—"Why are they waiting so long for a general election? It was answered thus: "We're waiting for prisoners and those of our citizens who were made slaves by Germans to be returned, so they can vote. They've earned the right to be heard." They also think women will get the vote at the next election. They told reasons for Maurice Chevalier and Danielle Darrieux mingling with Germans. And if there was anything to forgive, the French already have forgiven and forgotten. . . . Many Hollywood personalities were there, among them Michele Morgan, Claudette Colbert, Adolphe Menjou. Maria Montez sailed in like a French duchess, and in one minute flat had kissed at least 12 people on both cheeks. But the star of the afternoon was without question the most distinguished great lady of the French press, Mme. Andree Viollis. She's nearing 70, but her wit and charm are absolutely irresistible and indestructible. Jean Paul Sartre, well known playwright, was among them. Only wish these people could stay for a real visit. We could learn so much from them.

Hurry! Hurry! Romance Is Calling.

No wonder Bob Walker's anxious to go to New York. He'll see the town with Florence Pritchett, New York writer who interviewed him while she was here a few weeks ago. They have been burning up the telephone wires ever since. She's the gal reported engaged to marry Al Vanderbilt. In denying it, she said to me, "How can you marry a guy who's never proposed?" . . . After seeing Elizabeth Taylor in "National Velvet," I thought what an exquisite Peter Pan she would make. . . . Leo McCarey hopes to get her for "Bells of St. Mary's." He also wants Henry Travers. . . . "Enchanted Cottage" may not be the best picture in 30 years, but it's a fine picture. I'd like to give credit not only to its producer, Harriet Parsons, but also to Herman Mankiewicz, who wrote it. He also wrote "Citizen Kane"—remember?

I'd Go Again If They'd Repeat Dick Tracy.

I wish those stars who did "Dick Tracy" on Command Performance, would repeat it at Shrine auditorium and charge admission to civilians. They'd pack the house. The hardest working star was Musical Conductor Meredith Willson. The next two sound men. Then came the stars—Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Frankie Sinatra, and Dinah Shore. What a chassis that girl's got! Too bad the boys can't have a picture of her while they're listening to the record. Cass Daley, as Gravel Gertie, singing "Clang, Clang, Clang Went the Wagon" was wonderful. The by-play when Bing gave a picture to a sailor in the front seat, and Bob Hope got a look at it and took it away from him, was lost on the audience, and it will also be lost on the record. The picture was one of Bob in long underwear, showing quite a paunch and the flap open in back. Yes, he retrieved it. Only what he doesn't know is that a few more copies are out. Special lyrics by Jack Brooks were awfully funny, with Gilbert and Sullivan helping a lot, too.

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

IMMUTABLE KILLING.

"Larmar killed Troy," the captain repeated, "but her hot-headed husband, the late Mr. Gallagher, arrived in New York the previous day."

"Sure," said Archer, "let's hang it on him. He found she was running around with this writer, so he sneaked into the writer's apartment and wrote her a letter on the writer's typewriter to come up there. Then he examined all the writer's guns and found a good one. After he found the gun, he invented a gadget. He sneaked out on the terrace without anybody seeing him, and set it up. He knew his wife was going to be there on Thursday afternoon at half past five by the meeting house clock."

"You know," said Duncan Maclain, fitting another piece to his puzzle, "you help me a lot when you ramble along like that. I don't recall ever having said anything about Martin Gallagher killing his wife, but I do maintain, Archer, that somebody did almost all of the things you enumerated just now. Silly, isn't it?"

"And how!" the sergeant agreed. "How did this killer know that Troy——?"

"He didn't," Maclain said sharply. "I've been trying to point out to everybody concerned since Friday that nobody wanted to kill Troy. The gun that killed her was set for Larmar Jordan. It was simple, but silly, and like most silly things it went wrong. A man who intends to kill a girl, Archer, doesn't fix cocktails and carry them out on a tray. The silliness of this whole business is an element that you and Davis absolutely refuse to consider."

"It wasn't silly before you stepped in," the sergeant protested.

"It was silly before anybody stepped in," said Duncan Maclain.

"A gun trap of any kind is infantile, childish, foolish and uncertain, just like this one proved to be. The intended victim moved out of the way. What's even sillier, Archer, is the fact that the killer was sitting pretty until Gallagher was stabbed this afternoon. He'd killed two birds with one stone, and the help of the homicide squad. Troy had been shot," the captain continued, undisturbed, "and Larmar, the original victim, was headed for the electric chair."

"It doesn't sound very infantile to me."

"Of course it's infantile. The attempt to murder Larmar was emotional, unpremeditated, and unplanned."

"Now, wait a minute," Archer chocked and coughed. "You've just gotten thru making a stump speech about a gun trap. You say you'll show us tomorrow how that gun was discharged by chimes or what have you. What is emotional about that, I want to know?"

"The planning," said Maclain. "A plan which misfires and kills somebody else isn't a plan at all. It's just plain silly per se. We're up against a killer who doesn't plan anything, sergeant. That's why nothing makes sense. We're up against a killer who has all the instability of a thwarted woman. A wielder of knives, and blackjacks, and a setter of gun traps. That's the type of killer who picks up rocks and goes for a victim in a fit of anger."

"You know something you're not telling," said Archer.

"If I knew anything that would get Larmar Jordan out of jail and that you and Davis would believe, I'd have told you long before now. You've the resources I lack, Archer. You've men to make inquiries, and laboratories, and operators who can search an apartment. I've tried to mix in, and Sybella tried to help me. She's in the hospital right now."

"What do you want us to do, Maclain?"

"They're some things I can't see," said Duncan Maclain. "I want a description of the kind of neckties worn by every man remotely connected with the Jordans and Troy. I particularly want to know what men are addicted to cheap neckties, and bows. Sybella found a tie that came from Hylkers in Troy's apartment. Ties start there at $5 and up. The man she bought it for didn't like it, so he left it at her place. Possibly as a concession, he'd wear it when he went out with Troy. You might check Hylkers and see if they remember the purchase. It's a long slim chance, but she might have had an account there, and they'd know whom she bought it for. We've worked tokether for a long time, Archer, and most of all I want you to believe me."

"Maybe I do," said Archer, "but I'm a member of the homicide squad. What else are you looking for?"

"I'm looking for a clipping bureau that attaches pink slips to their clippings. If you find it, I want to know if they had an account for Troy. I wish this wasn't Sunday."

"Why?"

"Because an emotional, unstable criminal strikes any place without warning," said Duncan Maclain. "Such a criminal is always ready. He sets a gun trap, and waits. But he always has a knife or a blackjack when he needs it. The trouble is, Archer, he doesn't know himself when he'll need it. Shakespeare said, 'If it be not now, yet it will come; the readiness is all.'"

The sergeant left. Maclain escorted him thru the ante-room, where he closed and tried the penthouse door.

When he sat down he was holding a cylinder numbered in Braille. He fondled it for a few minutes, before he pulled the Ediphone up closer and slipped the record on.

Maclain leaned back, wrapped in concentration as the cylinder began to play. It repeated Lucia's hysterical story, caught in full by the sensitive set in the wall. It went on unemotionally thru the capain's question, "So they're holding him for murder?" Just as impersonally, it switched from Lucia to Sybella, and back again to the voice of Paul.

With mechanical accuracy it reproduced the ringing of the telephone, the arrival of Jess Ferguson and the lawyer's statement, "Come now, captain, nothing's quite that hopeless. I've just come from talking to Larmar. He's told me the truth—to that I'm ready to swear. Let's take the bad facts."

The captain shut off the machine and moved nearer his desk to toy with his puzzle again.

He had taken the bad facts and considered them carefully, but Sybella's injury had let his emotions creep in and build some of the facts up out of proportion to the others.

He selected a piece of the puzzle and viciously fitted it in. He hadn't been using his brain at all. He'd been letting anger, affection, friendship, and sympathy consume him. He'd started an analysis of the bad facts which presented themselves after the murder of Troy. What he needed to consider were the bad facts present before the murder. That was the place to begin.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

Mrs. Emily H., Chicago—We live in an old house and when the old paint around a window makes the sash stick, I rub it with sandpaper wrapped around a wood stick. It also helps to "sand" in the grooves.

Billie S., Elgin, Ill.—Here's a quick and easy way to use left-over pieces of cake, cookies, or small portions of puddings: I get out my pressure cooker, wrap the food in parchment paper, and then heat in the cooker.

Mrs. Ken W., Evanston—My electric iron cord was often slipping off my board and dropping the plug on the floor when it was detached from the iron. I drove a small screw hook into the board and now I slip the cord under it. [I suppose I should add I'm new at laundering of all kinds, or probably wouldn't be so clumsy with the iron cord.]

Seeing Charlie Chan Is Pain in the Neck to Our Film Critic

"THE JADE MASK."

By Mae Tinée.

The latest Charlie Chan opus is supposed to be baffling and mysterious. It was, to me, but not exactly as intended. It's a mystery why such inane stuff continues to be produced and I'm definitely baffled by the fact that people go to see it.

Sidney Toler, with his eyebrows lifted and his teeth sticking out in an effort to look oriental, talks incessantly, demonstrating that he is Chinese by omitting all articles in his sentences. "Charlie Chan humble servant of FBI" this time and catches the killer after only four murders.

"Jade Mask" pain in neck.

Cook those frozen foods promptly. Don't let them thaw out in the refrigerator, for once thawed, they deteriorate rapidly. Frozen vegetables are best if the cooking is started while they still are frozen. Fruits must be thawed before serving, but once thawed, should be served almost immediately. Frozen fish never should be allowed to thaw and then wait for cooking. All fish is an extremely perishable food. Start frozen fillets to cooking while the ice crystals remain in them.

If you own an electric mixer, you can spare yourself energy in kneading yeast doughs. Little kneading is necessary if the dough is electrically mixed before all of the flour has been added. Be careful not to overtax the motor, tho. A too stiff batter which slows down the motor is going to do damage.

Don't try to hurry a yeast dough by placing it directly on top of a radiator or in an oven. You are likely to kill the growing yeast plants and bake heavy, flat bread or rolls. Or you'll induce too rapid action of the yeast which will give you coarse textured bread with a yeasty flavor. The best temperature for rising bread dough is between 80 and 84 degrees. Below that temperature, yeast growth is too slow.

Take good care of your porcelain enameled kitchenware for it is hard to come by because of its steel base. If the pot boils dry, do not plunge it into water—let it stand until cool, then pour water over it. Be careful not to strike it with a spoon. Use a wooden spoon for stirring anything cooking in an enameled utensil. Boil an enameled coffee pot out now and then with a soda solution. Soda will remove the accumulated stains. If an enameled utensil is badly chipped, do not use it in food preparation. Never use a rough abrasive or scouring pad on enameled ware. If food sticks, let the pan soak for a while in soapy water.

Here's a simple frozen dessert for the family with a stock of homemade cherry preserves. Commercially made cherry preserves are point free and may be used, too.

Cherry Ice Cream.
[One quart.]

1 cup evaporated milk, thoroly chilled
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup red cherry preserves

Whip evaporated milk until stiff. Fold in lemon juice, then cherry preserves. Pour into freezing tray and freeze, stirring once.

ANSWERS TO SATURDAY'S QUIZ.

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠KJ62 ♥AK94 ♦2 ♣KJ53
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 club	1 diamond	Pass	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Double. Chastise yourself if you bid one heart or one spade. Why guess when you have a very simple way of finding out from your partner which is the best "spot" for the hand? Since partner has not yet been heard from, this is still a takeout double.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠Q74 ♥QJ1098 ♦A2 ♣A64
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 hearts	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Don't be satisfied with less than a little slam. Either bid it directly or start showing your aces and let partner decide whether it will be six or seven. It wasn't a very big hand to start with, but it has taken on glamor as the bidding developed. Possession of both controls and partner's missing honor makes this a perfect hand for a mate that was willing to make a first round slam try.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠J2 ♥Q63 ♦Q753 ♣KJ52
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. Partner has shown a holding of six spades and four hearts. You should therefore select the trump in which partnership holds eight rather than seven.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠AKQJ74 ♥1063 ♦7 ♣K73
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 diamond	1 spade	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. It may hurt for just a minute to abandon the 100 honors, but I think it is better to try for nine tricks than for 10, particularly against an opening bid.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠6543 ♥A42 ♦A62 ♣AK3
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 diamond	Double	1 spade	1 no trump
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Despite partner's free bid it is difficult to visualize a holding on which game could be made. Under the four skeleton tricks there's nothing that offers the prospect of development.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠6 ♥AKJ62 ♦AQ6 ♣K1073
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two clubs. This may seem peculiar, but it is sound. No other bid is satisfactory. The hand is too good for a mere rebid of two hearts. It is not good enough for a jump to three hearts and the singleton spade rules out a jump to two no trump. While the showing of a new suit is not forcing on responder, nevertheless it is more apt to elicit a bid from him than the repetition of the hearts.

Q. 7—You open one diamond, partner responds one spade. You hold:
♠32 ♥AQ5 ♦AQ64 ♣A653
What do you bid now?

A.—One no trump. If your answer was two no trump stay after school. If partner is unable to bid again game will be out of the question. In order to justify the jump rebid opener should have one and one-half honor tricks over and above the opening bid. You have only one.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠AJ2 ♥K109852 ♦6 ♣KQ5
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass

What do you bid now?

45th Tourney to Open

The 45th annual tournament of the Chicago Contract Bridge association will be at the Hotel La Salle beginning Wednesday evening and continuing thru Sunday evening. Eight events are on the program, one more than in the past. The added event is the men's pair championship, which will be played in one session Thursday afternoon.

Play will open as usual with the mixed pair event, Wednesday night in one session, followed on Friday afternoon with the first sessions of the masters' individual and the women's pairs. Finals of these events will be played Friday afternoon. Team-of-four play will open Thursday night, with the second session Friday night. Two qualifying sessions of the open pair championship will be played Saturday afternoon and evening, with finals Sunday afternoon and evening. Non-masters will compete in a pair game, specially arranged for those who do not qualify in the open pair finals, Sunday afternoon and evening. A non-masters' individual game will be played in two sessions, with a qualifying round Thursday evening and finals Friday evening. In addition, special match point duplicate games, open to all, are scheduled for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, both afternoon and evening. Al M. Sobel is tournament director.

Abigail Adams G.A.R. Unit to Hear Merrill S. Tope

Merrill S. Tope of the National Civic federation, department of youth education, will appear as guest speaker at a meeting of the Abigail Adams Evening group of the Chicago chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Stevens hotel. "For What Are You Living?" will be his subject. Mr. Tope has traveled extensively in Europe and the orient.

Apron Fashions

Using little material, these aprons also are to be recommended for the ease with which they may be made. One uses only a yard of material, plus a little easy-to-use rickrack braid. The other uses looped edging or lace to outline the collar, sleeves and interesting pockets. Style No. 3694 is designed for one size requiring one yard of 35 inch fabric with two yards of rickrack braid. Style No. 3729 is designed for sizes 12 to 46. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 35 inch fabric with 3¾ yards of edging. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The spring fashion book, on sale at Tribune Public Services offices, is 15 cents, 12 cents if ordered by mail with a pattern.

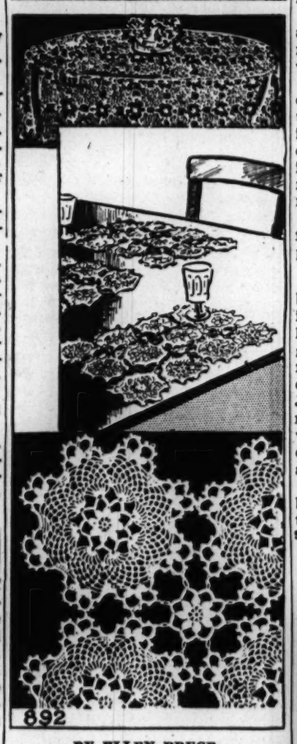
Lace Tablecloth



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This crocheted design of a modified Irish lace pattern is by far one of the most attractive motifs to do. It is not difficult to work, and a completed tablecloth worked in this medallion is handsome enough to rate as a museum piece. The medallions are joined as the work progresses.

For instructions in crocheting the Irish lace tablecloth, No. 892, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

Donny's mother dutifully stopped her dusting and came into the room.

"See, mommie—this is our house, and that's our smoke, and that's me at the window," he explained with enthusiasm.

"It's lovely, dear," said his mother, "but we have three windows upstairs in front, and the roof here is crooked. Houses don't have crooked roofs, dear, and our house isn't that color. The sun should be round, Donny; try to make it round next time."

Donny said nothing, but his face fell—and his pride was a bubble pricked.

I once heard a man say: "My brother is a writer. When he finishes a story, or a lecture script, he often comes in to me with that glow of the creative artist in his face and says, 'Read this now and criticize it for me.' 'I'll read it, John,' I always answer, 'but I will not pull it apart. Perhaps next week we can talk about it.' Because once I did what he asked, and it was disastrous to his work.'"

When our children are young and beginning the creative expression of their art impulses, we should refrain from adverse criticism. First, because it discourages them; and second, because they do not see with our adult eyes. Those of us who have been with many children during these first art experiences are convinced of that fact. In time they will see differently and will be able to portray more literally such objects as an even roof, and think it important to have three windows where there are three, and to repeat exact color.

But not in the beginning. Then they must draw or paint, freely and often, their early impressions of the world about them.

Thru the Looking Glass

A brand new cream shampoo, with a companion item in the way of a lanolin-rich dressing lotion, is absolutely heaven sent right now, when the new fashion in hair demands sheen that would put satin to shame.

Times have changed, you know. All of a sudden the pendulum of fashion has swung from curly to straight hair or, at the most, hair that is softly, almost imperceptibly waved. For the first time in decades the woman with straight locks can contemplate her curly headed sisters without envy and even with some smugness. Hair can be straight as a string and be smart.

There is a catch in this new, uncomplicated fashion, tho. Only exquisitely clean, beautifully shiny hair is going to look glamorous when it is sleekly arranged, without curls. We have to have hair that is pretty in itself, rather than merely chic in its arrangement.

And that's where the new duo comes in. These are hair beautifiers, both of them. The cream shampoo, which comes in a tube, by the way, and is incredibly easy to use, is a cleanser of the best sort, quick and efficient and kindly to dry, lusterless locks. Washing and rinsing are made easy.

But we think it's the lush liquid dressing we prize above rubies. It's a shiner-upper de luxe. Rub it into the hair ends, put some on your brush—and in a jiffy your mad mop is as manageable and as glossy as tho each strand was of silk. It's just one of those things that is awfully good for dry hair—and makes dry hair look good, too!

Both these are inexpensive, but they're tops as hair preparations. And all the lusterless-haired women have been needing these or something like them to help them hold up their heads with pride in this season of small hats and much-exposed hair. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Nebraska at Iowa State.
Kentucky at Ohio U.

Great Lakes' basketball team last night won its 30th victory of the season by whipping Purdue, 70 to 56, before 3,000 recruits in the naval training center gymnasium. This was the final game of the campaign for Purdue.

At the end of an action packed first half the Sailors led, 35 to 28. That also was the identical tally in the second period to complete a contest which never had a letup. There wasn't a substitution until the last 10 minutes.

Majorki Paces Sailors.

Except for a few seconds early in the game, Great Lakes always was in front. Purdue built up a 6 to 3 lead, but it quickly disappeared when Paul Cloyd scored two goals and Walter Budko one. Luke Majorki, Sailors' forward, put on a personal scoring burst in the last half for an 18 point total which was matched by Purdue's Bob Lewis. Cloyd had 15 points and Budko 14.

Ward [Piggy] Lambert, Purdue's veteran coach, was not with his team because of illness. Seaman Mickey McGuire directed the Great Lakes' attack with his clever passing and also dropped in five baskets.

Hoffman Changes Style.

Paul Hoffman, spark plug of the Western conference team, who usually drives in under the boards, shifted his tactics and served as a feeder to his teammates. At that, he scored four times from the field and dropped in five free throws.

Great Lakes, which has contests remaining against Bowling Green, Bunker Hill, and Chanute field, has lost four of its 34 games. Last night's lineup:

Great Lakes [70].	F	P	P	Purdue [56].	F	P	P
Majorki,f	8	2	2	Lewis,f	7	4	0

Ove,c	0	0	1	Hinga,c	0	0	3
Gillespie,g	1	2	1	Dykhuizen,g	0	1	0

Officials—Bill Orwig [Michigan], Parke Carroll [Kansas City].

Nelson, Snead Face Play-Off at Gulfport

Gulfport, Miss., Feb. 18 (AP).—Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., and Sammy Snead, Hot Springs, Va., finished the $5,000 Gulfport Open golf tournament in a dead heat today, each with a 72 hole total of 275.

Needing a par four on the 18th hole to beat Nelson, who had completed his final round a half hour earlier, Snead shot over the green on his second shot and his pitch out of a divot was over the cup 15 feet. He was a foot short of the cup for a bogey five to send the tournament into an 18 hole playoff tomorrow.

After shooting a one over par 36 on the first nine, Snead managed to hole birdies on the 15th, 16th, and 17th holes.

The colorful Virginian, who had about 75 per cent of the 2,000 spectators following him around the course, pounded his ball against the green after missing the putt that would have given him his fourth championship in the winter series.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE appointment of Phil Wrigley, Sam Breadon, Don Barnes, and Alva Bradley as a committee to scout eligibles for the job of commissioner of baseball is said to have brought forth a number of new candidates and the revival of hopes of others. . . . Some of the scouts, it is reported, have heard from gents they haven't seen since they were in grade school. . . . During the first week in February the temperature soared to 70 at Terre Haute, Ind., the White Sox's new training site. . . . The Sox still would prefer to go back to Pasadena, Cal., for their spring exercises, however. . . . Tho the Blackhawks' chances of qualifying for the Stanley Cup playoffs now seem remote, some of their steadfast followers are bolstering their hopes by remembering that the 1937-'38 Hawks made a closing rush, taking sixth place in a seven team National league to make the playoffs. . . . In the best of three series with the Canadiens they lost the first game, then won the next two to take the first round. . . . This put them against the New York Americans in another best of three. . . . The Hawks were beaten in the opening match, then took the next two. . . . In the finals against Toronto the Hawks then won the Stanley Cup, four games to one. . . . The Birmingham, Ala., Kiwanis club tomorrow will honor Zipp Newman, sports editor of the Birmingham News, for his efforts in behalf of the crippled children's clinic and the future Crippled Children's hospital. . . . For five years Newman has been the director of an annual football game played for the fund. . . . With Dom Dallessandro in the army, Trainer Andy Lotshaw will be shorn of his favorite bus ride anecdote about how Dom, according to Andy, once was arrested for going thru a red traffic light in his native Reading, Pa. . . . Andy explains with each telling in Dom's presence that Dom was pushing a banana cart and was so short he couldn't see the light. . . .

The financial success of the Robinson-Costner bout in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night will serve as refutation of the theory that a professional match involving two Negroes will not draw. . . . Seattle of the Pacific Coast league has four pitchers over 40 years of age. . . . Profits of this year's New York Daily News Golden Gloves tournament will be donated to the Red Cross. . . . After going thru the Roi-Namur, Saipan, and Tinian operations without a scratch, Lt. Don Johnson, former Austin High and Northwestern football center, was knocked out in a marine football game at a rest camp a few months later. . . . Pitcher Hugh Mulcahy of the Phillies, first major leaguer to be drafted, is with the 8th army in the Philippines.

Beds and Nurses.

O, a hospital bed,
When the last word is said,
Is as high as the old double deck;
If you fall out of it
You might just as well quit
For you'll break your unfortunate neck.

It was so designed that Nurses bulky and fat
Would not have to be bending lest they Might lose part of their weight,
Some of that excess freight

When your nerves are askew
A nurse breaks in on you
And insists upon rubbing your back,
She won't let you alone
With your sorrow to moan,
She must push you around like a sack.

Tho you scream in your wrath
That you don't want a bath,
Having had one two hours before;
She will scrub you until
She has broken your will,
And left you all nervous and sore.

CROWN 4 MORE GOLDEN GLOVES TEAMS TONIGHT

Tourney of Champs Prize for Winners.

Gloves Activity

TONIGHT—Columbus [O.] Dispatch, finals; Fort Worth [Tex.] Star-Telegram, finals; Minneapolis [Minn.] Journal and Tribune, finals; Terre Haute [Ind.] Tribune-Star, finals.

FRIDAY—Pensacola [Fla.] News, finals.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

This week will see all of the out of town champions crowned and outfitted in colorful boxing regalia for their invasion of Chicago where a week hence—Feb. 26, 27, and 28—the 18th annual Tournament of Champions sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., will be held in the Stadium.

Tonight will be the biggest of the week as four coöperating newspapers, the Fort Worth [Tex.] Star-Telegram, the Columbus [O.] Dispatch, the Minneapolis [Minn.] Journal and Tribune, and the Terre Haute [Ind.] Tribune-Star put on their final shows. Capacity crowds are indicated by the great reception earlier elimination programs have been given in these four of the 27 out of town centers.

Youngsters Carry On.

Enthusiasm has been high thruout the vast Golden Gloves territory which extends from the Canadian border to the Mexican line, and from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic seaboard. All centers have reported large crowds while at the same time noting inspired activity on the part of the 16 and 17 year old participants as well as the service men who have given all their spare time to the greatest of amateur boxing ventures.

New Orleans, which made its first appearance in the Tournament of Champions last year, held its championship round last Friday and officials of the Item, the sponsoring newspaper, predict great things for most of their representatives. Only one boy ever has participated in a national tournament, however. He is Anthony Colato, who competed in the Stadium last year as a flyweight. He will fight as a bantamweight next week.

New Orleans High on These.

Colato is quite a clever boxer. He's had 30 fights and in 1944 won the Southern A. A. U. 112 pound championship after winning a district high school championship the year before.

One of the finest prospects New Orleans ever has seen fit to propagandize is Jesse Mull, a lightweight who whipped a rugged field to win the trip to Chicago. He is an employe of Consolidated Vultee, producers of PBY planes. A brother, now in the air corps, preceded him in the amateur boxing game.

Another lad the fans are high on is Gibson Gayle, 20, a middleweight. He played on the 1944 Baton Rouge, La., Catholic high school team and was a finalist in the state boxing tournament where he lost to a southpaw. He has lost only three of 25 fights. Then there's Keith Hamilton, a flyweight, who has won 27 of 30 bouts. He's tall for his 112 pounds and boxes like New Orleans' Marty Burke who in the early '20s won two titles in one National A. A. U. tournament. Keith's in high school and is a product of the Catholic Youth organization.

Ed Really Grows Up.

James Lee, light heavyweight, resembles old Fred Fulton but can take a punch on the chin better than could the Minnesota plasterer who once aspired to the heavyweight crown. Another, Ed Calecas, flyweight runner-up in 1940, now is a heavyweight. He has had 40 bouts and has lost only five.

The New Orleans team will entrain for Chicago Saturday in charge of Coaches Ernest Esneault and Jack Doyle, two of the best boxing coaches in the south. Joe Scheaffer, veteran C. Y. O. official, will manage the team.

Reports from Indianapolis, Ind., where the four night tournament closed before a capacity crowd last Friday night, point to another fine team in the Tournament of Champions. It was the 12th tourney

Blum Wins Chicago Sports Cup at Biltmore Skate Meet

Seaman 2d Class Ray Blum, representing Radio Chicago, established himself as the outstanding amateur ice skater in the Chicago area yesterday afternoon when he captured two first places and one second in the Biltmore classics on Honey lake, north of Barrington. Thus he clinched the civic award presented annually by the Chicago Sports association.

Seaman Ray Blum.

The C. Y. O. team won the meet handily, scoring 400 points to 240 for Peirce playground, its closest rival. More than 400 skaters competed, including several state champions.

Blum Passes Solem.

Before yesterday's meet, the last of the season, Seaman Blum trailed Buddy Solem of the C. Y. O. by 10 points for the civic award. Then Blum added 70 points to his total by winning the mile and two mile events and taking second in the 440, while Solem failed to score.

In the day's most thrilling race Bob Fitzgerald of Minneapolis, holder of national honors for 220, 440 and 880 yards, beat Blum and Vince Bozich, Detroit, in the 440. Fitzgerald's time was 39.4 as compared to his national record of 35.4.

Blum, recognized as the middle Atlantic amateur champion, won the New York Silver Skates last year. This year he took the Tri-States, Gubbins, Silver Skates and Will county meet honors before yesterday's achievements.

Three Others Win Two Races.

Other double winners yesterday were Richard Johnston in the juvenile boys; Jack Hiestand, midget boys, and Polly Schlimmer in the junior girls' events. Summaries:

JOCKEY HARRELL DIES IN FALL AT TIJUANA TRACK

TIJUANA, Mexico, Feb. 18 [Special].—Jockey Jimmy Harrell, riding Rich Tobey in the second race today, was killed when he lost his balance and was thrown under the horses.

Rich Tobey was running close to the leaders and on the outside of the field when the accident occurred. Harrell, veteran rider on the Canadian circuit, appeared to have lost one of his stirrups and when he straightened up to gain his balance he fell.

For the second straight week, a new track record was set when Freeman and Church's Bric A Brac captured the $2,500 Santa Cruz handicap at a mile and one-sixteenth. The Circle V stable's Bizerte was second, with Mrs. R. C. Hodge's Miss U. S. O. third.

Bric A Brac, with Jockey Jack Westrope won by half a length in 1:42 3-5, three-fifths of a second faster than the mark made by Alexander Pantages in 1931.

ILLINI, INDIANA STYMIE BUCKEYE FIGHT FOR TITLE

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Ohio State, by its victory Saturday night over Indiana, 63 to 45, and consequent retention of third place in the Western conference race, now is ready for its last efforts this week to keep its 1944 championship. The Buckeyes meet Illinois Friday and Indiana Saturday. Both games will be played in Columbus.

Even if the Buckeyes win both—they lost to Illinois last week, 56 to 41—they can not share the title unless Iowa loses one of its remaining four games. Naturally, Ohio State hopes Illinois will beat Iowa in the return game of this series on March 3, final conference playing date. Illinois took the first contest, 43 to 42, in Champaign.

Iowa now has a percentage advantage over Illinois for first place, but since each quintet has been defeated only once, they may be considered tied for the lead. Most important development is the improved performance last week of Wisconsin and Minnesota, opponents for Illinois and Iowa in the closing days of the race. Either or both could upset the calculations of the leaders.

Purdue Upset by Badgers.

The Badgers defeated Purdue Saturday, 64 to 48, and their winning score was second high for the Big Nine campaign. Des Smith collected 12 field goals and five penalty shots. Ray Patterson, steadiest player on the team, got 13 points, and Bill Johnson, the other Badger dependable, scored 12. Tonight Wisconsin plays Iowa in Iowa City.

The Minnesota-Illinois game is the 66th in the rivalry begun in 1906 and Illinois has won 44.

Illini to Meet Wildcats.

Illinois' third contest this week is with Northwestern in the first game of the Chicago Stadium double header Saturday.

The Wildcats conclude their conference schedule that night. Illinois will have a handicap in playing the previous night at Ohio State and subsequent travel. Second game of Saturday's Stadium program pairs Western Kentucky and De Paul. The Demons previously defeated the Teachers in Louisville, 65 to 37.

Marquette's victory last Saturday over Notre Dame, 56 to 55, is an outstanding upset in midwestern competition as the Irish won from the same team at Notre Dame, 79 to 56.

Crimmins Bowls 300—803 in State Tourney Doubles

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 18 (AP).—Johnny Crimmins, Detroit bowling star, hammered out a 300 game tonight, the first perfect game in the Michigan state bowling tournament history, and added lines of 268 and 235 for an 803 total to take top place in the national bowling honor roll surpassing Russ Gersonde of Milwaukee, who had held first place with an 801.

Crimmins' huge total gave him and his doubles partner, Elwood Blake of Detroit, who shot a 623, a 1,426 for an all-time high state tournament doubles score.

Crimmins' perfect game was his 18th.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago's Blackhawks, showing a fine disrespect for their opponents' press notices, last night delighted an appreciative Stadium gathering of 15,314 with one of those old fashioned moral victories, a scoreless tie with the world champion Montreal Canadiens. And if you think National Hockey league teams are in the habit of restraining the champs to zeros, consider that this was only the second time in the season that the Frenchmen had been fenced in the cipher zone, the last being on Nov. 25, when Toronto spanked them, 2 to 0.

The Hawks spelled their moral triumph with a capital M on more than one count. They have now held the high scoring Montreal folks to one measly goal in 120 consecutive minutes of exercise, for the final of their as' meeting in Montreal on Feb. 1 was 1 to 1. This ought to be some kind of a record against a team which has fired 187 pucks past opposing goalies in 41 matches of the current campaign. Of those 41, the Frenchmen have won 32 and lost five, while tying four.

Teams Wage Free for All.

Another link was added, however, to the chain of games in which the Chicagoans haven't been able to lick Montreal. This span now extends 'way back to December of 1942, embracing 30 contests wherein the Hawks' only balm consisted of eight draws.

Granting that were no scores for the goal hungry clientele, they were nevertheless regaled by the best fisticuffing duel of the season. This transpired near the Chicago goal in the second period, when a casual brush between Fern Gauthier, Montreal wing, and two Hawk forwards, Johnny Harms and Les Ramsay, the latter making his debut as a replacement for the injured Don Grosso, burst into a free-for-all. The decision was awarded to Gauthier, who managed to land a solid punch on Harms' left eye, before he and Johnny were ejected with major penalties. Linesman Steve Meuris jumped into the pile-up with such alacrity that he is now suspected of holding a wrestling referee's license.

Karakas Scores Third Shutout.

The only other penalties of the evening were incurred in the 11th minute of the first period, the culprits being Cully Simon of the Hawks and big Butch Bouchard of the Canadiens, who were sentenced with minors after a high sticking joust.

The hero of the performance was Mike Karakas, who scored his third shutout of the season. Michael was ably supported by a stalwart defense and a set of forwards who annoyed the Montreal wings, notably the hot shot trio of Elmer Lach, Maurice Richard, and Toe Blake. This threesome has never been accused of lacking in the old college try spirit, as evidenced by their frantic efforts in the closing minutes, but last night they were just a string of hard working hockey players getting nowhere.

The Hawks' collection of one point for the draw, their sixth of the season, left them four games behind the Boston Bruins, who occupy fourth place in the standings, vital spot in the Stanley Cup play-offs. They are two games behind the fifth place New York Rangers. The Bruins will invade the Stadium ice Wednesday evening for the first of the three remaining games between the two. The Chicagoans still have two matches left with the Rangers.

SPARTA SOCCER TEAM TIES WITH SCHWABENS, 1-1

Jimmy Wolf Scores in Last Five Minutes.

BY OFFSIDE.

In a battle of goalkeepers the Spartas and Schwabens played to a 1 to 1 tie yesterday in Sparta stadium. The game was a warmup for the opening round in National Open cup play next Sunday.

Sparta kicked off and Steve Burda gave a hint of the excellent goal tending to come when he parried thrusts by Mike Villa and George Steinman. John Cosonka, Schwaben goalie, followed Burda's lead when the Spartas opened an offensive led by Laddi Mrnka.

Schwabens Score First.

After 18 minutes of play the Schwabens took the lead when Henry Soufal lofted from the touch line to Sailor Adolph Strang, who scored. Sparta threatened thru the rest of the half but Cosonka was unbeatable.

As the second half opened Heinz Schmuck, Alois Thiet, and Cosonka turned in a brilliant exhibition in thwarting the Spartas' repeated attempts to score. Jimmy Wolf tied the score with five minutes to play when he cut in near the post and beat Cosonka with a hard drive.

Swedes vs. Schwabens Sunday.

Next week the Swedes, who failed to get any practice when the Linneas failed to field a team yesterday, will face the Schwabens in Sparta stadium. The lineups:

Penn May Have to Reject N. C. A. A. Tourney Bid

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 18 (AP).—The University of Pennsylvania said tonight it would probably have to reject any bid to play in the N. C. A. A. basketball tourney starting March 22 in Madison Square Garden because most of the first team players will be unavailable. Bill Dallmar and Bart Fugler, Navy V-7 students, are scheduled to leave for midshipmen's school early next month, while Don Casey leaves for the army next week.

Byrnes' Office Gives Hopeful Note on Racing

Miami, Fla., Feb. 18 (AP).—The ban on horse racing will be lifted as soon as conditions permit, Lucius D. Clay, deputy director for war programs, has written Thomas H. McCreery, president of the horsemen's Benevolent and Protective association.

The letter was written to McCreery in New York and a copy was forwarded here to Judge Joseph H. Murphy, advisor to McCreery, who made it public. Clay wrote:

"In the absence of Justice Byrnes, whose official duties have called him from Washington for a short time, may I express appreciation for the action taken by your association in pledging unswerving coöperation and support of the federal authorities in placing the winning of the war above all other considerations and in accepting decisions of these authorities.

"The director is well aware of the financial burdens which have resulted from the cessation of racing on the many owners and trainers and you may be assured this ban will be withdrawn as soon as conditions permit."

The letter was prompted by a resolution passed by the Horse Breeders' Protective association at its annual convention here 10 days ago. The resolution pledged full support of the Byrnes edict closing down horse racing.

RUSSELL WINS WEINGAND TITLE IN BADMINTON

Fred Russell of the Skokie Badminton club, upset the defending champion, Walter Weingand of the Evanston B. C., in the finals of the North Shore badminton tournament yesterday at Evanston High school. The new champion triumphed in straight games, 17 to 14 and 15 to 7.

Bibsy Cook of the Glencoe B. C., seeded No. 1 in the women's singles division, scored an easy victory over Betsy Siefkin of the same club, 11 to 4 and 11 to 2.

Shortly afterward Bibsy teamed with her singles opponent to take a three game match from Joe Lafler and Lois Von Gehr of the Skokie B. C., for the women's doubles title, 5 to 6, 10 to 15, 15 to 7.

sponsored by the Indianapolis Times.

These Represent Indianapolis.

The composition of the team follows: 112 pounds, Melvin Carpenter; 118 pounds, W. R. Nixon; 126 pounds, Thomas Blair; 135 pounds, Pvt. James Hickerson, Camp Atterbury; 147 pounds, Archie Thomas; 160 pounds, Robert Cotton; 175 pounds, Pvt. Stanley Vitez, Camp Atterbury; heavyweight, John Weatherford.

The Tournament of Champions will begin a week from tonight in two rings with competition in the four lighter divisions. The next evening will bring the four heavier weights into action. The survivors in all eight classes will box the following night. The 32 semi-finalists then come back to the Stadium for the finals on March 9.

Rose Warner Leads State Tenpin Singles

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 18 [Special].—Rose Warner of Waukegan tonight displaced Ruth Woodward of Chicago, early leader, in the singles competition in the 16th annual Illinois women's state tourney in progress in the Coliseum, with a total of 688. Miss Woodward is in second place with 662. Behind her is Celia Rosencrans of Chicago with 652, Agnes Cook of Chicago with 634 while Marie Riccolo of Dwight is fifth with 616 pins.

The three top teams in the doubles tonight are all Chicagoans. The leaders are Catherine Hanney [569], Celia Rosencrans [668], 1,232; Flo Watterman [573], Irene Delaney [616], 1,189; Marie Zeman [592], Marge Rosethel [576], Chicago, 1,168; Delores Vonde Voordes [581], Kate Richard [569], Moline, 1,160; Hazel Johnson [524], Edith Ogrin [612], Waugekan, 1,136.

Celia Rosencrans tops all-events with 1,859. Marge Christensen is second with 1,786 and Lucille Bramford is third with 1,774. All are from Chicago.

Dauphin Park Dairy of Chicago moved into first place early today in the team event with a total of 2,835. Pabst Blue Ribbons of Bloomington are second with 2,821. Lukko Radios of Chicago, third with 2,755; Arnold Brothers of Bloomington fourth with 2,754, and the J. J. Shepherds of Peoria fifth with 2,737.

Ed Kemper's 83 Leads Edgewater's Snow Birds

The Edgewater Beach Country club Snow Birds' 12 members toured the 18 hole course yesterday in their sweepstakes won by Ed Kemper who shot an 83. Julius C. Brenza took second place with an 86, followed by John Carey's 90.

Sopko, Jolson Top Marigold Card Tonight

Mike Sopko, rugged middleweight from Indiana Harbor, Ind., will substitute for Al Jolson, New Orleans, in the main bout on the Marigold Gardens boxing card tonight, opposing Bill Parsons, Danville, Ill., in a 10 round bout.

Promoter Mike Begun was informed at a late hour this morning that Jolson's war plant employment would not permit him to leave long enough to meet his engagement.

Roy Lewis, southpaw junior welterweight, who is a policeman in Muncie, Ind., will meet Dan Robinson in a five round secondary feature. The latter upset Jerry Pittro in Chicago Stadium last October. Another five rounder will bring into action George Sapolich, Johnstown, Pa., 155 pounder, and Sammy Saunders, Memphis.

Robert Weatherly, south side lightweight, is paired with Bobby Pryor, and James Smyles, middleweight, also of Chicago, is matched with Art Brown in four round events. Smyles sometimes boxes as Jimmy Wilson.

Reports that Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun would desert Marigold Gardens to concentrate on big time shows in the Stadium are premature as their lease in the north side club still has three years to go. . . . Hans Kampfer and Albert Mills will be opponents in the windup bout of a wrestling show tonight in White City, 63d st. and South Park av.

TRIBUNE NO. 4 TAKES LEAD IN TENPIN MEET

The Chicago Tribune No. 4 took first place in the standings of the Allied Printcraft bowling tournament in Lake View Recreation last night. The team shot a 2,851 handicap total.

In second place with 2,846 was the Jahn and Ollier entry, followed by Henneberry Photo Engravers with 2,842; Printing Trades club with 2,837, and Chicago Tribune No. 14 with 2,836.

Ken Hendrickson and Thomas Thorsen led the doubles with 1,268. Horace Grey and Al Brown were second with 1,233. Ed Rott and Mark Anderson, with 1,172, were third, and two teams were tied for fourth and fifth with 1,145. They were Bill Hall-George Mitchell and Maurice Shevlin-Carl Liljegren.

The singles lead was held by Walter Glosniak with 689, followed by Joe Kuchar with 686, Harry Reid with 650, Al Larsen with 643, and Frank Clements with 635.

Dorothy Foster Scores Ace in Florida Golf Meet

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 18 (AP).—Dorothy Foster, Springfield, Ill., playing in the two-ball mixed golf tournament which concluded today, scored a hole in one on the 150 yard No. 12 green of the Dubspread Country club, her second one in tournament play. She used a No. 4 iron. In 1940 Miss Foster made a hole in one at the Oakland Hills club, Detroit, on the No. 13 green, also using a No. 4 iron.

Detroit Beats Toronto, 6-1; Rangers Win

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 18 (AP).—The Detroit Red Wings whipped the Toronto Maple Leafs, 6 to 1, tonight. The Detroit victory, achieved before a sellout crowd of 12,582 fans, virtually assured the Red Wings a second place finish for the season.

The Red Wing jinx, besides choking off the Leafs without a victory in eight meetings this season, tonight increased to nine a string of successive losing efforts by Toronto on Detroit ice. The Leafs haven't won here since March 14, 1943.

RANGERS WIN, 2-1

New York, Feb. 18 (AP).—The New York Rangers kept their National Hockey league playoff hopes alive tonight by defeating the fourth place Boston Bruins, 2 to 1, before 14,446 Madison Square Garden fans. Ken McAuley, back in the Ranger nets played a spectacular game, making 32 saves. The victory left the Rangers only four points behind Boston.

Jack Mann shared the hero role with McAuley, scoring his first goal in big time hockey. Earlier in the day Mann had played with the Rovers, a farm club of the Rangers and had scored two goals. An injury to Kilby MacDonald prompted Coach Frank Boucher's call for the Rookie.

LANGFORD WINS ICE YACHT CLUB'S OPENING EVENT

Robert Langford sailed his E class iceboat to victory yesterday in the Fox Lake [Ill.] Ice Yacht club's first official iceboat race of the season. Skipper Langford, winner last year of the club's Mead and Waltonian trophies, was at the helm of his Skeeter class racer Silver Fox. He won three of the nine races, placed second in five more races, and third in the remaining event, for 64 points.

All races were sailed over a four mile windward-leeward course. The snow which had delayed racing for five weeks was nearly melted, leaving smooth ice. Some of the boats attained nearly a mile a minute in the 15 mile breeze.

Ed Rollberg, navy specialist in charge of small boat training at Great Lakes Naval training center, was runner-up in the series. Sailing his entry, Jack Pot, Rollberg won two races and finished with a score of 60 points. William Reier, in Silver Arrow, with 51 points, also won two races.

MOUNT CARMEL TAKES 2 FROM LOYOLA FIVES

Two free throws by Center Tom Goralka, the only points made in the final quarter, enabled the Mount Carmel junior basketball team to defeat Loyola academy, 20 to 18, last night on the Loyola court. The Caravan juniors rallied after trailing by seven points at one time. It was a Catholic league south section game moved up from Tuesday, when the teams originally were scheduled to play.

Loyola took the lead at the outset, and was ahead, 9 to 2, at the end of the first quarter. Mount Carmel rallied in the second period, scoring 10 points to Loyola's 2, to take a 12 to 11 lead at the half. The score was deadlocked, 18 all, at the end

U.S. JURY INQUIRY INTO OPA TIRE 'RACKET' SOUGHT

3 Agency Officials Out of Jobs in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 18 [Special].—A federal grand jury in St. Paul will be asked to investigate operation of a highly profitable racket in recapped and retreaded tires allegedly carried on in the last few months with the coöperation of highly placed executives of the office of price administration.

This was announced here today by Rae Walters, regional OPA administrator of Chicago, who came here to supervise a shake-up of the OPA in Minnesota necessitated by OPA's own investigation of the situation.

Walters asserted that H. J. Slawik, acting OPA director for the Minnesota district, who resigned Thursday, did not do so voluntarily as Slawik had said in a public statement, but acted in response to a telephoned demand for his resignation from Earl Clark, a special OPA investigator, who told Slawik the OPA inquiry into the tire situation in Minnesota made his resignation imperative.

Had Fired Rationing Officers.

Two weeks ago Slawik discharged Norman F. Phelps, district rationing executive, and last Monday he fired Wilcke J. Hicks as district tire rationing officer. When he made public his own resignation Thursday, Slawik said he was stepping out because his discharge of these men had brought criticism.

Walters made public a report on the Minnesota tire situation he said he had just received from William H. Strong of Washington, head of OPA's investigating division and special assistant to OPA Administrator Bowles. He said he will have a conference tomorrow concerning this report with Victor E. Anderson, United States attorney.

The report said C. H. Peters, head of the Island Manufacturing company, a tire repair and rebuilding concern, thru OPA connivance, had "a virtual monopoly on retreadable tire casings." Irregularities in the central truck tire inspection bureau at St. Paul were carried on with the knowledge of Phelps and Hicks, the report charged.

Peters was accused of paying "substantial sums" to a tire inspector at this bureau and it was further stated he loaned $5,000 to Phelps and $10,000 to Hicks, "allegedly on mortgages."

Official Started Tire Company.

Carl W. Dokmo, a former district tire rationing officer, was named in the report as having incorporated the Major Tire and Rubber company at St. Paul last April while still a government official.

Dokmo received a $5,500 cash advance from Peters to launch the Major Tire and Rubber company and subsequently shipments of tires to this company were stored at Slawik's business location, the report said. Strong added in the report that "Dokmo's venture was in violation of government regulations."

TIRE CORD PLANT SEIZED BY ARMY ON F. D. R. ORDER

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—The war department today took over operation of the strike bound plant of the American Enka corporation under authorization of President Roosevelt. Col. Curtis G. Pratt of the army general staff corps assumed charge of the plant under orders to end a work stoppage that has kept more than 3,000 workers idle since Feb. 8.

The strike began after the company in what it described as a "friendly suit" obtained an injunction in federal District court to prevent arbitration of issues raised by the AFL United Textile Workers of America.

Col. Pratt said it would be four to eight days before all 3,000 workers were back at their tasks.

FURNITURE FIRM FIRE DAMAGE SET AT $10,000

Fire of undetermined origin which broke out in the basement of the Dale Furniture company, 4228 Madison st., yesterday, caused damage estimated by Chief Deputy Fire Marshal J. Cody at $10,000.

A 3-11 alarm summoned additional equipment to prevent the fire from spreading to the N. Prieb & Co. cleaners, 4222 Madison st., and the Armstrong laboratory, 4234 Madison st., a paint store.

Ten tenants of a two story frame building at 2719 E. 75th pl. were routed by a fire in the basement yesterday.

Ceilings Set for Cotton Shirts, Dresses.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—The OPA tonight announced price ceilings for low and medium priced cotton garments which the government expects to be back on store shelves in comparative plenty by early summer.

This action came as the war production board prepared to announce tomorrow the lists of woolen and rayon clothing items for which manufacturers will receive priorities to obtain fabric for inexpensive garments. Prices for these will be fixed later.

House Dresses at $1.95.

Ceilings set today apply to wearing apparel on WPB's priority list of cotton items announced 10 days ago. These are examples, at retail:

Men's regular sized shorts, a range of 49 cents to $1.30 each; men's business shirts, $1.80 to $3.70; women's regular sized house dresses, $1.95 to $3.70; slips, 85 cents to $1.30; infants' and toddlers' pajamas, $1.05 to $2.70; rompers, $1.05 to $2.40; girls' school dresses, $1.65 to $3.40; boys' wash suits, $1.30 to $2.70, and boys' shirts and blouses, $1.05 to $1.35.

The ceilings are ranged, OPA explained, to cover differences in quality, in kind of cloth used, and to allow for higher retail ceilings on garments bought from wholesalers than when they are purchased direct from manufacturers.

Seek Roll-Back of 6 Per Cent.

OPA, co-sponsor of the clothing program with WPB, has committed itself to roll back "currently inflated" clothing prices by 6 or 7 per cent.

The agency previously said that to a large extent the roll-back of the nation's clothing bill will be achieved by returning to store shelves inexpensive clothing now unavailable. OPA spokesmen were unable to say to what extent this first step will succeed in cutting that bill.

WPB's part in the program is to channel 75 per cent of all civilian fabric to low and popularly priced garments. This measure is intended to "freeze out" to a considerable extent production of so-called luxury clothing and other expensive fabric products.

Under the OPA cotton action, "practically all infants' and children's apparel of such material and a very large part of men's and women's cotton garments will have tags attached by manufacturers to show exactly what the retail ceiling prices are," the agency said.

MRS. J. D. BLACK RITES TO BE AT 11 A.M. TODAY

Services for Mrs. Louise Black, 71, of 229 Lake Shore dr., social leader who was long active in club events, philanthropy, and business, will be held at 11 a. m. today in the Fourth Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Black, a native Chicagoan and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Love, died Saturday in Passavant hospital. She was one of the first of a group of Chicago women who entered business shortly after World War I. With the late Mrs. Frederick D. Countiss she opened advertising offices in the Wrigley building, and in 1934 she manufactured cosmetics in a small home laboratory.

She is survived by her husband, John D. Black, former president of the Illinois and the Chicago Bar associations; a daughter, Mrs. Lydia Beckwith Lee of Lake Forest, and three grandchildren.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Augusta Tilly.

Mrs. Augusta Tilly, 95, of 1113 S. Lombard av., Oak Park, died in her home yesterday. A native of Germany, she came to Chicago in 1876. Her husband, Ferdinand, died in 1909. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Meta Jost of Oak Park; a son, Emil, of Elmhurst, and 12 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren. Services will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. in the chapel at 6126 Roosevelt rd., Oak Park.

Mrs. Helen S. Clayton.

Mrs. Helena S. Clayton, 91, a resident of Chicago for more than 50 years, died yesterday in her home at 1001 W. 87th st. Her husband was the late Frederick Clayton, a pioneer lumber dealer. She was born in Liverpool, England, and is survived by one sister. Services will be held at 9 a. m. Wednesday in St. Kilian's church, 87th st. and May av.

Dennis L. O'Neil.

Dennis L. O'Neil, 69, a superintendent for the Cyclone Fence division of the American Steel & Wire company, died of a heart attack yesterday in his home at 21 Washington park, Waukegan. He had been employed by the company for 44 years. He leaves his widow, Essie, and a brother, William, of Holly, Mich.

BOY CONFESSES KILLING MOTHER WITH FRYING PAN

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 18 [Special].—Russell Gregory, chief of Wayne county detectives, said tonight that Elvin Kent, 16, a high school junior, has confessed that he killed his mother, Mrs. Ida Kent, 43, Thursday afternoon by beating her with a cast iron skillet.

Kent said he became enraged when his mother reproved him for spilling dog food on the floor and struck her with the skillet in which he had been preparing a meal for the family dog. As she fell, she exclaimed, "Jesus Christ, forgive him, for he doesn't know what he is doing," Kent told authorities, and he thereupon struck her several times.

Until today Kent has insisted he came home from school to find his mother dead, victim of an unknown assailant. She was a Bible class teacher.

STIMSON URGES SPEEDY O.K. FOR DRAFT OF LABOR

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—Secretary of War Stimson said tonight "We dare not delay longer" enacting the war work law.

Speaking "primarily" to those who have sons or husbands or other dear ones at the front," the secretary asserted in a radio address that "deadly shortages are now looming up before us" and a crisis is at hand.

Voluntary means have failed to keep trained men at their essential jobs and national service legislation is the only remedy, he said. He lauded house passage Feb. 1 of the work or jail bill for men. The bill now is pending in the senate military affairs committee.

"While we have by law organized our young fighters and compelled them to sacrifice their lives if need be in that service, we have never by law organized our workers who are to equip those soldiers and have them ready and able to fight at the proper moment," he said.

Predict Wide Plywood Use by Farmers

BY HERSCHEL PATTERSON.

A substantial increase in the use of plywood in the construction of farm buildings, including homes, is expected as soon as restrictions on the use of the product are lifted, industry sources said yesterday. The industry has no reconversion problem and will be able to turn to civilian production immediately.

Increased use of plywood is expected also in urban residential building and construction of railroad freight cars. A new use to accompany an increase in private flying will be the building of small individual airplane hangars.

Plans Prefabricated Units.

Besides larger demand for standard size sheets, the plywood industry expects to be called upon for many prefabricated buildings, especially the smaller frame buildings such as hog and brooder houses.

"Plywood is a 'natural' for the farmer. It easily lends itself to fast construction thru the size of the standard sheets, which chiefly are 4 feet by 8 feet," said Donald M. Crooks, midwestern representative of the Douglas Fir Plywood association. "There is no doubt the market for plywood in agriculture is going to be one of the largest in the industry."

Crooks said that plywood could compete successfully with other types of lumber even tho more expensive per unit. He said the saving in time and the consequent saving in construction labor costs would offset the higher cost of material.

Made in Two General Types.

Douglas fir plywood is a structural plywood and is made in two types, Crooks explained. One is moisture resistant in which the glue line is made of a protein glue. This is for inside use only in wall coverings, subfloors, wall sheathing, and roof sheathing. It resists moisture to a high degree, he said.

The second type is waterproof for exterior use. It is made with a phenol-formaldehyde glue and is hot pressed. Under the heat and pressure the glue line becomes a plastic which is waterproof to the extent that it can be boiled without delamination. The glue line is stronger than the wood itself, he explained.

FEDERAL PLEDGE OF JOBS, LIVING STANDARD URGED

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—A post-war government guarantee of a job for every person able and willing to work, as well as a guaranteed minimum living standard, was proposed today by E. A. Goldenweiser, chief economic adviser to the federal reserve board. He suggested a goal of 58 million jobs.

"If a person has done all he can to find a job and still can't find one, the government ought to offer him a job," Goldenweiser said in the current issue of the federal reserve bulletin. He said that if the government undertook such a job guarantee "there would be more feeling of security and less hesitation about continuing normal standards of living."

"Consequently a deflationary cycle would be less likely to get under way and there would be less occasion than otherwise for the government to do much spending for the purpose," he said.

STEEL EXPANSION.

The steel industry will have spent by the end of 1945 more than 1 billion 310 million dollars to expand and modernize plants and properties and government expenditures for the same purpose amount to nearly 1 billion 95 millions, the American Iron and Steel institute reports.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Trade Loss Started 25 Years Ago.

New York, Feb. 18 [Special].—Tax authorities and trade associations agreed today that double taxation of incomes in New York state has had an unquestioned effect on business, but said the loss of trade cannot be measured accurately.

An inquiry was prompted by legislative proposals to revise basic Illinois law with a view toward enacting a graduated income tax impossible under the uniform, taxation clause of Illinois' 1871 Constitution.

New York's most severe loss of business developed 25 years ago, when the state pioneered in taxing income already taxed by the United States government, and a number of companies moved to other states to avoid the double levy.

Keep "Emergency" Levies.

Some have returned, because since then 31 other states have narrowed the field of escape by enacting income taxes of their own, but others have remained in Connecticut, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, adjoining states without the double levy. Of the states bordering on New York, only Vermont and Massachusetts have their own income taxes.

Contributing to current tax headaches of New York business are a variety of depression born levies that remain even tho the "emergency" for which they were enacted has disappeared.

That the state is placing increasing reliance on personal income taxes for revenue is shown by Gov. Dewey's recent budget figures estimating the return for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1946, at 112 million dollars—more than one-fourth of all state revenues.

Tax Burden Easier.

The burden of state income taxes on the average New Yorker appears moderate by comparison with the federal levy, but was painfully heavy a few years ago when the United States' tax was less severe and the New York tax was paid at the full rate. For the third year, a 25 per cent reduction is allowed from full rates of the New York tax.

By comparison with the Illinois resident, the New Yorker fares somewhat better, on the average, since he has no personal property or state sales tax.

With rates of 2 per cent on the first $1,000 of income, 3 per cent on the next $1,000, and so on up to 7 per cent on all above $9,000, the average New York man with a $5,000 annual income, having a wife and one child, would contribute about $25 in state income taxes.

City Taxes Sales.

The average Illinoisan in this income bracket and family status would pay $65 in state sales taxes, plus a personal property tax. Altho there is no state sales tax, New York City levies a 1 per cent sales tax, including only food other than that consumed in restaurants where the check is $1 or more. The tax is escaped entirely by New York City shoppers who have their purchases delivered to points outside the city.

Frequent controversy arises over taxes paid to this state by nonresidents who are employed in New York City and live in New Jersey or Connecticut. Their employers are required to withhold the tax and pay it to the state in one lump sum, whereas New York residents pay the tax themselves, in instalments if they desire.

No deductions are permitted for real estate taxes paid on homes in Newark N. J., for example, but New York answers the complaints of its nonresidents by explaining if the Newark home were sold at a profit, New York would not tax the profit. New York taxes are limited to income derived within the state. New York residents who own property in other states are permitted to deduct the real estate taxes paid.

Race Ban Cuts Return.

Unlike other states, New York does not permit deduction for the federal income tax paid, but allows up to $150 in life insurance premiums.

Levies against New York business include the corporation income tax, utilities, corporation franchise, unincorporated business, bank, and insurance premium tax. The federal ban on racing has deprived the state of income estimated at nearly 28 million dollars for the current fiscal year.

Central and South West Told to Retain 4 Utilities

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 18 (AP).—Central and South West Utilities company may retain four major electric utility subsidiaries as a single integrated system, the securities and exchange commission announced today. They are Public Service Company of Oklahoma, Southwestern Gas and Electric company, West Texas Utilities company, and Central Power and Light company, operating in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana. The company was ordered to dispose of interests in nonutility and water distribution and ice properties of several of the subsidiaries.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of The W. L. Maxson Corporation held today, an initial dividend was declared of 10¢ per share on the capital stock of the corporation payable March 1, 1945, to stockholders of record at the close of business on February 23, 1945.

PERSONAL INCOME TAX—4.

For tax purposes there are two kinds of income—taxable and exempt. All the income of many taxpayers is subject to tax. Because of the war and the social security system, however, the number of persons receiving tax free income is much larger than formerly.

Wholly exempt items are not taken into account in any way either in filling out the tax return or in determining whether an individual's income is large enough—$500 or more—to require the filing of a return. Such items are simply excluded from "gross income."

Among the items of income specifically exempt from federal tax are the following:

1. The first $1,500 of annual pay for active military service; cash received by service men in lieu of subsistence and quarters; mustering out pay; contributions by the government to monthly family allowances of service men; pensions and disability compensation to war veterans and their families, and their disability retirement pay [but not other retirement pay]; "gratuity pay," representing six months' compensation of a deceased officer or enlisted man.

2. Social security benefits whether paid by the federal government or a state under the federal program.

3. Sickness and injury benefits, unless they are reimbursements for medical expense deductions previously claimed.

4. Interest on state and municipal bonds and wholly exempt interest on certain federal, federal agency, and territorial bonds. On partially taxable federal obligations issued prior to March 1, 1941, interest on $5,000 of savings bonds [at cost] and treasury bonds at face value is entirely exempt from tax, but interest from such bonds held in principal amounts in excess of $5,000 is subject to surtax, and must be included in gross income. Dividends on share accounts of federal savings and loan associations issued prior to March 28, 1942, are exempt from normal tax.

Gifts and inheritances are exempt from federal income tax but not the income therefrom. Also exempt are the proceeds of life insurance policies payable by reason of the death of the insured, except a portion of instalment payments made under an option exercised by the beneficiary and not by the insured person. The interest on proceeds retained by the insurer is taxable. Payments under a life or endowment policy during the lifetime of the insured [other than a portion of annuity payments] are free of tax until they equal the cost of the policy. Proceeds of government insurance policies of war veterans and of national service life insurance are exempt.

In general, all receipts which represent a return of capital are free of income tax. Dividends or interest that are exempt on this account, however, must be applied as a reduction of the cost basis of the securities on which they are paid.

FIRMS STUDYING JOB REDUCTION ORDER OF WMC

Representatives of several large business establishments included among those "unclassified" businesses required by the war man power commission to reduce employment to 95 per cent of March, 1944, levels by tomorrow and to 90 per cent by March 1, said yesterday that no decisions on how to comply with the order had yet been reached. Copies of the regulations were received as late as Wednesday by some. Meetings of executives are planned by many companies for today.

Insurance, Banks Affected.

Insurance companies, banks and brokerage houses are among the largest employers which have not been classified either as "critical" or "essential." Operating under the handicap of government controled hiring of workers which directs job seekers away from them and into war plants, they have had difficulty keeping working forces at an adequate level for many months, their officials said.

Most brokerage houses "already are operating with skeleton staffs of experienced personnel supplemented inadequately with inexperienced girls and women," said Kenneth L. Smith, president of the Chicago Stock exchange.

Employment Already Low.

Arthur F. Lindley, of Clement, Curtis & Co., a governor of the Association of Stock Exchange Firms, said the brokerage business as a whole had relatively low employment during the first years of the war because trading in securities was at a low ebb. Business has improved, but few firms have been able to enlarge their staffs and have had difficulty keeping enough workers to cope with the increase in volume, he said.

One insurance company official said the firms "will just have to meet the problem," but that he had no idea how it could be done.

MONEY SCHEME IS INDORSED BY ECONOMIC GROUP

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—Congressional sponsors of the Bretton Woods monetary agreements said today a poll of 250 selected economists showed 90 per cent in favor of the proposed international financial structure.

Chairman Wagner [D., N. Y.] of the senate banking committee and Chairman Spence [D., Ky.] of its house counterpart said support for the agreements is being mobilized by a voluntary group of 33 members of the American Economic association.

The American Bankers' association recently went on record against an international monetary fund proposed in the Bretton Woods agreements, but indorsed the proposed international bank for reconstruction and development.

Air Line Plans Pick-Up Routes in Four States

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18 (AP).—All-American Aviation said today that it will ask the civil aeronautics board for authority to establish 23 air pickup routes to serve 311 cities in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio. It already operates air pickup service for 118 communities in six middle Atlantic states.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED

DIVIDEND No. 69

The Board of Directors has declared a cash dividend of twenty-five cents ($.25) per share on all of the outstanding shares of the company payable on March 17, 1945, to shareholders of record at the close of business Feb. 24, 1945.

Chicago Mail Order Profit Higher in 1944

For the fourth consecutive year sales of the Chicago Mail Order company exceeded all previous records in 1944, when they were $42,233,447, R. W. Jackson, president, reported to stockholders yesterday. Part of the increase was contributed by two department stores acquired during the year, he said.

Consolidated net income for the year ended Dec. 29 increased to $641,244, or $1.85 a share, from $601,200, or $1.74 a share, the preceding year.

Inventories Are Reduced.

Inventories decreased $773,672 to $4,681,269. Jackson said the company was maintaining a

THIS JOB HUNTER GETS TOUGH ONE —CUTTING TAPE

BY JUNE GESERICK.

Uncertainty on the part of United States employment service workers in interpreting the war man power commission regulations and applying them to individual cases was blamed yesterday by Miss Lorraine Goyke, 23, of 7344 Emerald av., for difficulty she has encountered in getting USES permission to accept a new position.

After waiting four hours, she was told by one USES employe she might not accept the position. He suggested another, but Miss Goyke discovered it had been filled two weeks previously, altho it still appeared on the USES records as a critical vacancy.

Told "No," Then "Yes."

Then, after filing an appeal, she sought permission to work part time. One clerk told her she could not do this. Another said she could.

On Jan. 26, while employed by an aluminum company here, Miss Goyke obtained a new position as secretary with a loop mortgage company, a job for which she had especially trained. She agreed to stay two more weeks with the aluminum firm until a replacement was found.

During that time the war man power commission instituted a requirement that all women workers receive USES permission before accepting full time jobs.

Last week, at the expiration of the two weeks' notice, Miss Goyke reported, with a statement of availability from her former employer, to the USES office at 308 N. Michigan av., for a referral card to the mortgage company.

After waiting more than four hours, Miss Goyke was informed by an interviewer that she would be unable to take the mortgage company job because it was not essential. The interviewer then suggested several war firms which the records listed as critically in need of employes. The interviewer said Miss Goyke would have to take one of the suggested jobs unless she desired to file an appeal.

Finds the Job Filled.

Miss Goyke then telephoned one of the suggested companies and found that the position listed by the USES as open had been filled two weeks earlier. She then wrote an appeal for permission to accept the mortgage company job.

The mortgage company agreed to let Miss Goyke work part time until the appeal had been heard, provided she get USES permission to work less than 30 hours a week.

Upon telephoning the Michigan av. USES office, Miss Goyke was told to call a south side office of the agency. A woman at the south side office told Miss Goyke she did not think it would be possible for her to work part time. Miss Goyke persuaded her to call another USES employe to the telephone. The other employe said it would be all right for Miss Goyke to work part time.

Would Be a Big Help.

"All the money I have saved is in war bonds, and I don't want to turn them in," Miss Goyke said. "So I certainly can't afford not to work until my appeal comes thru.

"It would be a big help to the war effort, I think, if the USES employes knew something about the jobs they deal every day."

STILL GREETING LOOP SHOPPERS AFTER 55 YEARS

When Charles Pritzlaff, 81, first became the doorman at Marshall Field & Co.'s retail store 55 years ago today, patrons drove up to the door in handsome carriages. Then, for decades, they rolled up in shiny, chauffeured limousines. Now, Charlie said, they arrive in battered taxis or on foot, their motor cars garage-bound by skimpy A card rations.

Charles Pritzlaff.

"It's a different kind of shopping now, too," the veteran attendant remarked. "Everybody is in such a hurry," he said, as he opened a taxi door for a party of shoppers. "It must be the war time atmosphere."

Still Looking Ahead.

Looking at least a score of years younger than he is, Charlie is anticipating serving as doorman for many more years. In Saturday's cold weather, the hardy dispenser of courtesy admitted hundreds of fur-clad shoppers, but his only concession to the temperature was a white scarf tucked inside the collar of his green livery.

His first post as doorman was at the Washington st. entrance near State st. There his business day began at 7 a. m. and his first duties were sweeping the sidewalk, lowering the awnings, and sanding the slippery cobblestones of the street so that horses drawing the patrons' coaches would not slip.

Recalls President McKinley.

At his current post at the entrance at 28 E. Washington st. he recalls many persons well known in national and Chicago social circles whom he assisted to the stepping block from their carriages. Among them were President and Mrs. McKinley, President Cleveland, President Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Marshall Field, Mrs. P. D. Armour, Mrs. Cyrus McCormick, Mrs. N. K. Fairbank, Mrs. James S. Kirk and Mrs. F. J. Kennett.

He lives at 4538 N. Ashland av. with his two daughters, Miss Violette Pritzlaff and Mrs. Ray Eichenlaub.

Sharing today as an employment anniversary at Field's is Herman Boss, 1129 S. Austin blvd., of the interior decorating department, who has completed 52 years with the store. On Friday, William Heldman, 11018 Hermosa av., of the drapery and upholstery staff, will round out 6' years as a Field employe.

MERIT AWARDS GO TO MEN AND WOMEN IN RADIO

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Awards of merit to men and women in broadcasting and to radio programs were announced yesterday by Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, in connection with the observance of Brotherhood week.

Kate Smith was cited because of her advancement of the "ideals of good will and understanding." Hymns of All Churches was named the outstanding religious network program. Norman Corwin's drama "Untitled," given on CBS, was picked as the best single broadcast. "They Call Me Joe," presented on NBC, was named the outstanding program series because of its "maintenance of wholesome relations among Americans of all creeds and origins."

Chicago radio people have an interest in Courtenay Savage's new play in New York, "Home Is the Hero," playing at the Black Friars Guild theater. Savage, now with the armed forces radio service, wrote many radio shows in Chicago before Pearl Harbor. Virginia Dwyer, the young leading lady, is the wife of Jim Fleming, former W-G-N announcer who is now a war reporter for CBS.

Charles Coburn of the movies has been auditioning for a radio series which would have him playing an old Mr. Nixit living in a mid-Victorian setting. . . . Dave Willock, who plays Tugwell in the Jack Carson-Arthur Treacher show, is an ex-Chicagoan. Carson and Willock used to have an act on WTMJ, Milwaukee. . . . Songstress Lynn Gardner is dropping out of the Bob Hawk Thanks to the Yanks show. . . . Rochester has a combination valet and script holder, or at least did the day Jack Benny played at Glenview. . . . Ralph Edwards will be quizmaster on the Quiz Kids show March 4, and that means if they don't tell the truth they'll pay the consequences.

A Japanese soldier, back in Tokyo after being wounded on Luzon, had this to say about the American G. I., according to a short wave report recorded by the FCC: "I can't say whether the enemy is courageous or whether he is crazy, but at any rate he is a bad sort."

The Veteran Wireless Operators' association will hold their annual "cruise" at 6 p. m. today at 1525 Howard st. Walter Marsh is in charge of arrangements.

$250 AND $189 IN JEWELRY STOLEN.

Burglars who jimmied a basement window stole jewelry worth $189 and $250 from the home of Kamil Rados, 42, of 4547 Campbell av., he reported to police yesterday.

KUM BUM JURY DELIBERATIONS SET FOR TODAY

A jury in the federal District court of Judge Philip L. Sullivan is scheduled to begin deliberations today on whether Hugh Greer [Kum Bum] Carruthers, founder of the Neological foundation, received $289,000 from his followers as gifts or by means of a mail fraud.

Testimony ended last Friday without a word from Carruthers. Instead, the defense relied on 45 witnesses, virtually all of whom said they loaned money to him for the good of the organization. Using 52 witnesses, the government accused Carruthers of having solicited funds for the manufacture of Nan Gene, a shampoo, and Happy Hearts, a laxative.

Judge Sullivan denied a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty in behalf of Carruthers and his two co-defendants, Miss Mary Morel, 42, his business manager, and Miss Evelyn Kroell, 39, his secretary. He took under advisement a motion in behalf of the two women for acquittal after the verdict.

PURSE WITH $270 CUT OFF AND STOLEN.

While Mrs. Laura Green of Milwaukee, Wis., dozed in a bus station lounge at Roosevelt rd. and Wabash av., yesterday, a thief cut her purse, containing $270, from her arm, Mrs. Green reported to the police.
